Welfare Bureau Reports 1,046 Families Aided, $40,000 Expended

After Report of General Secretary, Hear Talk on Social Conditions by B. M. Selekman

The annual meeting of the Newton Welfare Bureau was held Wednesday afternoon, February 1, at 12 Austin st., Newtonville. A report was given of the year's work, and Mr. B. M. Selekman, Executive Director of the Associated Jewish Philanthropies, was the speaker of the afternoon. "The Industrial Aspect of Present Social Conditions" was the subject of his talk.

He said one of the greatest flaws in our present economic system was the fact that it gave no guarantee of security to the workers, and that this has been aggravated by the depression. At present, there are 12,000,000 unemployed in the United States, but even during the peak years, 1925-29, there were over 1,000,000 unemployed workers, especially in the coal and textile industries. Certain steps he felt were necessary immediately and certain steps necessary to care for the eventual development of industrial security. Following are some of his recommendations: adequate relief; a minimum wage law with teeth in it to prevent workers receiving 5, 7, and 10 cents an hour as they are in Massachusetts at present; control of hours of labor; unemployment insurance which has some relation between giving and receiving, whereas, there is no such relation in the large, charitable dole at present operating in the United States; public unemployment exchanges; scientific management of industries as national units, as was done during the War; strong labor organizations; a controlled rate of production of labor-saving devices; a redistribution of the nation's income, so that the farmer can get more; and a principle of collectivist economy; and an enlightened self-interest.

Miss Ruth Chapin, General Secretary, told of some of the high spots in the work during 1932, which was the heaviest year in the history of the bureau. 1,046 families were aided; $40,000 spent in milk; 12,347 second-hand garments given out; 21,022 bags of Red Cross flour distributed to Newton families; and also, 32,081 Red Cross garments. A total of $20,119 spent for relief; $13,600 of which was unemployment relief and was reimbursed by the Mayor's Relief Committee. Altogether, about $40,000 was expended through the Bureau, including Newton Welfare Bureau funds, Mayor's Relief Committee funds, and the Health Fund, which is the Christmas Seal money raised in Newton.

The following members were elected to the Board for the year 1933: Mrs. Robert Bonner, 264 Lake ave., Newton Centre; Mr. Lyson A. Bruce, 259 Walnut st., Newtonville; Mr. Charles H. Cobb, 74 Kenwood ave., Newton Centre; Mrs. D. Brewer Eddy, 82 Kirkstall rd., Newtonville; Mrs. Arthur Lane, 7 Williston rd., Auburndale; Reverend Randolph S. Merrill, 40 Foster st., Newtonville.

Sewer Tunnel Going Through Solid Rock

Means That Progress of Work Will Be Slow

Much of the surface of this city is glacial moraine. But the fact that strata of gravel and sand cover only part of Newton's area is plainly evidenced as the work of digging the tunnel for the new high level sewer proceeds. Practically all of the excavating for this big public work from the Brighton line on Tremont st. through Mount Ida is in solid rock. This means that the progress of the undertaking must, of necessity be slow, and the work performed as constantly as possible to complete this greatly needed addition to the sewer system of the city. Few persons in Newton realize the seriousness of the situation which has existed the past few years as regards the sewage of this city. It is over 40 years since the sewer system was installed here. Because of the tremendous growth of the city between 1920 and 1930 the sanitary sewers of Newton during the past few years have, at times, been overloaded. The construction of the new sewer could well have been commenced sooner.

Four shafts have been sunk in the work of digging the sewer tunnel. Shaft 1 is at the corner of Tremont st. and Playstead rd., near the Brighton line. The rock being excavated near this shaft is rather soft and steel liner-plates have to be used in the tunnel near this shaft. About 80 feet of tunnel has been bored from this shaft. From Shaft 2 on Tremont st. near Hibbard rd. the rock is of a more slaty type and some timbering is necessary. The bore from this shaft has been easterly towards Shaft 1 and about 125 feet of tunnel has been dug to date. As this shaft is on a curve, with heavy traffic, including Boston Elevated cars passing by, a loading platform of huge timbers has been erected which permits the trucks to be loaded without obstructing traffic. At Shaft 3 on Mount Ida st. where the tunnel is being dug under the big hill, hard slate rock has been encountered and this type of rock extends through the hill to Shaft 4 on Langton rd. The tunnel has gone 200 feet in from Shaft 3 and 150 feet from Shaft 4. At each section from 10 to 12 feet of tunnel is excavated by the two shifts every day; 5 to 6 feet a day per shift.

Although the contractors doing the job, T. Stuart & Sons, have used every precaution to minimize noise, it is inevitable that some noise accompanies the work. The slow progress through the solid rock necessitated the use of two shifts on the job daily. When the second shift was put on, protests came from residents near the Mount Ida street shaft, who stated they were bothered by the early starting and late ending of the work. Mayor Weeks, as a result, held a conference with the protesters, the contractors and engineers and it was agreed that the first shift would not start work until 6:30 a. m. and the last shift would not work until 10:30 p. m. The Mayor also instructed that the cars used by workmen on the job should be parked mornings towards the business section at Newton Corner so that the sleep of the nearby residents to Shaft 3 would not be disturbed. Shortly after 6 Monday morning Mayor Weeks went to Mount Ida st. to observe conditions. Similar hours for the starting and ending of the work have been set for the shafts on Tremont st.

Arrest Made In Hunt For Solomon Murder Clues

Mrs. Stanley Lacey, employed as a maid at 101 Chestnut Hill rd., Chestnut Hill, was arrested on Monday night by Patrolman Phillips, who in company with Boston police inspectors went to that address. She was taken to police headquarters to be questioned regarding the murder of Charles Solomon, the Boston racketeer who was shot by gangsters at the Cotton Club. The Oldsmobile sedan alleged to have been used by Solomon's murderers in making their getaway, was registered in the name of Mrs. Lacey. She told the police that the car was owned by James Burke, one of the young men being hunted for alleged participation in the murder. The woman admitted being friendly with Burke and said she had allowed him to register the car in her name. She disclaimed any knowledge of criminal activities on Burke's part. She has been employed at the Chestnut Hill residence since last October.

No Passenger Killed By B. & A. For 28 Years

F. J. Carty Speaks on "Motor Power" Before Rotary Club

"Not one passenger lost his life on the Boston and Albany Railroad in the past twenty-eight years," said Frank J. Carty, Mechanical Engineer, when he addressed the Newton Rotary Club on "Motor Power—Present and Future," on Monday at the Brae Burn Club. Mr. Carty explained the development of the safety devices by the railroads to safeguard passengers at all times. Automatic signals, supplemented by a train stopping mechanism on every tender box which automatically halts a train against which a signal is set, without a human hand, have made rear end collisions impossible. The railroad represent a capital investment of $25,000,000,000, employing one and one-quarter million workers. The United States has one-third of all the railroad mileage, 250,000 miles, in the world, followed by Russia with 48,000 miles. Canada, India, and France are next in order.

The speaker gave a brief history of the origin and development of locomotives in a most interesting manner. Strange as it may seem, France is credited with the first steam locomotive which operated on the streets of Paris as early as 1769. The next locomotive was the "Rocket" designed by Stevenson in England in 1829. This type would today be considered very crude, yet it embodied three principles which are recognized as essential in modern construction, as the horizontal boiler, driving wheels, and the vertical smokestack.

Following the "Rocket" were the "American" type, a four-wheeler, which was developed after the Civil War; the "Mogul" type, a Russian product; the "Consolidated" type of 1868; the "Mikado" type, a freight locomotive designed by Japan, and a prevailing type of freight locomotive today. Later developments included the "Paire", "Hudson", and "Berkshire" types, all of which are in use today. The latest model is the electric locomotive, very economical to operate but costly to install. At present only 2300 miles in the United States are electrified, Mr. Carty said.

Other kinds of transportation were described such as air travel, passenger auto, bus and freight trucks. Air service, the speaker claimed, was here to stay, having the advantage of speed and air line distances. With all these modern developments the speaker earnestly hoped that legislation would regulate transportation of all types so that the railroads could have fair competition.

Before the close of the meeting a delegation of Newton Rotarians, headed by Dr. Cyril Clark, arranged a representation at the inauguration of the newly formed Hingham Rotary Club on Tuesday evening. Former Newton Rotarian, William Halliday is the organizer of this club.

Colonel Nellie M. Duncan, Regional Commander of the Volunteers of America, will be the speaker at the Weekly dinner of the club at the Brae Burn Club House next Monday. Colonel Duncan has spent the greater part of her life in welfare work.

Will Take Blood For Fever Serum

A clinic to collect blood from people who have recently had Scarlet fever will be held at the Newton Hospital on Monday, Feb. 6, at 9:00 a. m. The clinic will be conducted by physicians of the State Department of Public Health.

This blood will be converted into serum by the State and will then be returned to the Newton Health Department in sealed glass tubes, each tube containing a sufficient quantity of serum for one protective dose.

The serum will be available to physicians for protecting children who have been exposed to Scarlet fever. The use of this serum should greatly reduce the number of secondary cases of Scarlet fever in families where there are several children.

Blood donors will be paid five dollars for this service. Approximately one-half pint of blood will be taken from each donor.

Officer Dowling Stops Wild Horse

Motorcycle Officer Dowling of the Newton police made a daring stop of a runaway horse recently near the high school on Walnut st., Newtonville. Dowling was doing traffic duty near the high school as the pupils were leaving when the frightened horse drawing a wagon owned by the Milk Company came galloping down Walnut st., with the wagon careening. Dowling grabbed the bridle on the horse as the animal reached him and was dragged for 75 feet before he brought the animal to a halt. The horse took fright while his driver, Holley Jenkins of Watertown was in a house on Commonwealth Park, Newton Centre, and ran about a mile along the avenue and Walnut st. before being stopped.

Police Take Wage Cut Fight To District Court

Lieut. Veducchio Causes Boston Paper to Retract Statement

The fight of the Newton police to prevent a salary cut of 7 1/2 per cent recently ordered by Mayor Weeks entered another phase this week when 123 petitions were filed by George McLaughlin, attorney for the police. These petitions question the legality of the Mayor's action. They were filed with Judge Bacon of the Newton District Court under a provision of the General Laws and ask for a review of the matter by the judge. In the event that the judge decides in favor of the police, the petitions ask that the former salaries of the police be restored. The police have been signing their pay checks since the first of this year under protest.

Of the 126 members of the Newton police, 123 signed protests against the salary cuts. Those not signing were Chief Hughes, one of the two captains and one other member of the force. The petitions for court action were signed by all the 123 who had signed the protests. The 124th protest had been signed by Gene Henry, janitor of police headquarters, who had been given one of the protest blanks by mistake; as he is on the payroll of the Public Buildings Department.

A Boston paper on Tuesday of this week contained a news item which gave the impression that Lieut. Veducchio, of the Newton police, is the ringleader in the movement against the wage cut. This item intimated that many of the policemen had signed because Veducchio, a lieutenant, is chairman of the protest committee. It stated that many of the police were backing out from signing the petitions for court action. Lieut. Veducchio and Attorney McLaughlin went to the office of this newspaper on Thursday and as a result the paper printed the real facts of the matter Thursday night. The committee of the police is comprised of Lieuts. Veducchio and Moan, Sergeants Mahoney and Leehan, and Patrolman Condrin. It was selected by vote; the five receiving the highest number of votes being chosen; the top man to serve as chairman. None of the committee asked any of the police to sign the protests or petitions. These signatures were obtained by patrolmen who volunteered for this work. Lieut. Veducchio says that the "unfounded intimations" printed in this paper concerning him were actuated by spite on the part of the writer.

Takes Dynamite From Turnpike Job

John Harris, 17, a student at the Hyde Park High School, caused a turmoil there on Tuesday when he displayed a stick of dynamite in a classroom. The master of the school telephoned the police and young Harris was taken into custody. In the West Roxbury court on Wednesday he admitted having taken the explosive from the turnpike construction job at Newton Highlands, while passing through this city. The dynamite was part of the stock used by the Bianchi Contracting Company, subcontractors to Coleman Brothers who are engaged in the construction of the turnpike through this city.

Traffic Sign Goes Through Window

Charlie Yee and his assistants at the laundry, 411 Centre st., Newton, were rudely awakened about 4 Monday morning when the top of an iron traffic sign came hurtling through the plate glass window at the front of their laundry. A truck driven by Fred Hurst of Everett skidded on Centre st. and hit the sign, snapping the top off.

Water Department To Make Three Day Study Of City Supply For Manganese

Manganese Is Said To Be Harmless To Health, But It Is Planned To Eliminate It Entirely

Starting today Newton will take its water supply for three days from the Metropolitan system. This temporary use of Metropolitan water is necessitated to allow the connection of new mains from the pumping station to the distribution main at Newton Upper Falls in connection with the extensive changes being made at the plant there. During this period the large wooden conduit which has served to gather water from the reservation at Needham for the past half-century will again be pumped out so that it will be only partly filled with water. The purpose of this is to enable tests to be made of the water supplied to this conduit from scores of small wells which were sunk when the conduit was built. Each of these wells is connected with the conduit by an iron pipe. There is a valve at the outlet of each pipe, but these valves have been installed so many years that it is doubtful if they could be shut off.

These small wells collect ground water which percolates through the gravel and sand from the area on the Needham side of the Charles River. From one or more of these wells water impregnated with manganese is being discharged into the conduit. The amount of manganese is not large; it is harmless to the health of Newtonians drinking it, but it is the purpose of the Newton Water Department to eliminate even the small amount of manganese now being diffused into the water supply. For this reason, when the water in the conduit has been lowered, men will enter and sample the water from each of the pipes leading from the small supply wells. Any that show traces of manganese will be plugged up. The presence of manganese in Newton water was detected shortly after the reservation at Needham was first installed. A young chemist from Vermont, Daniel Jackson, a member of the pioneer Newton family of that name, made a study of this feature of the Newton water supply many years ago while a student at the Institute of Technology. He later supervised the work on much of New York City's water system and afterwards became associated with the Philadelphia Water Department.

Before the end of this month it is expected that one of the two new boilers at the pumping station, and one of the three new generating and pumping units will have been completed and in use.

HOLD EXAM FOR NEW CITY JOB

Last Saturday 15 men took an examination at the State House for the position of Superintendent of Water Supply for the City of Newton. This position will bring a salary of $50 per week. The appointee will have charge of the new filtration basins at the water reservation at Needham, and the care of the reservation itself. He will have supervision of the four electric pumps which are to pump water from the river to the basins. He will also serve as assistant to the superintendent at the main pumping station at Newton Upper Falls, and will have charge of the records there.

MADAM BUTTERFLY AT PARAMOUNT

The Paramount Theatre, Newton, will present the talking screen version of the well-known light operatic romance, "Madam Butterfly," as its leading film for the first of the coming week. Sylvia Sidney takes the role of Cho-Cho-San and Gary Grant carries the role of Lieutenant Pinkerton. Charlie Ruggles is another favorite in the cast. On the same program will be Edward G. Robinson in "Silver Dollar," an accurate picture of H. A. W. Tabor, a Colorado historical character. For the last half of the week Wallace Beery will be back on the screen in "Flesh." On the same program Joan Blondell and Wallace Ford will be seen in "Central Park," taken from a true story. On Saturday evening there will be five acts of vaudeville. On Monday and Wednesday there will be the customary bargain matinees.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

Monday afternoon a Middlesex & Boston bus and an automobile collided on Walnut st., near Prospect ave., Newtonville when the car came out of Prospect ave. and hit the side of the bus. The car was owned by Frank Mahoney of 70 Prospect ave.

Monday afternoon a car driven by Beatrice Perrin of 14 Meigh rd., Chestnut Hill, and registered in the name of George Webb of New Haven, collided with an oil truck owned by the Penn Oil Company and driven by Thomas Breen of Somerville. The collision occurred on Hammond st., Chestnut Hill, and the woman received slight injuries.

CANNON APPOINTED ATTORNEY FOR ROBERT JONAH

Robert Jonah, 19, of Linwood ave., Newtonville, who will be tried at the coming session of the Middlesex Superior Court for the murder of his foster parents, will plead temporary insanity. Judge Collins on Wednesday assigned James S. Cannon of Newton as Jonah's counsel. The judge also appointed Dr. Isadore Green as mental expert for Jonah's defence.

WILL APPOINT TWO POLICEMEN

Mayor Weeks has decided to appoint two new policemen to fill two of the three vacancies caused by retirement of members of the department during the past year. In the interest of economy these vacancies had not been filled, but the Mayor has concluded that the men are needed.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON SIX IN TIE WITH MEDFORD MOVES UP A NOTCH

Newton and Medford High School hockey teams battled to a 2 to 2 tie last Friday night in the fifth set of games in the interscholastic league at the Boston Garden. In other games Belmont outclassed Arlington, 5 to 0, Melrose blanked Cambridge Latin 2 to 0 and Rindge and Stoneham deadlocked in a 1 to 1 tie. The Belmont victory maintained the clean slate the probable champions have had this season while the Melrose victory kept them right on the heels of the leaders, two points behind. Belmont has lost but one of its five contests, that of Belmont, Medford, with its one point for its tie with Newton dissolved the third place tie with Cambridge Latin to move into third place alone while the point that went to Newton moved the orange and black up a notch from fifth place to a fourth place tie with the Cantabs. Both Newton and Cambridge have won two, lost two, and tied one game in their five contests. Arlington's loss in the Belmont contest gave Stoneham the opportunity to jump ahead of the former into sixth place through the point received for its tie with Rindge. The Rindge point, the first the team has placed into its point column, left them as the cellar occupants, although they one point behind Arlington.

The Newton-Medford game was perhaps the most thrilling of the first period last Friday night. The first period was scoreless but in the second session Kevorkian tallied from scrimmage to put Newton in front. The third period saw considerable action and continued pressure by Medford which enabled them to tie it up within a few minutes of the opening of play. Again Kevorkian, teaming with Huston, put Newton in front with Huston tallying on a pretty pass from his teammate. Again Medford deadlocked the count and tried valiantly but vainly to win as time expired.

In the first session Newton had an excellent scoring chance. Capt. Houghton, with Huston, carried down center ice and fed Huston a pass with the latter closing in on Kenney, the Medford goalie. He had the goalie kicked but his searing drive was an inch too high and the puck hit the top of the cage to bound back onto the ice. Despite the sallies of Chipman and his teammates, the Newton defense work of Houghton and Sostillo broke up many attempts to score.

Kevorkian's goal in the second session came less than half a minute after play began. Chipman was off the ice at the time and Kenney had to make several saves at exciting moments during the period. The Newton defense was also hard put to it to prevent a Medford score. On Tuesday, Feb. 2, the Newton team was caught down the ice as Huston seized the disc and set sail for the Medford goal. Kenney came out to smother the shot before Huston could get rid of it. Later Riley and Chipman teamed up for Medford but Houghton tripped the former breaking up the play but going to the penalty box for his offense.

About two minutes of play had gone by in the final session when Chipman deadlocked the count, slamming home a rebound of a shot by Muench with Hennessey saved but cleared right up the center of the ice. Chipman had plenty of time to get set and blaze away. A few minutes later, by a pass to Kevorkian who in turn passed to Huston for the Newton second tally. Later Newton failed to cover in scrimmage and Chipman picked up a loose disc to beat Hennessey with a backhand. In the remaining minutes of the game Hennessey made a pair of great stops with Newton a man shy to stave off defeat.

There will probably be little chance in the standing at the end of tomorrow afternoon's play at the Boston Garden as the four leading teams are playing the four teams lowest in the standing. The chief attraction is the Belmont-Cambridge Latin contest with the Belmont team favored to win although the Cantabs are considered as the possible "surprise" team of the league should the leaders be off form for the game. A Cambridge defeat would give Newton the chance to hold fourth place by itself instead of in a tie with the Cantabs as at present as Coach Dr. Martin's sextet is expected to take the measure of the Rindge Tech team. Cambridge is favored over Arlington and Melrose over Stoneham.

The league standing:

	W	L	T	Pts
Belmont	5	0	0	10
Melrose	4	1	0	8
Medford	2	2	0	4
NEWTON	2	2	1	5
Camb. Latin	2	2	1	5
STONEHAM	1	3	1	3
Arlington	1	4	0	2
Rindge Tech	0	4	1	1

JUDGE SMITH HIT BY AUTO

Judge Clarence C. Smith of the Land Court at Boston was crossing Centre street near his home at 636 Centre st. last Friday when he was hit by an automobile driven by Donald Gibbs of 37 Claremont st., Newton. Judge Smith received severe head injuries.

NEWTON TRADE TO PLAY WALTHAM TRADE

Next week Friday the Newton Trade School basketball team will meet Waltham Trade School at Waltham in a return game with the Watch City five. In this connection a correction of a statement made in last week's columns should be noted. Last week the outcome of a Newton-Waltham Trade School game at Newton was recorded with Waltham the victor in a game with Coach Sullivan's five at Newton. It was further stated that there was no Waltham Trade School and that the team was selected from among the Newton squad in a practice game. Such is not the case, the Waltham Trade School has been represented for the past two years by a very good basketball team. In press reports of the game at Newton line-ups were incorrectly stated and the Newton line-up which previously lost to the Newton Y. M. C. A. was designated as the Waltham team and the winners as the Newton team, giving reason to the misunderstanding.

NEWTON FIFTH AT NORTHEASTERN—MEET RIVALS NEXT

The Newton High track team placed fifth in the annual Northeastern University track meet last Saturday which was captured by Medford High for the third time in six years. The Medford outfit distanced the field with 25 points. Brookline placed second with 18½, Quincy and Everett tied for third with 8 points each while Newton's 6 points placed them ahead of Arlington with 5½ points, Lynn English with 4½ and six other schools with point totals ranging down to but two.

In the finals of the dash Captain Doug Sloane of Newton was pitted against such sprinters as Committo of Everett, Neill of Quincy, Famigletti of Medford and other survivors of the preliminary rounds. Committo lunged on his final stride to break the tape ahead of the rest of the field which was pretty well blanketed. The Newton team placed third in the three mile and Sloane fourth. Sloane had previously won his trial heat and placed second to Committo in the semi-finals.

Palmer York and Dave MacLellan of Newton were winners of the first and second trial heats in the hurdles. York also won his semi-final heat to qualify but MacLellan failed to place. In the finals York was third with Ray Henderson of Medford winning. Neill of Quincy second and Strandberg of Mechanic Arts fourth. Henderson equalled the meet record of 4 5-8 in winning.

In the 1000-yard run which was held in two heats with places being awarded on the basis of times of each of the runners Hugh Owens of Newton failed to place. He finished second in the second heat 3 3-5 seconds behind Billy Main of Malden but the first heat was considerably faster and Main got no better than a fourth place point. The first heat was won by Capt. Kozovik of Medford with Eddie Rne of Brookline second and Pare of Lynn English third. These three runners also earned similar point places.

The 600-yard run was won by Enwright of Brookline in 1:22 1-8 in the last of three heats with places being awarded on a time basis. Tom Fitzgerald of Malden was second in this heat but his time of 1:25 3-8 was the sixth fastest of the field and did not get him into the point-winning class.

In the shotput and high jump Newton entries did not figure. Crovo of Arlington won the shot with a toss of 45 ft. 6½ inches and Schwartz of Brookline the high jump with a record leap of 6 ft. ¾ in. The Newton-Medford relay, the final event of the day, was one of the feature races of the entire program. Doug Sloane led off for Newton and reached the first bank ahead of Boliver, who had previously won the 300-yard run in the new meet record time of 36 seconds, but the Medford runner jumped Sloane on the straightaway to take the lead as the next runners were about to take up the race. Newton's passing of the baton was ragged and York found himself six yards behind Guarante on the start of the second leg. York finally fought up on even terms but Andrews of Howard of Medford was the victor. Newton's Howard was a little difficult in defeating the orange and black although Coach Enoch's squads is a game outfit of competitors. Allan Schwartz and Tod Plotkin in the high jump, shot put and broad jump are expected to garner nearly twenty points between them while Joe Enwright in the 600 and Eddie Ray in the 1000 are other sterling performers. While Brookline may take a majority of the first places of the meet the second and third place scorers may well swing the balance of points in Newton's favor despite all dope-sheet predictions.

Regardless of the outcome of the affair the meet will provide many thrilling races and excellent performances. The meet will close Newton's dual meet season, in which the orange and black has been on the short end on two of its other three meetings. Lawrence and Brockton were victorious over the locals by a narrow margin while in the other meet Methuen was overwhelmingly defeated in a meet in which Coach Enoch withheld his veterans and let-ermen from competition. The remaining meets on Newton's schedule are B. A. Schoolboy games on Feb. 11 and the State Meet at the Boston Garden on Feb. 25.

Thinks Race Prejudice Is On Increase

Re-Evaluation of Contributions of Negro to Culture Needed

In speaking before the Woman's Association of the Central Church of Newtonville on Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Joseph Mitchell of Boston, said that she feels that race prejudice in America at the present time is on the increase and that a re-evaluation of the contributions which the negroes of America have made to our music, literature and general culture is needed.

In literature, Uncle Remus stories, many of which have an African counterpart—and their lyric poetry are distinctly American and a national asset. Poets, painters, and actors have risen from their ranks. "The high spiritual interpretation of Harriet Beecher Stowe's 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' is a masterpiece of moving drama." "The Negro spirituals represent the sole American music," said Mrs. Mitchell. "The slave holders produced the sorrow and the Negro song."

The Association met in the morning to sew and make surgical dressings. The very delicious luncheon was prepared by a committee in charge of Mrs. F. C. Milder. The tables with pink candles and carnations were reminders of St. Valentine's proximity and were the work of Mrs. D. Brewer Eddy and her committee. Mrs. Walter S. Adams substituted for Mrs. Eddy who was unable to be present. At the opening of the afternoon meeting, Mrs. Decatur, the President, led the devotional service and presided during the business session.

Waite, known to many young people as "Dad" Waite, could be secured for that date as speaker for the Young People's Section of the Convention. The program of the evening was a discussion of Character Education, especially in the public schools. Mr. John Lund, Superintendent, and Miss Calista Roy, Supervisor in the Newton school system, were present to give their experiences and experiments along this line, which is receiving much emphasis in all progressive schools.

Newton Troops Reporting

Troop 18 reports a tree walk with their Captain and instructor on Sunday. Their instructor was Mr. Harold P. Cook, State Forestry Department, who pointed out the characteristics of the various trees. After the walk they were entertained at the home of Miss Dorothy Chandler. Troop 18 also sends word that they are making articles shown to them by Mrs. George A. Clapp of the Needlework Guild, at their last meeting.

Troop 10 is working hard on their Junior Citizen and Star Finder Merit Badges, also judging and signalling. Troop 7 reports splendid organization and keen interest in their activities.

WEEKS JUNIOR HIGH

At the Wednesday assembly Mr. Cronin, story-teller from the Newton Public Library, entertained the students. In addition to a story and the recitation and poems in a most pleasing manner, Mr. Cronin suggested some books which he felt would appeal to the boys and girls. At the conclusion of the assembly, Gwendolyn Goldfine was awarded the prize of one dollar for the best solution of the cross-word puzzle which was published in the Weeks Junior World.

Four members of the Campercraft Club went on an all-day hike to Mount Wachusett. Because of the slippery condition of the road, the hikers found that it was quite an art to stay on two feet during the climb. In the afternoon the group went to Coghill Park in Fitchburg and spent several hours hiking and exploring.

The Girls' Home Room Basketball Tournament is progressing rapidly. Finals will be played this week and next week. There are few home rooms that have not had almost every member participating.

Parents are reminded of Parents' Day next Tuesday.

DAY JUNIOR HIGH

Miss Mabel M. Manning, one of the Day teachers, spoke before the assembly about her trip to Russia last summer. At the end of her talk slides were shown. Two treats are in store for Day pupils. ## A GOOD REPORT for the Thousands of Members of this Mutual Company

AT THE END of the third year of the depression the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company reports that it has easily met every claim and call during these years of stress and storm without borrowing a dollar or having to sell a single security.

Throughout this period the institution of life insurance has proved itself one of America's greatest economic assets.

Three factors, not available as a whole to business generally or to the individual investor, contribute to the soundness of the life insurance structure:

1. Uninterrupted cash income from renewal premiums and from interest on investments.
2. Diversification of investments, carefully regulated by statute.
3. A continuous trusteeship of funds invested in sound income-producing securities which can be held for maturity values.

Tribute To Rev. Father Curtin

In the sudden passing of Rev. T. A. Curtin, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church in Newton Center, the whole community received a shock of grief and a sense of loss. He was well-known throughout the city for his keen interest in civic and welfare matters, and this interest extended to state and national affairs.

Rigid and unyielding in all questions of morality, he could show a delightful softness and tenderness for human frailties. To his close friends he was the soul of kindness and generosity, to the poor and the suffering a fountain of sympathy.

He was passionately fond of flowers, he loved little children, books, music, pictures, the blue sky, the singing birds. Withal he possessed a quick wit and a keen sense of humor, loving a merry joke and a good story.

Vigorous, active, alert to the last, he went without suffering or impairment of faculties straight to his Master with gallant courage.

In the church he served so well he will be greatly missed. The poor and the sick will deeply feel the loss of his sympathy and ready help. To those who were privileged to call him friend, he has left a fragrant memory of a very precious friendship, but alas "A lonesome place against the sky."

SIDNEY HOLDEN OPENS REAL ESTATE OFFICE

Sydney B. Holden has opened a real estate office at 17 Institution avenue, Newton Centre. He has been identified with the real estate business in Newton for over twelve years and during that time has to his credit some of the largest real estate transfers in the City of Newton. He is prominent in civic affairs, being at the present time a member of the Board of Aldermen, a member of the executive committee of the Newton Centre Improvement Association, President of the Newton Republican Club and Secretary of the Ward 6 Republican Ward Committee.

Associated with Mr. Holden in the new business is Edward J. Kivell, Mr. Kivell has had long experience in construction work and is familiar with Newton real estate, as some of the finest homes in the city are his products. He was superintendent in charge of masonry construction at the Cottage Farm bridge, John W. Weeks Memorial bridge, and he was supervisor of the City of Newton on the construction of the new City Hall and War Memorial. Mr. Kivell is a member of the executive committee of the Mayor's Relief Committee.

Renew Gravel Pit Permit at Highlands For Two Months

A Matter Which Has Been The Subject of Bitter Controversy Is Thus Settled For Two Months

The permit of the Garden City Sand & Gravel Company to operate its pit near Beethoven ave. and Winslow rd., Newton Highlands, was extended for another two months by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. This matter has been the subject of bitter controversy the past few months and several hearings have been held on it before the Aldermen. Property owners on Plymouth and Carver rds. have protested against the wholesale excavating activities which have been carried on at this pit the past couple of years.

G. Howard Frost of Fuller st., West Newton, owner of the large area where the gravel and sand have been excavated spoke in favor of the extending of the permit when the hearing was called. He stated that the company has abided with its agreement made to the Aldermen recently. This agreement specified that the area which had been excavated below the grade agreed upon when the pit was first started should be filled to grade before March 10, 1933. Frost said that 50 per cent of this area has been filled in and the remainder will be by March 10. This necessitates 1,000 yards of fill. He said that in addition the company has placed 5000 cubic yards of fill in the swamp where no excavating was done. He stated that two owners of abutting properties, one with 300 feet frontage on the pit property, and the other with 350 feet frontage, favor the extending of the permit.

Hugh Boyd, appearing as attorney for George Haynes, objected to the extension of the permit. He said that the company has not complied with the conditions it agreed to, and has not refilled the land as promised. He stated that near Mr. Haynes' land the Frost property has been so deeply excavated that there is a drop of 25 feet. Mr. Boyd asserted that sites of two streets, which have appeared on official maps of Newton for years, Vaughan and George sts., have been excavated away in the process of excavating this huge pit. He asked that the grade at this place be set at 145 feet above sea level instead of the 130 feet planned by the gravel company. He said that Haynes & Hernandez made an excellent development of nearby land and this development is now assessed at $500,000, but the remainder of the land now owned by Mr. Haynes has been rendered of no value by the excavating at the Frost property. He called attention to the excellent new playground which the city is building nearby and that any extension of the non-conforming use of the Frost property should be carefully restricted before being granted. Mr. Boyd argued that in the past wherever gravel pits have been excavated in this city, public nuisances have been created, the city has had to seize such properties because of non-payment of taxes, and then has had to create further nuisances by dumping rubbish to fill in the deep pits.

Following a recess conference, the Claims and Rules Committee reported favorably on the extending of the permit for another year, with a number of restrictions imposed. The Board voted to accept the report, with Aldermen Holden and Temperley voting in the negative. Aldermen Holden said that he still holds that gravel pits constitute the biggest menace to this city, and should be eliminated. Alderman Grebenstein read the restrictions which have been placed, contingent on the granting of the permit.

These conditions limit the operation of machinery and equipment at the pit between the hours of 7 a. m. and 6 p. m., except in a case where special permission is obtained from the City Engineer. No excavating may be done except in places designated by the City Engineer. The hopper, other buildings and machinery must be removed within 30 days from the date of the expiration of the permit; failure to do so constitutes a license to the city to enter the premises and remove the buildings and equipment at the expense of the owners. No excavating will be done below grades fixed by the City Engineer. Weekly reports shall be filed by the company and engineers retained by it showing the areas and amounts excavated. Failure to do this will constitute cause for immediate revocation of the permit. The permit is not assignable and will be revoked if Frost ceases to own the property. The permit may be revoked at any time by the Mayor.

Col. Nellie Duncan Addresses Newton Rotary Club

Colonel Nellie M. Duncan, New England director of the Volunteers of America, gave a very interesting and appealing account of her work and the work of the organization. Failure to do this will constitute cause for immediate revocation of the permit. The permit is not assignable and will be revoked if Frost ceases to own the property. The permit may be revoked at any time by the Mayor.

Colonel Duncan, who is always in need and must always remain a care for others under our present social order—the needy, workless and jobless. The second group are those who have tried to maintain their self respect but through a long period of want and privation were driven by desperation to seek help reluctantly from others. This latter group are naturally the most deserving, those who have gone down the scale of life, fighting and broken in spirit, as a product of times.

Colonel Duncan sounded a pessimistic note when she said that those who formed our long bread lines and were in the depths of despair sooner or later fomented communistic and revolutionary outbreaks. She appealed to the members and their friends to keep, through aid, our American homes safe in the darkness of the age while faith, hope and honor still lived. The club was invited to visit the Hospice and see the volunteers and their daily work with the unfortunate and needy.

School Cafeterias Feed 5,000 in Five High Schools

Since Nov. First Run as Single Unit Under School Dept.

The cafeterias of the Newton High School and the four junior high schools of the city are being used daily by 5,000 pupils, according to the estimate of Miss Grace Wallace and of Miss Inez Bernor, her assistant, who have had supervision of the five student restaurants since November 1st. All pupils who eat their lunches in the school buildings use these lunch rooms, regardless of whether they buy all of their food there or bring part or all from home. The number of checks sold indicate that practically all buy at least milk or cocoa, and most buy a part or all of a warm lunch.

Starting November first, the cafeterias began operating under a new plan. Under the old plan they were operated independently by each school and each separate treasury gradually accumulated a surplus fund. At the time the new plan went into effect these funds amounted to about $12,000. They are now directly controlled by the single supervisor and her assistant. All planning and buying are done by them and menus are uniform for all. The project is financed by a single revolving fund set aside by the School Committee and the business is run on a non-profit making basis.

The new arrangement is working well. During December and January a surplus of $2,000 accumulated. To balance this profit, which is considered too high, the portions served have been increased in size. Superintendent Lund says that if profits still continue at this high a level, prices will be reduced.

The highest price charged for a single serving is 10 cents for the dish which contains the principal part of the meal. All other servings are 5 cents. Only plain nourishing food which a child should eat during his 30 minute recess is sold.

From the $12,000 surplus which was turned back to the city treasury, November 1st, over $6,000 was used for improvements in the cafeteria rooms in the Day and Warren Schools. The ceilings were sound proofed, the tables were covered with linoleum and teachers' lunch rooms were partitioned off. The weekly school already had these appointments.

While the lunch rooms are too crowded to accommodate many outside guests, parents and friends of the school are always welcome while the different divisions are being served from 11:30 to 1:30 daily.

Nine Give Blood For Fever Serum

Five young men and five young women went on Monday to the Newton Hospital to give a half-pint of blood each in the effort to lessen the spread of scarlet fever in this city. One young woman was rejected as having unsuitable blood. She blood was made from this blood and injected into persons who have been exposed to scarlet fever. Physicians from the State Board of Health were in charge of the clinic.

RECEIVES ENGINEERING HONOR

William T. Jones of Beacon st., Waban, was last week elected president of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers at their convention in Cincinnati. Mr. Jones has been a resident of Newtonville and Waban for the past twenty years and has long been recognized as an authority in the heating world.

Prior to his election as President Mr. Jones served on the executive council as Vice-President. He is treasurer of Barnes & Jones, Inc., of Boston. In the forty years of the Society's active existence only two New England men have held the office of President and both were from Newton. The other man was the late William G. Snow, who was president in 1909.

Boy Scouts To Hold Biggest Exposition Yet

Mayor Weeks's Committee Is Working Hard

A Pet Show! Demonstrations of Camping, showing kinds of tents and shelters and packs; the delectable odor of cooking pancakes and stew; the story of our flag; how a boy becomes a Tenderfoot Scout and advances up the line; all these phases of Scouting and many more will be shown at the Boy Scout Exposition. Exhibits are being prepared by the Scouts now and, in addition, they are working up explanatory talks to go with their exhibits.

After you look at totem-poles, carved and painted in hideous designs and colors, do you see night-mares? If you do, then you will enjoy the most extremes of night-mares, for one Troop is preparing an exhibit of totem-poles that will rival those of the Alaskan Indians!

A Scout-Made World

One Patrol from a Troop in the Council has made a globe, two feet in diameter. The Scouts built up the layers and then turned the resulting cube down on a big lathe in the Patrol Leader's cellar workshop. The Patrol has engineers from among its own Scout members who are drafting a map of the world on segments of paper and then pasting the segments onto the globe. Each country will have its flag with the number of Scouts.

The beauty of the exposition is that the Scouts are developing their own ideas and working them out according to their own wishes. This is even true of the booths, for the Troops are simply assigned space in the Armory, and that is chalked off. The Scouts and leaders walk into the Armory and build from the floor up.

Cubs to Have Exhibit

The Cubs of the Council, boys 9, 10, and 11, are also going to have an exhibit this year, with all five Packs joining together in one booth. The Wellesley Troops, which are now a part of Norumbega Council, are also taking part and are working up original plans and exhibits.

Awards to Be Made

On Saturday evening it is planned to have Mayor Sinclair Weeks, who is Honorary Chairman of the Exposition Committee, make an award to the Troop and one to the Cub Pack which has sold the most tickets in advance for the exposition. Each ticket sold beforehand counts two points. The money derived from the sale of tickets and from sale of refreshments is to be used to defray the expenses of the exposition. If there is any surplus it will be paid into the Newton Community Chest, Inc., of which Norumbega Council is a member.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of Mr. C. Hassler Capron, Chairman; Messrs. L. D. MacNutt, Maxwell P. Gaddis, F. Leslie Ford, Ernest J. Fisher, Eagle Scout William Dillaway, C. F. Liscomb, Charles A. Rick and L. A. Bruce, Jr.

The exposition will be held at the State Armory, West Newton, Friday Feb. 24th, 7:30 to 10:00 P. M., and Saturday, the 25th, 1 to 10:00 P. M.

Young People's Sunday In Newton Centre

Miss Marjorie Prescott Delivers The Address

In accordance with a well established custom in Unitarian churches, February 5 was observed as Young People's Sunday. Worship was in charge of the young peoples' society and the sermon was delivered by Marjorie Prescott of Newton Centre.

Taking as her subject "This Younger Generation," she addressed the older members of the congregation with explanations and defense of the changes in customs which have taken place since the Great War. She maintained that the present generation of young people understand each other better than the old because they are absolutely frank with each other. Because of this knowledge they are more discreet and may be trusted to take care of themselves properly.

She concluded her address with the following advice to both old and young: "In conclusion, let me make a plea to the adults, not only to understand and accept us, but also to walk along with us. Be broadminded enough to consider our ideas seriously. Do not make the mistake of thinking that because we act most of the time carefree and happy-go-lucky that we are not capable of serious thought. We grow up very quickly. And to youth, may I say this, keep your eyes open, seek the truth, gather knowledge, help form a world brotherhood, and ever strive for a high urge. What you are to be, you are now becoming."

WANT ONE-WAY STREET

Residents of Newton Highlands, headed by Rec. Charles O. Farrar, have petitioned the Board of Aldermen to make Columbus st. one way between Lincoln and Forest sts. A hearing will be held on this petition on March 2.

Temperley Again Demands Lights On Boylston St.

Says Safety of Residents Has Been Neglected

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night when the budget was being considered, Alderman Temperley inquired if provision had been made in the appropriation for street lighting to provide lights for Boylston st. at Newton Upper Falls, Highlands and Centre. He told of his repeated, and unavailing efforts to have the Aldermen and other city officials give proper consideration to this matter. He compared the attention given by the Aldermen to a young man, not a resident of this city, who was awarded $100 for damages because he tripped on an alleged defect on the street at Commonwealth ave., when training for the Marathon race on April 12, with the utter lack of regard shown for the safety of Boylston st. residents during the past couple of years. These residents have had to grope along a darkened street, where trenches have been dug, the roadway excavated and other hazards created. One old woman fell into a trench and suffered injuries which caused her death, but the city refused her compensation, nor has it shown any disposition to correct the conditions prevailing because of no lights on Boylston st.

Alderman Murray replied that the control of the lighting on Boylston st. is entirely in the hands of the State and a bill has been introduced in the Legislature seeking to care for this matter. Alderman Temperley said that the City Solicitor had informed the Aldermen prior to the granting by the city of Boylston st. as the route for the Worcester turnpike, that Newton would not lose its control over this highway. Alderman Gallagher agreed with Alderman Temperley and asserted that the city has been derelict in giving proper consideration for the rights of the people living along Boylston and adjoining streets by not providing lights for many months past. He argued action should be taken without further delay.

Since the meeting it has been learned that there is no bill before the Legislature regarding the lights on Boylston st. A request has been made to the Department of Public Works to give consideration to this matter. The State has not provided street lights on the sections of the turnpike which have been completed. Meanwhile Boylston st. continues as dark as "No Man's Land," and no flares even occasionally illuminate it.

AUTO FUMES OVERCOME YOUTH

Harvey Williamson, 18, of 94 Newtonville ave., Newton, was overcome by carbon monoxide fumes about noon on Monday. Williamson was driving a closed car and a gas-ket burned out on a cylinder head which allowed the fumes to escape into the car. He drove the car into a garage on Washington st. and fell onto the floor. Garage employees took him to the office of Dr. Petrillo at 449 Washington st. Williamson was taken to the Newton Hospital and resuscitated. He remained at the hospital several days for treatment.

Board of Aldermen Still Further Prune City Budget Under Mayor's Slashes

Nearly All Departments of City Government Get Further Cuts Of From $200 to $15,000

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night the budget for 1933 was passed. Mayor Weeks had so pruned the appropriations estimated to run the various departments that little additional cutting could be reasonably done. But, the Aldermen, to show that they also are interested in economy, made a few cuts from the Mayor's recommendations.

From the Mayor's budget figures for the Soldiers' Relief Dept. $400 was cut; from the Engineering Department, $200; from the Fire Department, $250; from the Health Department, $150; from the Street Department, $150; from the General Department, $100; Treasury Department, $2000. The cut in the General Department was made on expenses for Memorial Day. The explanation of Alderman Gordon, chairman of the Finance Committee concerning this cut was—that the committee believes instead of hiring a band for the parade, the bands of the Newton schools can be used.

About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

Our Congressmen at Washington have been quite willing to cut the salaries and wages of government employees receiving comparatively small pay. But, these same Representatives and Senators refuse to cut their own salaries of $10,000. Nice fellows, aren't they? A big help in getting this country out of the slough. After all, who is to blame? Isn't it the people who elect such selfish, inconsistent individuals to run the affairs of our Federal Government?

The GRAPHIC received from a Newton Centre woman a facsimile of a check for $1. The check for $1 was received by a woman working in a trousers factory as wages for two weeks work, including overtime. It is a glaring example of the "sweat shop racket," which has reached deplorable magnitude in Massachusetts, as in other States. Dastardly employers, taking advantage of the unemployment situation have been continually reducing wages until, in some cases, women are lucky if they earn $3 at the end of a hard week's work. All the accompanying rotten features of hard times are existent—long hours, unsanitary conditions, immoral surroundings, according to reports sent in by reliable investigators. Workers are being submerged to the status of Oriental coolies. This applies to men workers as well as women. Unless sweat shops are checked, and the sale of their products discouraged, all wages will be reduced to a deplorable level, the economic and social conditions in this country will go from bad to worse and the result is not pleasant to contemplate. Decent manufacturers and merchants are being driven out of business, the purchasing power of the people is being gradually diminished and the trend certainly is not from depression towards prosperity.

On Tuesday a hearing was held at the State House before the Committee on Labor and Industries on a bill which would require tags to be placed on merchandise produced in violation of the Minimum Wage Law. Pleading for this bill, Senator Conroy referred to sweatshops as "a curse to this Commonwealth." Representative Woelke of Methuen told of one employee who received 4 cents for a week's work. At present the only weapon the State has against manufacturers and store owners (mostly chain stores), who violate the minimum wage law, is to advertise them in newspapers. This weapon is quite ineffective. Comparatively few read these advertisements. The only person appearing against the bill was a well known attorney who represented a manufacturing concern.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON WINS FROM RINDGE TO CLIMB TO TIE FOR THIRD

The Newton High School hockey team blanked Rindge Tech. 2 to 0, last Saturday at the Boston Garden in an interscholastic hockey league game and climbed into a third place tie with Medford. Belmont continues to set the pace with an undefeated and untied aggregation which edged Cambridge Latin, 2 to 1, and Melrose kept on the leaders heels with a similar score in its game with Stoneham. Melrose has lost but one of its six games, that to Belmont some weeks ago. Arlington fought gamely to hold the Medford six to a 1-1 tie which gave the Newton team the opportunity to tie the latter team for third place.

No games are scheduled for tomorrow as the ice at the Garden rink has been removed and replaced by the board track for the B. A. A. track meets tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Next week Saturday the final games in the league circuit will be staged with the Belmont-Medford clash the feature of the four games. Although Belmont is the probable champion of the league the team is not "in" as yet as a surprise defeat at the hands of Medford and an almost certain Melrose victory over its second division opponent would bring about a tie between Belmont and Melrose. Newton and Arlington face each other in another attractive set-to and a Newton victory will give it a final berth alone in third place should Belmont come through with its probable win over Medford.

In last Saturday's game with Rindge the Newton players had many more shots at the net than the Rindge players but the excellent work of Capt. Marty Roscio in the Rindge check and cut loose on a solo. He weaved through the Rindge defense players, Ananias and Donabed, and lined a low drive by Roscio for the opening, and what later proved to be the winning goal.

Let it be in the third session a solo effort by Captain Charlie Houghton, one of many by the Newton players, the second and final tally. Hooking the puck at centre ice he stick-handled through the defense, lured the goalie out of position, and drove the puck home.

Newton High's basketball team suffered its second defeat of the season at the St. Mary's gym in Cambridge on Tuesday when the Rindge Tech five won a 47 to 28 Suburban league victory over the orange and black. A few weeks ago Newton met defeat at the hands of Cambridge in a league contest on the same floor.

These are the only defeats Coach Frank Simmons' quintet has experienced in its nine games to date. Outside of league competition the local team has won all of its games. The Rindge victory put that team into first place in the league standing ahead of the Cambridge Latin team which has not been defeated in its two league contests. The league scoring system of allowing two points for a victory gives Rindge a total of six points, through its two victories over Brookline and Lee, and split its two games with Newton, while the Cantabs have dropped back into a second place tie with Newton. The Cantabs have chalked up victories at the expense of Brookline and Newton and are due to climb back into a first place tie with Rindge this afternoon through an almost certain victory over Brookline. Newton has an even split in its four games for a total of four points. The local quintet has defeated Rindge and Brookline while losing, as already stated, its games with the two Cambridge schools at St. Mary's gym.

Newton has one chance to wind up its season in a tie for the league title. Next week Tuesday Cambridge Latin comes to Newtonville and next week Friday Brookline comes here. Victories in both of these games will give Newton a 2-2 standing with a total of eight points. After today's victory the Latin-Brookline affair the Cantabs have three games to play, the game at Newton on Tuesday and two games with Rindge. Should Newton upset the Cantabs next Tuesday a triple tie for first place might be a likely occurrence. It would result from a split of the two games between Rindge and Cambridge Latin.

This afternoon the Newton squad journeys to Westboro to meet the high school team there in a return game. Newton is expected to return with a victory as an overwhelming Newton triumph occurred in the opening game of the season when Westboro came here.

In losing to Rindge this week Tuesday the Newton team found itself unable to overcome the jinx which seems to pursue it at the St. Mary's gym. No Newton quintet has returned victorious from that floor since the sport was re-established in Newton six years ago. Joe Mastropieri and Captain Warren Huston led the Newton scorers with 8 and 6 points respectively while they could not compare with the scoring of the Rindge stars, Byron Stobo who contributed 15 and 10 points respectively. The Rindge second team won a hard-fought contest by the small margin of 16 to 13.

The present league standing:

	W.	L.	Pts.
Rindge	3	1	6
Cambridge Latin	2	0	4
Brookline	0	4	0

OUR LADY HIGH FIVE WINS—HOLDS SECOND IN RACE

The Our Lady High School basketball five defeated Mission High of Roxbury on Tuesday on the local floor, 59 to 15, to hold second place in the Catholic High School league race. Cathedral High, which vanquished Our Lady's at the South End team's gymnasium ten days ago, also won its game with Immaculate Conception High of Revere to maintain its pace-setting stride. In other games St. Mary's of Brookline defeated the Sacred Heart School team of Newton Centre, 25 to 13, and St. Charles kept on Our Lady High's heels with a 43 to 14 victory over St. Clement's of Medford.

Overwhelming the Mission High team Captain Charlie Gallagher led his mates on the Our Lady High team with an individual scoring spree of 24 points. Every local player in the game, seven taking part, scored at least two points with Marino following Gallagher with 9 points and McCarthy and Colantuono eight each.

The feature this afternoon will be staged in the Our Lady High gymnasium with St. Charles, closest rivals of the Newton team, coming over from Waltham in an attempt to climb up into a second place tie by administering a defeat to the local five. Sacred Heart meets Cathedral at the South End and is due for its fifth straight setback.

On Monday the Our Lady High team played a postponed game with the Sacred Heart School team with the 1932 league champions defeating their city rivals and newcomers to the league, 51 to 26. ### BROOKLINE TOPS THE NEWTON TRACK TEAM 49 TO 28

In the final dual track meet of the season the Newton High team was defeated by Brookline High last Saturday on the new Brookline track by the score of 49 to 28. The Wealthy Towners took seven of the eleven events and piled up an overwhelming lead in the three field events which were staged first. In these three events Brookline took all points but on third to get away to a 26 to 1 start. In the track events Newton had a 27 to 23 edge which was far short of cutting down Brookline. In the shot put Schwartz, Binds, and Hill, swept the event for Brookline with Capt. Schwartz winning with a toss of more than 44 feet. The high jump was also all Brookline with Schwartz winning at 5 ft. 5 1/2 and Plotkin and Lee doing the same in the broad jump. In the broad jump Plotkin were one, two with Brown of Newton chalking up the orange and black's first point with a third place.

The first outdoor event was the hurdles final heat of which proved to be one of the most thrilling events of the afternoon. The judges, after considerable debate, awarded Tod Plotkin of Brookline first and Palmer York of Brookline second and Newton second and third.

The dash brought another feather into the Brookline cap as Johnson of Sloan in the final with Francis of Newton a close third. Newton captured its initial first place in the 300-yard run when Dave MacLellan was clocked in 35 1-5 seconds for a new record mark for a Brookline track. Johnson of Brookline took second over Capt. Sloan of Newton who placed third.

In the 600-yard run Joe Enwright set a new Brookline mark, winning in 1m. 20 1-5s. with Smith of Newton and Connolly of Newton capturing the other two places.

Eddie Rae had little difficulty in winning the 1000 yard Brookline with Tom Fitzgerald and Roger Maynard taking the other two places to add to Newton's score. For the first five laps Fitzgerald set the pace but Rae went out in front to win by a fifteen yard margin.

Newton's relay team, one of the fastest in schoolboy circles, put the final five points into Newton's score with a new track time of 1m. 57 4-5s. The Newton quartet was comprised of York, Miller, Wilkes and MacLellan with Miller taking Capt. Sloan's place. Each runner added to the lead gained by York with MacLellan finishing July 30 yards in front of the Brookline anchor.

Tomorrow afternoon several of the leading performers on the Newton team will take part in the events at the B. A. A. schoolboy games at the Boston Garden. The Newton relay team has been matched against Brookline as usual and a thrilling race is predicted. Next week Saturday the Andover Interscholastics are on the card and the following week the indoor track season will be brought to a close with the State Meet, which will also be staged on the Garden boards.

NEWTON FIVE TOPS QUINCY

Newton High's basketball team, checked up its second victory of the season over Quincy High in a return game, at Newton last week Friday by a score of 31 to 19. Charlie Flagg led the scoring, almost defeating the visitors single-handed as he chalked up 17 points.

Sports Briefs

Frank Spain has returned to Dartmouth College after a semester's absence. It is probable that the former Newton high star athlete will not be permitted an A. A. U. card this season as he gave evidence that he would turn professional when he accepted a tryout with the Bruins in Quebec last November. This may not affect his playing with the Dartmouth varsity as the A. A. U. has no jurisdiction over college teams. It is possible that Spain may appear in the line-up in the coming series with Harvard. Newton is well represented on the Green team as Langdon Powers is a forward and Bob Bennett a defence player. Gordon Linberg is one of the leading athletes at Tufts. The Newtonville youth has not lost a wrestling match and is intercollegiate heavyweight champion. He is also a versatile athlete participating in football, hockey and track. Captain Allie Fletcher and his Yale hockey team defeated the St. Nicholas Club last Saturday 5 to 2 and B. U. on Wednesday by a similar score. Warren Colby and Joe Gilligan were important factors in both victories. In the game with the Nicks Colby counted once on a solo dash for the final Eli tally. Two of Gilligan's passes were converted into points by his teammate. In the B. U. game each of the Newton boys counted twice, although defeated by Roxbury Latin in a dual meet last Friday Country Day uncovered a new star in Bradford Jenkins. He was captain of the hockey team which disbanded recently and in his first track meet chalked up thirteen points. He won the dash and 300 and took second in the shot.

Capt. Jean Labouchere won the shot and took second in the dash while Bill Schmidt won the hurdles. Vincent Stanley of West Newton was a member of the Snowbird four-man bobbed team which won the junior A. U. championship at Lake Placid last Saturday. The Brae Burn sextet is one of the strongest amateur hockey teams in Greater Boston, although swamped by Harvard Wednesday night 13 to 4. Dick Rogers, former Dartmouth star, Paul Curtis, Yale centre, Dick Robbins of Bowdoin, and Edgar Crosby and Bill Ellison, former Harvard defence men, are members of the team. Clark Hodder, Crimson freshman coach, will probably not play with the Brae Burn team this season as it would affect the amateur status of the club. Will Duffy, Albemarle Golf Club pro, predicts that Dorothy Hunter will win the women's state championship this year. Last year she reached the semi-finals. She has represented the state in the Grasmere cup team matches and has won several open tournaments. James L. Madden of Newton is representing the Boston Skating Club at the fancy skating match at the Arena. Jack Charles Jack of the Harvard swimming team set up a new championship record in winning the N. E. A. U. 200-yd. free-style crown in the annual open meet last week. He clipped the record by 4 4-5 seconds for a new mark of 2m. 31 1-5s. Fred Schipper saved the N. E. A. U. H. from defeat in the closing minutes of the hockey game with Lawrence academy scoring the tying goal. Pomfret academy got the puck by Goale Jackson Skillings of Wilbraham and Newton once to win from the Wilbraham six 1 to 0.

In the Bowdoin-Colby hockey game with Colby won 4 to 2 local youths participated in the Polar Bears two scores. Walter Billings scored one of the pair and George Hildreth got an assist on the other. Dick Jarrell recovered from the gripe last week and ran on the M. I. T. mile relay at the Milrose games in N. Y. last Saturday. He ran his leg in 52 5-8. He may run on both the one-mile and two-mile relays at the B. A. A. games tomorrow night. Stan Johnson will also be a busy youth this week-end. He will compete for the yearling against Dean academy in the dash, hurdles and broad jump and may also run both the dash and hurdles at the B. A. A. games. Bill Porter was third in the 300 in the Huntington-Exeter meet which Exeter won handily. Francis Tuscher won the 600 in 1m. 23 3-5s. and was third in the dash in the N. U. freshman-Dean Academy track meet which the Huskies won easily. Don Bowen and Leroy Benoit are on the Tufts track team. Bowen will run on the two-mile relay in the B. A. A. games.

John S. Holden of Waban is representing Bowdoin at the Dartmouth winter carnival. The Hunnewell Club bowling team closed up most of the gap between it and Maugus in the Newton league by taking all four points from Weston while Maugus was splitting even with Waban in Wednesday nights matches. The Wellesley club team is now but one point ahead of the local club. In other matches University and Middlesex split even and Winsor took four from West Newton. Green's 122, 120, 132-374 was a big factor in Hunnewell's triumph. A basketball match is scheduled for tonight at Upper Falls. The St. Mary's Club at Upper Falls. A. C. of South Natick with dancing to follow the game at St. Mary's Hall. The local five will play two games next week meeting Trinity A. C. of Cambridge on Wednesday and Co. H., 101st Field Artillery on Friday. On Friday the St. Mary's Juniors will play the West End House Jrs. Leo Crowley, former St. John's star, Rusty Malkasian of Newton Trade, Joe Mastropieri of Newton High, and Pete Zarkarian are playing on the St. Mary's five.

NEWTON TRADE SCHOOL BEATS BROOKLINE

Coach John Sullivan's Newton Trade School basketball team proved its class last Friday by winning an overtime game with the Brookline varsity quintet, 19 to 11 in the old Newton drillshed. At half time Newton led by an 8 to 7 margin but at the end of the regulation time the score was knotted at 11-all and an overtime period was staged. Donald Fournier and Pappy Anness led a powerful attack to give the local team its eight point margin in the extra session. These two Newton players led the scoring with 9 points each.

Day Jr. High School

About 80 eager and excited children, accompanied by four teachers, went from the school Saturday evening in three buses to attend the hockey game at the Boston Garden. These fortunate pupils were members of the Student Patrol, the Student Council, and the Sports Club.

Monday afternoon found many would-be magicians in the auditorium, keenly trying to solve the interesting tricks of "Jake" Stafford who succeeded every time in mystifying his audience. Lucky seats were held by Marilyn Fairfax and Aldridge Hunt, both of whom received prizes.

Wednesday's assembly was entirely one of music presented by the seventh and eighth grade classes. Each seventh grade division had learned a song for the occasion as had also the special chorus of the eighth grade. William Welsh of I.C. was soloist for one song which both classes sang together. Mr. Edward N. Griffin, the music director for the city, was the conductor and Miss Hattie Hincley, the music instructor of the school, was the piano.

The new Student Council, chosen for the second half year, held its first meeting on Wednesday in the Cooking Room.

LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

"The Symphonia Trio" of the New England Conservatory, of which Mr. Harold Schwab is director, gave a concert for the Woman's Club of St. Johnsbury, Vermont, on Feb. 7. This trio was given the prize by the National Fraternity for Concert Work at the national convention at Washington, D. C. recently.

Mr. Arthur C. Pillsbury, author and lecturer, spoke on "Miracles of Nature" at the Auburndale Club on February 8. The lecture was illustrated by hand-colored slides.

Rev. Charles Arbuckle of Newton Centre will be the Vesper speaker on Sunday, February 12, at 6:15. A group of students are leaving today for the annual trip to the White Mountains where they will stay at the Bellevue Hotel in Intervale, N. H., where they will enjoy all kinds of winter sports for three days. On Wednesday, Feb. 15, the students and former teachers will be the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Winslow at a tea held in Bragdon Hall. The annual Pop Concert given by the Lasell Orchestra will be held on Friday evening, Feb. 17, in Carter Hall.

SPECIAL MEETING FOR MOTHERS AND TEACHERS

There will be a meeting in the auditorium of the Weeks Junior High School on Tuesday, February 14, at 2:30 p. m. for mothers and women teachers only. The speaker will be Mrs. Philip Wentworth of Wellesley Hills, who will speak on "Social Standards."

All mothers, whether members of the John W. Weeks Parent-Teacher Association or not, are urged to attend this meeting which should be of exceptional interest.

WEEKS JUNIOR H. S.

The seventh grade announces the election of the following officers—President, Virginia Brown; Vice-President, Ruth Randolph; Secretary, Beverly Booth; Treasurer, Donald Ball.

Mrs. Philip Wentworth of Wellesley Hills will speak on "Social Standards" at the afternoon meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association, which will be held in the auditorium on Tuesday, Feb. 14th, at 2:30 p. m. All mothers, whether members of the Association or not, are urged to attend this meeting.

The F. A. Day first basketball team was victorious over the Weeks team by a score of 20-17. A 21-14 score, in favor of the Weeks team, was the result of the game played by the second teams.

The aim of the assembly on Wednesday morning was to commemorate the names of distinguished men born in the month of February. The lives of Dickens, Lincoln, Handel, Washington, and Edison were given in brief by James Dealy, Thomas Dooling, Catherine O'Connor, Richard Lovell, and William Bradley. After the presentation of each speech, some fitting feature was added, as the exhibition of a model of the "St. Louis," a short play from "The Christmas Carol," a sketch entitled "The Pardoning of the Sleeping Sentinel," a musical selection from Handel's works, and the recitation of a poem of the Colonial days. Barbara Levine, as chairman, announced each number by turning the pages of a calendar upon which the names of the men and the day of their birth were printed.

Warren Jr. High

Warren's Future Bachelors Prepare!

Two of the clubs open to the seventh-graders are the "Chef Club" and the "Saves Nine." The "Chef Club," a boys' class in cooking, has always been most popular, and proved no exception this year. The "Saves Nine," operating on the theory that "A stitch in time saves nine" teaches the boys to sew on buttons and darn socks. The "Model" and "Dramatics" club closely followed the "Chef" in the race for popularity.

Assembly

A thrift report was read by Hugh Munro at the assembly this week. Mr. Hatfield, a friend of Calvin Coolidge, told many interesting and amusing incidents about the late ex-president.

Alumnae Versus Warren

On Feb. 1, the Alumnae met the girls' Warren varsity team in the first practice game of the season. Both teams played hard, fast basketball and the onlookers enjoyed an exciting game. The final score showed the Alumnae ahead, 28-16. The regular game between the Warren varsity and Alumnae will be played at a later date.

In the girls' physical education

classes, tap-dancing and relays for the gym meet are being practiced.

SPRING COMPANY INVITES INSPECTION

The C. H. Spring Company of Newton Lower Falls have remodeled their display room and invite those interested in painting and building problems to visit their attractive place. C. H. Spring, sales manager, says, "We are urging home owners in the Newtons to repair and remodel their homes now, as it can be done at a fraction of the cost of normal times."

A Lecture on Christian Science

Christian Science: The Conquest Over Wrong Thinking

John Randall Dunn, C.S.B., of Boston, Massachusetts

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

A Free Public Lecture on Christian Science was delivered by Mr. John Randall Dunn, C. S. B. of Boston, Mass., in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newtonville, on Friday, February 3d, at four o'clock in the afternoon and eight o'clock in the evening. The lecturer was introduced at the afternoon lecture by Mrs. Helen P. Lawrence, Second Reader of the church, who spoke as follows:

Our Church extends a loving welcome to you all.

"A word to the wise is sufficient." I have two words for you this afternoon. They were once spoken by Christ Jesus to his twelve disciples when he was about to break bread with them. He said: "Take, eat."

A Christian Science lecture may be taken and eaten, that is, it may be listened to and lived, or understood and utilized.

And because it is the "bread of life" being broken for us, we may expect it to invigorate and sustain us in our daily thinking and living, as we "take" it and "eat" it.

Mr. Dunn is as you know a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston. His subject this afternoon is "Christian Science: The Conquest Over Wrong Thinking."

It is indeed a joy to introduce to you Mr. John Randall Dunn of Boston. Friends.—Mr. Dunn.

It is reasonable to assume that everyone in this audience is a thinking being; at least, may we say, everyone is capable of thinking. The amount of real thinking indulged in by the average mortal is a question open to debate. One often is reminded these days of that famous character in fiction who "Always voted at (his) party's call And never thought of thinking for (himself) at all."

The difficulty with many of us, therefore, is that we do not think; or if we do indulge in a form of mental activity called thinking, it is all too likely to lie along paths that are vain and purposeless. And yet there never was a moment in the world's history when thinking was more necessary than today—deep, prayerful thinking; thinking that is clear and last, but not least, thinking along spiritual lines. Someone asked a very placid and irresponsible person once if he never sat down and deliberately tried to think and reason along a given line. "Well," said the other, "sometimes I do, but the minute I get to thinking, I just naturally go to sleep!" Does not this in large measure describe a mental state frequently encountered? As Mrs. Eddy puts it in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 95), "The world is asleep in the cradle of infancy, dreaming away the hours."

IGNORANCE OF THOUGHT-PROCESSES

We boast of our conquest of the earth, sea, and air, and yet mortals know little how to control rightly their own thinking. We design, build, and drive marvelous motor cars, yet know not how to have real happiness, peace, or peace while riding therein. We govern mighty machines through the harnessing of steam and the electric current, yet know so little of our own thought-processes that we cannot control a temper or an appetite. We control and direct, possibly, a small army of our fellows in this enterprise or that, and yet fail dismally to overcome a sense of despondency!

Thought causes us to arise in the morning, thought bathes and dresses us. Thought moves the body about, feeds it, and whether we realize it or not digests or rejects the food. Thought is responsible for every act of every waking moment and yet we know little or nothing about it. Now let us pause right here and note a statement which appears on the first page of the Preface of Science and Health: "The mind for thinkers has come. Truth, independent of doctrines and time-honored systems, knocks at the portals of humanity" (p. vii). With this we may also consider the invitation in the book of Isaiah, "Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord." Let us strive to become better acquainted with this wonderful thing called thought; learn how it is to be controlled, healed, and regenerated, in order that we and all mankind may taste the freedom and harmony which is the heritage of every thinking being.

KNOWING VERSUS THINKING

The teachings of Christ Jesus appeal to the thinker. Two of his cardinal precepts are, "Know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" and "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." Here is a statement of law—that freedom and eternal life can be experienced as one knows the truth about God and His reflection. Notice that a stronger word than thinking is used here. The Master did not promise deliverance and freedom to the one who merely thought about the truth, but to the one who knew the truth. Here really is the point of distinction between Mary Baker Eddy and the philosophers and thinkers who preceded and followed her. They who preceded and followed her. They may have glimpsed the spirit of the metaphysical aspects of being; but she perceived, that is, knew, the truth, and demonstrated that she knew it by solving both for herself and others all manner of human problems. She healed sickness, sin, appetite, lack, unhappiness, and human anguish as they have not been healed since the days of the Master and his apostles. To aver that the healing which Mrs. Eddy taught and practiced is just a form of mental suggestion that she learned from a magnetic doctor and therefore that she is not the genuine author of Christian Science, is as vain as would be the assertion that Columbus was not the discoverer of the West Indies, because, perchance, some one once told him that there must be land beyond the horizon!

CHRISTLY KNOWING OR CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

From early childhood Mrs. Eddy, in the atmosphere of a Christian home, had been searching for this truth, this spiritual knowing. She writes (Science and Health, p. 359): "From Puritan parents, the discoverer of Christian Science early received her religious education. In childhood, she often listened with joy to these words, falling from the lips of her saintly mother, 'God is able to raise you up from sickness;' and she pondered the meaning of that Scripture she so often quotes: 'And these signs shall follow them that believe; that they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover.'" So when, in later years, she was able to heal the sick, through Christian knowing, she demonstrated beyond cavil that thinking as Christ Jesus thought, solves all manner of human problems, and reinstates primitive Christianity. When one considers that the words "Christian Science" can mean only Christly or spiritual knowing, one sees that Mrs. Eddy could not have found a more felicitous term for her discovery.

MRS. EDDY, A KNOWER AND DEMONSTRATOR OF TRUTH

Truly was Mrs. Eddy a Christian Scientist, a knower and demonstrator of the Master's teachings. I once asked an acquaintance of Mrs. Eddy's what his impressions were the first time he saw her. He replied: "It seemed to lose sight of a material personality altogether. In fact, instead of thinking of the woman before me at all I found myself saying over and over again, 'I want to be good!' This Christian woman's thought was such a clear, clean windowpane of transparency for spiritual good, that instead of dazzling one with a brilliant human personality and intellect, she awakened a yearning to partake of the Christliness she reflected. Loyalty to Mrs. Eddy's teachings, therefore, means loyalty and obedience to the pure metaphysics of Christ Jesus."

PURILE AND BASELESS STATEMENTS

It is surprising that many purile and baseless statements advanced against Christian Science a generation ago still persist in this era of enlightenment. Hostile critics still charge that Christian Scientists read another "Bible" by Mrs. Eddy; these critics charge flippantly that Christian Science teaches that there is no evil in the world; that Christian Scientists do not accept Christ Jesus as their Saviour; that they spurn all thought of sanitation, or surgery, etc., etc.

To answer the foregoing categorically, let it be repeated that the only Bible read by Christian Scientists is the standard so-called "King James Version" of the Scriptures accepted by all Protestant denominations, or other translations thereof; that Christian Scientists certainly recognize the fact that, due to ignorance of God and His good creation, there is a widespread argument of evil, hate, sickness, and discord in the world which must be grappled with and overcome; that possibly, more than millions of their Christian brothers, they accept unreservedly the great Founder of Christianity as their Saviour, Way-shower, and Exemplar; and that a Christian Scientist would be among the very first citizens to insist on righteous sanitation and on cleanliness both of body and mind.

As for surgery, Mrs. Eddy has this to say in the Christian Science textbook (Science and Health, p. 401): "Until the advancing age admits the efficacy and supremacy of Mind, it is better for Christian Scientists to leave surgery and the adjustment of broken bones and dislocations to the fingers of a surgeon, while the mental healer confines himself chiefly to mental reconstruction and to the prevention of inflammation."

FEEDING MENTAL HUNGER

Some people at first seem reluctant to study the Christian Science textbook and the reason is not difficult to find: to gain the message of this book one must think! But after one has tasted the new-found joy of seeking spiritual unfoldment, he will feel spiritual and mental hunger if a day passes without some study of the Bible and Mrs. Eddy's works. A most beautiful picture can be seen almost any day in one of the Christian Science Reading Rooms in our large cities. During the noon hour, especially, one may see there many busy men and women improving precious moments in the taking of spiritual refreshment. Would they come there day after day if they were not being fed and strengthened and comforted? You, who are perplexed and fearful, who wonder, possibly, how much longer the business can continue, or you can endure financially, or can carry on physically, try seeking out one of these spiritual oases—a Christian Science Reading Room—if only for a few moments. Read some life-giving passage of Scripture, then turn to an inspiring paragraph in the textbook.

Then perhaps close the book and close your eyes and "in the quiet sanctuary of earnest longings" (Science and Health, p. 15), ponder the truths you have read. That you will find light and strengthening is a foregone conclusion. If you have not tasted the joy of the Sunday services in a Christian Science church or the inspiration of an interesting Wednesday evening meeting, there is much before you. The wise man or woman will not overlook these priceless opportunities for the gaining of good and for the consequent ability to solve present-day problems.

THE MIND WHICH WAS IN CHRIST JESUS

If one could put in one single phrase mankind's greatest need at the moment, such phrase might well statement. It tells us that this material sense of things that we see with our eyes is not the real man, not God's man, and that we must gain a new conception of man; in other words, we must first learn that the real man is the image, or expression, of Mind, if we would heal the sick and solve earth's problems on a spiritual basis.

In the first chapter of Genesis we read, "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him." Let us read this verse, substituting for the world God the synonyms Mind and Spirit: So Mind, Spirit, created man in His own image, in the image of Mind, Spirit, created He him. Now to be the image of Mind, or Spirit, the real man must be mental or spiritual; in other words, this prayer deals with one's own thinking. Praying that God's reign be established in consciousness necessarily involves the ruling from thought of self-will, self-love, self-pleasure; in other words, one's first task is to grapple with the many subtle forms of Lucifer, or the carnal mind, and to know their powerlessness, because they proceed not from the one and only Mind. Then the student is ready to reach out in a prayer for the blessing of the whole human family.

DEALING WITH THE MENTAL ADVERSARY

Now let us suppose that one who is a student of Christian Science has just awakened in the morning and his first conscious thought possibly finds him instinctively turning be: to have that "mind . . . which was also in Christ Jesus." If we knew what Jesus knew we should be able to solve every human problem. We should be able to heal sickness, manifest abundance, and exercise dominion over every untoward circumstance. Ah, says the materialist, but that's the difficulty! To know what Jesus knew! Was not his understanding supernatural, divine, beyond the reach of mortals today? What says the Master to this? "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me [in other words, he who understands the Principle and law I teach], the works that I do shall he do also."

Again, he declared that he did not the mighty works by himself,—to use his words it was "the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works;" and the Apostle Paul evidently believed that it was possible for the same Father, the same power, to dwell with all mankind when he said, "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus."

GOD AS MIND, SPIRIT

Answering the question, "What is God?" Mrs. Eddy tells us in the textbook (p. 465) that "God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love." It will be noted here that the first definitions are Mind and Spirit; Mind, the all-knowing intelligence, and Spirit, omnipresent, omnipotent, good. Would any thinking person in the world assert that there is no God if God were understood to be the all-knowing intelligence and ever present good and Love? Whenever one says "I know," or "I want to be good or do some good," or "I love," he admits that God is, for he is not at that moment expressing intelligence and good and Love? When a Russian communist tells you that he does not believe in God and that he hates God you may know that he is referring only to a false conception of God, for no thinking being can disbelieve in the existence of intelligence and good, of Truth and Love and Principle. Can one look at the wonder of the simplest bud or blossom and fail to see therein a hint of some mighty law of Life or Mind? To quote a familiar and much loved verse:

"A garden is a loveliness thing, God wot!"

Rose plot,
Fringed pool,
Ferned grove,

The very school of peace; and yet the fool contends that God is not—

Not God! In Gardens! when the eve is cool?

Nay, but I have a sign:

"Tis very sure God walks in mine."

In her "Miscellaneous Writings" (p. 60) Mrs. Eddy has said, "Every material belief hints the existence of spiritual reality." And again (p. 87), "In our immature sense of spiritual things, let us say of the beauties of the sensuous universe: I love your promise; and shall know, some time, the spiritual reality and substance of form, light, and color, of what I now through you discern dimly; and knowing this, I shall be satisfied."

HOW CAN MIND HEAL THE SICK?

Now since there is a mighty Principle, or cause, underlying matter and the universe and this great cause is divine Mind, or Spirit, in what way can this power be invoked for the healing of disease or the solving of problems? By learning of the real man's eternal connection with this Mind. The Apostle Paul very definitely indicates that there seems to be to our sense of things two men—one the carnal, fleshly man, or the "old man," which is to be put off, and the other characterized as the "new man," or the real, spiritual man of God's creating, which is to be put on. Clearly does Paul draw the distinction between the two: "To be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace." Here Christian Science makes to the human family a very revolutionary and startling he must reflect or express the all-knowing intelligence, omniscient good, that Spirit or consciousness which is omnipotence, omnipresence, and omniscience.

CARNAL MIND BEFOGGED

Here someone may say. If it is true that God's creation is spiritual, how is it that this spiritual sense is so intangible while materiality seems so real and substantial? Simply because the carnal mind is befogged in its own erroneous, limited conception. The very first appearance of a material sense of things came in a mist. It will be recalled that there is no record of a material creation in the first chapter of Genesis. There man and creation proceed from Mind, Spirit, and are pronounced very good. But in the second chapter of Genesis, before Adam and Eve, depicting a material creation, appear, we read this significant statement: "But there went up a mist from the earth." A mist arose; and with the coming of a mist came the material, sick, sinning, dying sense of man and creation. And to this day, whenever and wherever the carnal mind asserts itself one sees through a mist of ignorance, or fear, or self-will, and naturally cannot organize creation as God sees it.

LUCIFER'S "I WILL!"

The carnal mind, or the adversary, or Satan, is typified in Isaiah as Lucifer, a so-called intelligence which dares to set itself up against Mind, God. Says the Scriptures: "How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! How art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations! For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds: I will be like the most High." A well-known commentator of the Bible, Dr. Scofield, states, in a memorable footnote, "When Lucifer said 'I will,' sin began."

What says the master Christian about Lucifer or Satan? "When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own; for he is a liar, and the father of it." Thus Christian Science boldly disputes the "I wills" of the carnal mind, such as "I will be sick" or "I will be sensual" or "I will show you that matter is as real and powerful as Spirit!" It denounces her arguments and the objectifications of the carnal mind as frauds, lies, outrageously perpetrated on humanity because of the mist of ignorance; and putting in the place thereof the glorious, serene "I AM THAT I AM" of Mind, and a man as the reflection of this "I AM," sickness disappears, sin lessens, and the carnal, fleshly sense of being is put off. Mind does not need to say "I will!" Mind saith "I AM!"

KNOWING THE ONENESS OF MIND

There is no greater need at the moment than that mortals should strive to demonstrate that in truth there are not minds many but one alone; not a thousand million Lucifers selfishly and sensually willing this or that, but the one glorious, harmonious, all-knowing intelligence, governing men and nations, "In the rhythmic round of unfolding bliss" (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 83), to use Mrs. Eddy's words. But if one is to contribute measurably in the great demonstration of Mind's control over all, one must certainly begin with Mind's government of his own thinking. Knowing how true is the adage, as you think so you are, Mrs. Eddy has given every Christian Scientist, in the Manual of The Mother Church (p. 41), this beautiful "Daily Prayer" of direction and protection: "Thy kingdom come; let the reign of divine Truth, Life, and Love be established in me, and rule out of me all sin; and may Thy Word enrich the affections of all mankind, and govern them!" As will be seen, the first step in to the "Daily Prayer;" but no sooner is this finished than a troop of fears appears at the door of his mental home, suggestions of fear of lack, fear of disease, fear of failure, etc., etc. How are these to be dealt with? They clamor for admission, for recognition. The Christian Scientist is taught to deal with this mental adversary speedily. Like the sentry who halts all who draw near him and asks for a password, so the Christian Science soldier challenges these intruding suggestions of fear and demands their credentials. Did they originate in God, the Mind which is Love and good? Never! Then they are emissaries of the carnal mind, and Jesus said they were lies. Shall a lie be feared? Has it power? Only that which ignorance might give it. Then may the Christian Science soldier bid it be gone. Nay, he must thank God that it is not happening in His harmonious kingdom. It must be seen that the very corner stone of the teaching of the Christian Science is the allness of God, the Mind which is good, and the consequent powerlessness or unreality of its opposite, the carnal mind, designated by Jesus as "a liar, and the father" of all lies.

HANDLING A PROBLEM OF LACK

Now while some of the more aggressive fear-suggestions may be silenced there is one persistent argument that seems to refuse to be downed. It whispers: But you have not money enough for your needs! You must have money! Here Lucifer has resorted to the use of one of his most subtle and most fear-provoking weapons, and truly does one need to have well buckled on his armor of spiritual understanding, if he would prove this powerless.

From the beginning of time, the human mind has worshipped and feared the mammon of this world—money. Paul designates the love of money as "the root of all evil;" and the Master warned that one could not serve God and mammon at the same time. Now comes the beloved Leader of the Christian Science movement with a statement fraught with tremendous good for mankind. In one brief paragraph, like the shepherd David with his sling, he deals the mammon-Goliath a death blow. Instead of agreeing with the argument, centuries old, that man's primal and greatest need is for money, she shows that his real need, first and last, is for right, saving ideas. In "Miscellaneous Writings" in an article entitled "Angels" (p. 307), she writes: "God gives you His spiritual ideas, and in turn, they give you daily supplies. Never ask for tomorrow; it is enough that divine Love is an ever-present help; and if you wait, never doubting, you will have all you need every moment." And how practically does this work out in human experience? Here let us say, is an individual crying out that he needs money. Very possibly he does. But what is his primal need? It may be that his rightful activity and supply are being kept from sight and experience because he is not absolutely honest—honest with himself and others. It is surprising what "little foxes" of dishonest practice, lack of genuineness, so-called "white lies," and the like can be uncovered in consciousness when the searchlight of Truth is turned inward. Therefore this man may speedily awake to the fact that he needs the idea of honesty, if he would expect bounty from the ever giving Principle; and as he asks God to give him right ideas, and as he in turn begins to reflect and utilize these ideas of honesty and Principle, the most amazing answers may be found for his human problems.

Again, while praying for right, spiritual ideas instead of for money, many have found themselves entertaining what truly proved to be angels; in other words, intelligent thoughts, right intuitions—a right move to make or a wise thing to do. How wealthy can we all feel right now, knowing that there is ever available a great bank account of right, saving ideas! The man or woman daily going to this bank of divine Love is not poor, nor can he or she be out of a job. God is the infinite Giver and Sustainer, and man's business is reflection; so a daily prayer for spiritual ideas, for more love and honesty, for quick obedience and attentiveness to Truth, will surely be externalized in what is called a job, proper activity, and necessary supply. What could more sweetly and truly express man's real relation to the divine than this stanza from the Christian Science Hymnal (No. 291):

"What Thou shalt today provide
Let me as a child receive,
What tomorrow may betide
Calmly to Thy wisdom leave:
'Tis enough that Thou wilt care,
Why should I the burden bear?
'As a little child relies
On a care beyond its own,
Being neither strong nor wise,
Will not take a step alone,
Let me thus with Thee abide,
As my Father, Friend, and Guide."

ABSOLUTE HONESTY ESSENTIAL

In the textbook Mrs. Eddy strongly indicates that one who is not striving to be honest will not make substantial progress in the understanding and demonstration of Christian Science. And this involves first of all an honest facing of his own errors, and the overcoming thereof. One really does not need to be concerned, therefore, about the student of Christian Science who seems to be a hypocrite; for as surely as light banishes darkness, the truth which he declares will uncover in his consciousness any lurking dishonesty or impurity or wrong thinking, and he will find that these errors must be met and mastered before he can be well, happy, successful, or safe. The business man, striving to work out his problems in Science, must first of all apply this acid test to a business venture: Is it honest? Is it clean? Is it meeting one of the world's legitimate needs? Will this transaction bless or help all connected therewith? A man once sought out a Christian Science practitioner and asked him if Christian Science could help him with a business problem. The practitioner assured him that Science had proved of inestimable value to tens of thousands of people in the healing of sick businesses. Noting a rather skeptical expression on the other's face the Scientist thought it might be well to inquire the nature of his enterprise. The man replied that he sold saloon fixtures! The practitioner, a bit nonplused for the moment, said, "Do you know what Christian Science will do for you? It will either transform that business or will lead you out of it and into an activity where you may meet one of your brother man's legitimate needs—to an activity which will bless rather than harm." The Christian Scientist who to the best of his ability is serving divine Principle knows that he is about his Father's business, and that if he keeps in close touch with the great Head of the Firm, he will receive an abundance of right ideas and courage wherewith to carry on.

A BUSINESS MAN 1700 B. C.

An evidence of divine wisdom being vouchsafed a spiritually-minded business man of his time is to be found in the experience of Joseph, as related in the book of Genesis. Joseph, who lived 1700 B. C., as will be remembered, apparently found a definite business early in his experience. It was the business of expressing good, of blessing and being blessed of turning every seeming defeat into an opportunity to prove the nearness and availability of Love and the sure triumph of divine Principle. He had enough seemingly disastrous experiences to dishearten and dismay the sturdiest of men. After shameful treatment at the hands of envious brothers he was sold into slavery in Egypt. Did he bemoan his fate and constantly seek a way of escape? Apparently not. His job was to be the very best slave in Egypt. And he succeeded to such a remarkable degree that shortly he was virtually made the chief executive for his master. A subtle temptation, knocking at his door and grating unabated on the rock of purity and Principle; and again the carnal mind, envious and resentful, seemed to triumph, for Joseph was cast into prison.

KEY TO JOSEPH'S BUSINESS SUCCESS

Now the extraordinary thing to be noted throughout the career of this extraordinary business man is the complete absence of resentment in his thinking. Joseph must have learned early that to be successful one needs to banish speedily the poisonous, demoralizing arguments of resentment, revenge, self-pity, and the like. Apparently not a trace of these was allowed to linger in his consciousness when he found himself unjustly incarcerated. What did he do? True to his business ethics he proceeded to be the very best prisoner in the prison, and with his rare spiritual intuition, helped all with whom he came in contact. It would be impossible for such a thought to remain long in prison; in fact, the expression of Love and good cannot fail to liberate. The king of Egypt heard of Joseph's great wisdom and intuitive sense and sent for him to help solve the riddle of a vexing dream. Having learned long since that he was in partnership with divine Mind, and that God had given him wisdom and strength, Joseph did not allow Pharaoh's flattering salutation to pass unchallenged. "It is not in me," he said. "God shall give Pharaoh an answer of peace." And as a result of his remarkable interpretation of the king's dream Joseph found himself installed as the first food administrator in recorded history and as one of the greatest business figures of all time.

JOSEPH'S GREATEST BUSINESS TRIUMPH

But his greatest triumph and achievement were yet to come. As the result of a famine in their own land, Joseph's brethren came to Egypt to buy corn. They had not heard of the fame of their brother and did not even know him when he arranged an interview with them. Here was the opportunity of a lifetime to even old scores; here was the chance for a righteous revenge, here the moment for a personal triumph and the rightful humiliation of his evil brothers. But what did this successful business man, this man everlastingly busy reflecting good and love and Principle, do? In all literature is there anything more beautiful than this? We read: "And Joseph said unto his brethren, Come near to me, I pray you. And they came near. And he said, I am Joseph your brother, whom ye sold into Egypt. Now therefore be not grieved, nor angry with yourselves, that ye sold me hither: for God did send me before you to preserve life." Here, let it be remarked, is the record of one of the greatest business successes of all time—the business of subduing the carnal mind through a reflection of Love and Principle. It humiliated and punished Joseph's erring brothers far more effectively than an exhibition of Lucifer's self-will and self-glorification ever could have done, and ended in the best business of all—the brothers' healing and Joseph's further entrenchment in all-conquering Principle. "He was never after an eminently prosperous materially goes without saying."

NEED OF BUSINESS WORLD TODAY

What our business world needs at this seemingly troublous moment is more right thinkers, more spiritually-minded thinkers of Joseph's school, who by precept and example will lead distracted mortals to some measure of sanity and business according to Principle. Fear, hate, selfishness, and the love of the material have led men and nations into the present-day wilderness. One right thinking Joseph saved Egypt centuries ago. What speedy redemption should therefore be manifested in our time when an army of Josephs, made possible by Christian Science, shall systematically give time and attention daily to the knowing of the truth which will heal and redeem mankind! Every day the Christian Scientist breathes forth that beautiful petition of the "Daily Prayer": "And may Thy Word enrich the affections of all mankind, and govern them!" he truly is blessing humanity and nullifying some of its fear and hate.

HATE NEVER SOLVED A PROBLEM

Hate never solved a single problem in the whole history of the world. Therefore, standing upon dangerous quicksands is that man or party or governing body or nation whose actuating motive is hate or selfishness. Let all those striving for spiritual-mindedness rally to the great task of saving the human consciousness from Lucifer—from the self-will, selfishness, and hate which have hidden the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. Let every righteous movement in the world feel the protection and strengthening of our right thinking. Disarmament, universal arbitration, the righteous solution of international debts, the breaking down of intense selfish nationalism—all these forward steps should have the power and mental support of every Christian Scientist.

THE POISON OF HATE

The mischief wrought by even a grain of the poison of hate working in human consciousness, possibly could not be more forcibly set forth than in the following incident. During the late war, a Christian Science worker was not only permitted but was invited by the doctors and nurses to visit a man in the Naval Hospital in London, a man whose arm had been crushed in an accident at sea, and who was so bitter and morose that he had not spoken to anyone for a month or more. Drain tubes were in the arm, and the doctors were of the opinion that amputation was inevitable. Through her Christian love and rare humanity the Scientist soon won his confidence, and little by little he opened his heart and told her all about himself, how the accident had happened, and how he hated the man whose fault it was. One day the Scientist said to him: "I have something to say to you which you may not like, but it is true nevertheless; and I want you to think about it. You are not really suffering because of the accident but because of your own attitude of hate." Then she told him she wanted him to do something for her, and asked him if he would do it. He said he would do anything for her; so she said, "I will not ask more of you than you can honestly do, and will begin where you can truthfully make a start." She then asked him, whenever he thought of the man whose carelessness had caused the injury to say, "Poor fellow, I know he did not mean to do it." So the boy was faithful to his promise. The next visit he told her he had done as she had asked; so she said, "Now we will go a step farther, and say, 'God loves that man as He loves me.' This he did. Next he was able to say, 'I love him because God loves him.' When divine Love truly permeated his thinking and he was able to declare that he loved the man, the doctors found they were able to remove the drain tubes, and the crushed arm quickly healed. He was soon discharged from the hospital! well."

DISEASE INDUCED BY WRONG THINKING

Here someone may ask, Does Christian Science maintain that hate or resentment or a bad disposition is responsible for all illness? By no means. Mrs. Eddy writes (Science and Health, p. 411): "The procuring cause and foundation of all sickness is fear, ignorance, and error." (Continued on Page 8)

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

It's just as well to follow advice after you have made sure it's the right kind.

Morning Exercise

For a time I used to wonder what was the morning noise that sounded like somebody pounding on the front door. It came about the time I was waking up. It does now, for that matter, but I'm not interested. Not being a late sleeper I ferreted out the cause. To go back a trifle, I want to explain that I have delivered at my house each morning not one, not two but three morning newspapers. Three different ones.

If you haven't guessed already let me say that the delivery boys have a way of rolling the paper so that it makes a kind of club-shaped thing which they hurl from the sidewalk against the front door. This doesn't happen Sundays—the editions are too large, I suppose.

I should imagine that paying for delivery charges entitled one to the papers placed carefully on the steps. These boys think differently, especially if the front steps are 20 feet or more from the sidewalk. I don't mind the boys saving themselves trouble, but the papers are usually torn where they have been twisted to make a tight fold.

When the weather gets warmer I think I shall rise early, before the boys come along, and wait for him in my pajamas. (Why not, look at those things the girls wear in public). It will be good before-breakfast exercise for me to try and catch the paper and probably help the boy in his baseball training.

Mystery of Colors

You may have noticed drivers of automobiles who appeared to ignore the traffic lights set against them. That's too common to be wondered at. But have you ever seen a driver who has been held up by a red light and who, when the light goes green, doesn't stir? That's something different. O, yes, there are cases of this kind and they have puzzled me but not any longer.

A friend of mine who figures as a traffic expert and who, I think, earns his figures let me in on the secret. Said he, "The man who drives by may not be violating the law as far as his intentions are concerned. He may be just the same as the man who doesn't go ahead when the lights are green—both are in error."

And then my informant told me that the number of color-blind drivers is amazing. He says that people who are so afflicted depend on other drivers of perfect vision. They have to. They just can't tell red from green. The only thing left for them to do is be foxey and follow the pack, as the hunters say.

Just for the fun of it this friend and I stood around a main crossing waiting for somebody to stop and get confused by the signals. He wanted to prove his statements and I was willing because it was a pleasant day. After a while, when we were about to give up, one man with a little old car halted and waited while we looked on. But it was the engine's fault, not his. Just the same my traffic friend and I are going to make another effort to find a color-blind driver.

The One Who Pays

When I went to make out my income tax blank I thought I ought try and get something for my money. It struck me if I didn't do it then I never would. So I began asking questions, although I didn't expect, and didn't get, for that matter, anything but information.

The official with whom I dealt said he had made out hundreds of blanks this year. "You'd be surprised," said he, "at the number of people who aren't going to pay any tax for 1933. They've had losses which have offset everything in the way of income and thus they escape taxation."

He must have seen the sad expression on my face, for he continued, "It's the white collar clerk and little fellow who is going to pay. The man who has had a job, I mean, and who hasn't dabbled in securities. It's been all gain with him, not much, but whatever the amount it's a tax."

"And the tax is higher?" I observed.

"O, yes and for single men on salary—"

"Don't tell me any more," I begged and there our conversation ended.

Hard Times Humor

It is something that few possess—patience, I mean. A lot of folks squirm, shuffle their feet, twist in their chairs, glance at the clock and otherwise display signs of annoyance when required to wait for the arrival of a lawyer or a doctor.

This sort of impatience seems to sharpen the wits of a few sufferers. It was just last week that I heard of a Newton resident who went to the law office of another Newtonian. The scene was Boston, however.

The lawyer was not in. He had left a message, the stenographer said, to the effect that if his client should show up he was to wait to drop in again within an hour. The client waited, went out, came back, went out again and came back. Repeatedly he was informed that the attorney had not yet returned. This continued for some time.

"Apparently he's busy this afternoon," the stenographer observed, coldly.

"This the man retorted, 'If you'll give me the name of his favorite movie theatre perhaps I can find him.'"

Girl Scouts

The delegates and substitutes who represented the City of Newton at the Girls' Conference had a meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Caroline L. Freeman, Local Director, at 258 Mt. Vernon st., West Newton. Reports of the conference were given and later the girls enjoyed a jolly social hour at which refreshments were served.

The State Review in the form of a "Polar Carnival" will be held in the Boston Arena, Saturday, March 11, at 2 P. M. Newton Girl Scouts will have a prominent part in the program. Have you your ticket?

The Girl Scout Senior Patrol Leaders are putting on an international display at the Boy Scout Exposition which takes place at the West Newton Armory on Feb. 24 and 25. Each village has dressed two dolls for the display, one in National costume and one in Girl Scout uniform of the country. There will be a background typical of each country with national products and articles. The girls are putting a great deal of time and thought into it and we think it will be quite successful.

Troop 20 of Newton is holding its annual banquet Feb. 11, at 6 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. in Newton. The girls taking the Cook Merit Badge will prepare the dinner. Every girl in the troop is working to make it a success.

Troop 4 of Waban is also holding a banquet. It will be at the Union Church, Feb. 11, and is given for parents of the girls. After the dinner, the girls will entertain their parents with the play "Aladdin or the Lamp of Green."

BIENNIAL LEGISLATIVE SESSIONS

At the State House this week hearings were held on several bills pertaining to a suggested change from annual sessions to biennial sessions of the Legislature. Whether or not such a change is desirable, practical or even economical is an open question. Some of the arguments in favor of a change to a session every second year are that it would save a considerable sum in salaries, printing of bills, and half of the overhead expense of maintenance. It is also argued that the legislature would speed up its work in order to take care of all matters before it at the one session and that it would prevent second attempts to put through measures which have been rejected or attempts to remove laws which have been enacted. Additional reasons given for favoring the biennial plan are that forty-three of the forty-eight states have it and apparently function properly.

Defenders of the present annual session plan also have arguments which have considerable merit. Massachusetts traditions give to every citizen the right to be heard at a public hearing. This right is sacred and should not be restricted. It is claimed that this right is well worth the approximate twenty-five per cent expense that would be saved. Opponents of the biennial plan argue that if such a system is adopted it will result in either extra sessions in the off year or the establishment of various boards with the power to take care of any matters which require attention during the year the legislature does not convene. The creation of such boards, which some other states have created, would go a long way in offsetting the expenses saved. An eighteen months period between sessions might well mean a severe handicap to the Commonwealth and it would tend to create considerable discourse. No one can foretell what problems would arise through the introduction of biennial sessions and it would be unwise to "leap without looking."

The special recess commission on public expenditures has offered a bill to create a recess commission to investigate the matter and make a further report. Whether or not such a commission will be recommended is doubtful. In his inaugural address Gov. Ely termed the biennial session as impractical at this time. Investigating commissions, unless absolutely necessary, are to be avoided—sometimes they turn out to be needless expense—other times they accomplish valuable results. As far as the biennial session is concerned it is doubtful if the present legislature will favor the expense of a commission this year and in all probability, as previously, measures for biennial sessions will be rejected.

LOOKING AHEAD TO 1934

Metropolitan newspapers this week intimated that Lieutenant-Governor Bacon and Speaker of the House Leverett Saltonstall would be the two candidates to head the State ticket in the fall campaign of 1934 for the offices of Governor and Lieutenant Governor. While such a presumption is logical and may readily become a certainty it is significant that neither of the gentlemen has made any authorized statement of their political ambitions. Nor is it probable that they will do so for some months to come. Meanwhile many of the leading Republicans of the State will go ahead seeking unified support in order that the G. O. P. may capture the state offices which have been filled by Democratic partisans the past few years.

IF SOLICITED IN BOSTON

The Volunteers of America have issued the following advice to those who may be solicited by beggars on the streets in Boston:

Give him no money! He would probably make injudicious use of it and this is not time to waste one's resources. The Volunteers of America in their Hospice at 25 Brattle st., Boston, have a book printed in five-cent coupons. These coupons can be used nowhere except at the penny-cafeteria of the Hospice. One dollar buys a book of twenty coupons and one coupon will buy a comfortable, hot meal.

Of course that five-cents does not pay the cost of the food served and fortunately not all unemployed are actually compelled to beg. The Hospice is selling food to the unemployed (5000 a day) at a fraction of its cost, so that the little money they have goes a long way. Yet they have bought their food and their self-respect is preserved. It is better than its alternative—the bread line.

AUTOS COLLIDE ON SLIPPERY STREETS

Sunday afternoon cars driven by Charles Tiews of Milton and Edison Frizzell of Waltham collided on Hammond st., Chestnut Hill. Mrs. Tiews was injured.

Cars driven by Walter Maguire of Brighton and Paul Monard of Boston collided Saturday night on Beacon st. near Boston College. Maguire's wife, who was riding with him, received injuries.

Saturday night cars driven by Lewis Aaron, Jr., of Belmont and Fred DeAngelis of Adams st., Newton, collided at Washington st. and Centre ave., Newton. Three passengers in the cars reported that they had received injuries.

FIRE AT AUBURNDALE

School Services

Before we begin to describe detailed services which the schools of Newton are rendering it would seem desirable to present briefly the role of the public school as we know it today and the reasons behind the expanding scope of school activity. Many important school services are under fire in these days as "fads and frills." What is a fad and what is a frill? Our answer must go deeper than personal opinion or prejudice.

Research Committee Reports on Education

The report of the President's Research Committee on Social Trends is worth quoting in this connection. Here we have the combined best judgment of highly representative and competent specialists reporting to the President of the United States.

"Since 1875 the educational system of this country has undergone a transformation. Better equipped elementary schools have been erected; free secondary schools have been established in large numbers; public normal schools for the training of teachers have been organized by the states; and the opportunities for college education have been enlarged and made accessible to young people from all classes of society. Furthermore schools have assumed responsibility for many phases of child care which formerly were thought of as belonging wholly to the home. Schools are doing much to promote the intelligent care of health. They are training the young in the proper use of leisure. They are adopting special devices to equip everyone whom they can reach for success in vocations and participation in community activities.

These changes in the popular view of the scope of education and in the institutional agencies devoted to education parallel changes in the general social order. The elementary education provided in the public schools of 1875 was fairly adequate for a nation which was engaged chiefly in pioneering and in agriculture. With the rapid development of a machine civilization, the increase in national wealth, the concentration of population in urban centers, the appearance of many new occupations, especially those open to women, and with the changes in domestic economy which have resulted from all these developments, an educational system limited in its instruction to rudimentary subjects—the three R's—has come to be recognized as wholly inadequate."

General Tendencies

"The curricula of educational institutions of all types are being expanded and are being increasingly adapted to the diverse needs of all classes of learners. More attention is being given than ever before to the training of teachers. Methods of teaching are being cultivated which are far in advance of the sterile, formal methods common in earlier times. The material equipment of schools and colleges is being steadily improved. Administration is more and more being committed to experts. Above all, there is a very general effort to arrive by scientific methods at clear, objective accounts of the results of educational operations. Tests and measures and analytical studies are producing a science of education which promises to be one of the major contributions of America to the social sciences."

We see, therefore, that a democracy with a highly complex mechanical civilization and with an increasing diversity of shifting occupations must ask much of its schools. How the schools of Newton are meeting this challenge thru the services they render will be the theme of School Chats for several weeks to come.

Under The Gilded Dome

The annual attempt to make a uniform rate throughout the state on compulsory automobile insurance took place in the House of Representatives at the Tuesday afternoon session. The Committee on Insurance had reported leave to withdraw several bills of this nature and after considerable debate and a roll call the committee's action was sustained. Representatives from cities which now pay a higher rate than the estimated uniform rate would be moved to substitute a uniform rate bill for the committee report and pushed their efforts to a roll call. The motion for substitution was defeated by a 76 to 149 vote. Representatives Baker, Brimblecom and Luitwieler of Newton voted against substitution.

A previous roll call on a pension bill reversed the report of the Committee on Pensions giving the petition leave to withdraw and substituted the bill for the committee report. The petition would give the town of Marblehead the opportunity to place a referendum on the ballot at its next town meeting on the question of awarding a pension to a widow of a police officer who died from injuries received in the line of duty fifteen months after the date of injury and not within twelve months as the law requires. The bill has been passed to be engrossed and will be on the Senate calendar on Monday. If it is passed by the higher branch and signed by the Governor it is probable that numerous other pension bills will require considerable time upon the part of the House. In his inaugural address, Governor Ely stated that he would not look with great favor upon such bills. On the roll call the three Newton representatives voted against substitution of the bill for the committee's report. The vote was 128 to 95 in favor of the bill.

On Monday Representative Lewis J. Sullivan of Boston sought and obtained a roll call on a motion to substitute his bill prohibiting the distribution of stickers inside any building in which a polling place is located in place of the report of the Committee on Elections giving it leave to withdraw. Representative Sullivan was successful in his efforts and the committee's decision was reversed and the bill substituted by a vote of 111 to 101.

The Senate on Tuesday went to a roll call vote on the bill seeking to apportion the expenses of Suffolk County equitably among the four cities and towns which make up the county, namely, Boston, Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop. The Committee on Counties reported reference of the bill to the next annual session and a motion to substitute the bill for the committee's report was lost on a roll call vote of 14 to 23. Senator Hollis voted to sustain the committee's report.

On Wednesday the Senate, by roll call, 25 to 14, refused to reconsider its vote on Tuesday whereby it rejected the order of Senator Madden of Boston that the directors of the Boston El be requested to suspend for two years the payment of dividends on stock. Senator Hollis spoke in opposition to reconsideration stating that the passage of the bill would mean the breaking of a contract and declared that discontinuance of dividends cannot be accomplished in that manner.

Among many measures which have been given leave to withdraw by various committees and which reports have been accepted by the House this week was a petition of Rep. Luitwieler's relative to the administration of certain forms of poor relief to cities and towns which was given a hearing last week by the Committee on Public Welfare.

Several hearings of import have been held this week with the seeking of an investigation of the administration of Mayor Curley attracting the largest crowd to seek admission to the Gardner Auditorium at a public hearing. The hearing which has occupied the time of the Committee on Rules several afternoons has produced considerable heated discussion on the part of those in favor of such an investigation. It is probable that those who wish to be heard in opposition to the investigation will be reached early next week.

At the hearing on Wednesday on the recommendation of the Joint Re-cess Committee which investigated the subject of reduction in public expenditures which would abolish the State Division of Ornithology, three hundred men and women appeared in opposition. No one spoke in favor of the abolition of the division. Dr. John B. May, director of the division, and Dr. Arthur W. Gilbert, Commissioner of Agriculture, presented statistics showing that the State has received a profit of $34,000 from the sale of State bird books. They contended that the expenses of the division last year were only $3700.

Three bills for memorial tributes to the late ex-President Calvin Coolidge were given a hearing by the Committee on State Administration on Wednesday. One bill provides for a memorial meeting, another for the Art Commission to consider and report on a fitting memorial and the third provided for the naming of a highway, preferably in the Swift River valley, as a memorial to Mr. Coolidge.

Watertown residents spoke at the hearing before the Metropolitan Affairs committee on Wednesday on a petition calling for the appropriation of $20,000 for construction of a bathhouse on the northerly side of the river above the Watertown dam. Proponents of the measure stated that it would benefit children from Watertown, Newton and Belmont and could be built by the Metropolitan Commission from its park fund.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The Newton Tourist Agency, with which we are associated, receives advertising literature from hotels. The other day a New York hotel sent a circular and its rates included "Rooms with semi-private bath, $2 per day." Someone asked us if this means that the number of spectators is limited?

In last week's GRAPHIC was a headline "Officer Dowling Stops Wild Horse." This was incorrect. The horse the policeman stopped was not a wild horse. It was a tame horse which had become frightened and was galloping wildly along Walnut st. We haven't seen any mustangs in Newton for many years.

Much of the merchandise now on sale in stores at bargain prices, including articles of clothing and furniture, being made by workers at starvation wages. Unless determined action is taken to prevent the exploitation of wage earners by unprincipled employers, prosperity will be around so many corners, that even our efficiency experts and optimists can't locate it in the near, or even distant future. The public can assist themselves by co-operating in the campaign to boycott sweatshop products.

According to overseas despatches France is getting worried over the decision to power in Germany of Hitler, the growing friendliness of Germany and Italy, and indications of overtures between Germany and Japan. Well, France needn't worry. She has been so decent with this country since it saved her in 1918, that she can depend on the U. S. A. to come to her rescue in the future, should the need arise.

Alderman Sproat echoed the sentiments of thousands of Newtonians when at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night he criticized the failure of the city to sand the slippery streets and sidewalks the last two week-ends. When economy is stretched to such an extreme, it is false economy. Residents of the City of Newton have always had protection from such dangerous travel conditions as prevailed on January 27 and 28 and on February 4 and 5. They are still entitled to it.

The Boston police sent out no teletype information about the murder of the racketeer Solomon until several hours had elapsed. The Boston police sent out the wrong fingerprints of Steve Gustin of South Boston, alleged assassin of a Boston police inspector. Funny; isn't it?

The tributes paid to Dr. Arthur Hudson by the members of the Board of Health are commendable. But, Dr. Hudson is entitled to more than tributes from the City of Newton after 41 years of service at meagerly compensation. He is entitled to a pension, if any city employee was ever entitled to one.

The bank wreckers are found not guilty. They have enough money to hire astute lawyers who can discover legal technicalities which exculpate their clients. But, the thousands of victims of the bank wreckers are not so free. They are sentenced to poverty for the remainder of their days. And the racketeers who only prey on lawbreakers are sent to jail.

Capture Giant Lizards

by Getting Them Drunk

Fisherman of Petite Gonave Island declare that the only safe way to capture the giant lizards that inhabit the island is to get them drunk by filling the hollows of the rocks along the shore with rum, of which they are very fond. But members of a Smithsonian expedition to the Petite Gonave found the lizards quite harmless and captured six of them by hand for the National Zoological park.

Apparently the fishermen were so awed by the weird appearance of these creatures that have been described as "great iguanas that look like miniature copies of the long extinct dinosaurs," that they had never dared to get close enough to them to find out what they were like. They warned the scientists of the expedition that the lizards were extremely dangerous and they had better leave them alone. —Detroit News.

Marriage of Cousins

It is now generally considered that there is no reason why first cousins should not marry, if there are no serious traits in their common heritage. Cousins marriage is among the most ancient of problems. Some early tribes forbade it, while others made it almost compulsory. —Washington Star.

A TRIBUTE TO DR. HUDSON

To the Editor, Sir:—

On January 31, 1933, the City of Newton lost the services of an old and tried employee, Arthur Hudson, for over forty years, Milk Inspector and Bacteriologist of the Health Department, asked to be relieved from his duties on account of age.

The Board acceded to his request with deep regret and passed the following resolution, a copy of which is enclosed.

May I be permitted to express my personal regret at Mr. Hudson's retirement and to say a few words about his work for the City?

Appointed Milk Inspector by Mayor Hibbard, he has served continuously until his retirement. Although when he was appointed the office of Milk Inspector was an independent one, not being connected with the Health Department until some years later, the relation between the two was necessarily very close and, on my accession to the Board of Health, I found Mr. Hudson's aid and advice very valuable, as it has been until the present day.

When the Board decided to establish a Bacteriological Laboratory, one of the earliest established by a small city, Mr. Hudson was made Bacteriologist and has done his work well and satisfactorily, so well indeed that in 1902, when the Massachusetts Association of Boards of Health made a study of the presence of diphtheria bacilli in the throats of well persons, he was appointed one of the examiners.

Few men can look back on such a long and honorable career, in the field of Public Health as can Arthur Hudson.

He has seen it grow from almost the very beginning, when it was struggling for recognition, until it has attained its present broad proportions, reaching into and protecting almost every field of human activity. He can well say with the poet, "All of which I saw, much of which I was."

For myself, I shall miss his cheerful co-operation and wish him all success in his declining years.

FRANCIS GEO. CURTIS, M.D.,

IS GOVERNMENT A BUSINESS?

Letter to the Editor:

When will Mayor Weeks and our other public officials cease trying to administer city affairs from the standpoint of "business" and begin to view their civic responsibilities from the point of view of human engineering? Cities are not run for profit. Newton is not a joint-stock corporation. We are under no necessity of showing a surplus to be carried to a reserve account at the end of the fiscal year.

If cities are to be run as modern business is operated—buying as cheaply as possible and selling as dear as possible, cheese-paring and grinding down labor as much as possible—then may we exclaim in all sincerity: "God save the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

The late lamented Calvin Coolidge (of blessed memory) is quoted as saying not many years ago, "Good Government cannot be found on the bargain counter." Nor can we expect cities to do their duty and discharge their high responsibilities in a time like this by curtailing expenses, contracting instead of expanding their activities, laying off employees, and cutting useful and desirable public works.

Good government in these times demands new and more intelligent methods of raising money by taxation. Real estate is not the only source of community wealth. A more just distribution of the tax burden, and a greater willingness to tax so-called "intangibles" and other "hidden wealth" is necessary today. Therefore, this is no time for our elected officials to resort to "business methods" in government. If we follow business leadership we are all likely to fall into the same pit, as business leadership was never more discredited or at a lower ebb than it is right now. The $190,000 which Mayor Weeks hopes to save our City by cutting wages means exactly $190,000 less purchasing power in the hands of Newton residents, employees and Newton business men. The "vicious circle" of other years is in reverse, and the longer this depression goes on, the worse it gets. As Mr. Coolidge well said: "What men worship, that will they become," and "Politics is not an end but a means." Mr. Coolidge also stated: "We need more of the office desk and less of the show-window in politics."

Let those who attempt to run cities on the pattern of greedy and soulless corporations beware lest in sowing the wind they reap the whirlwind of wrath of a sorely tried and righteously indignant people.

This is no time for economy in municipal and state affairs. If private business cannot employ the people at living wages the city must. For the function of a municipality after all is not making or saving money, but rather in spending it wisely, carefully and as freely, but no more freely, than the occasion demands.

As "The Business Week" said recently: "We have all the makings of a mighty good time for everybody here in America. It is hard to believe that we are just too dumb to do anything with them."

And if our elected officials cannot distribute prosperity under existing conditions, why not let them step aside and give somebody else the opportunity? Surely we could not be much worse off than at present.

"Economy" what crimes are committed in thy name!
PAUL HARRIS DRAKE,
56 Pembroke st., Newton.

ADDRESSES WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION ON RE-THINKING THE INDIAN

Cites Contributions of American Indian to Civilization

Miss Kate L. Cotharin, Secretary of the Massachusetts Indian Association, in speaking before the Woman's Association of Central Church on February 8 said that we need to "Re-think the Indian." Americans are indebted to the Indians for 45 different food plants including corn, potatoes, pumpkins and beans. From them also came witchhazel, cocaine, tobacco, cotton and rubber. The beauty of their earlier work, before it became commercialized, is unsurpassed and large storage baskets are now worth a thousand dollars apiece.

The Indians are noted for their honesty, loyalty and courtesy. They have a saying, "Generosity and hospitality walk together." They never killed for sport. They are reverent and austere and exercise great self-control. One said, "We are a slow, patient people, but ever since Columbus came we have been made to hurry."

All treaties made with the Indians were first broken by the white man. If the latter fought for the preservation of his home, it was all right, but if the Indian did the same, it was all wrong and a massacre. All their bad traits were forced on them by the way they had to live. They became very staunch Christians and are most loyal and steadfast in their friendships.

Miss Cotharin led the devotional service at the beginning of the meeting, reading a beautiful prayer composed by an uneducated Indian. The hymn had been written by an Indian, and the Twenty-third Psalm as literally interpreted from the Indian sign language was very appealing. Mrs. Decatur was chairman and Mrs. A. D. Auryansen's group were the hostesses.

NEWTON JR. CIRCLE PLANNING DANCE

Invitations have been issued for a dance of the Newton Junior Circle at Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill, to be held Tuesday evening, February 21. The evening's program will consist of a buffet supper at 8 o'clock and music by Roy Lamson and his orchestra. The Twenty-third Psalm as literally interpreted from the Indian sign language was very appealing. Mrs. Decatur was chairman and Mrs. A. D. Auryansen's group were the hostesses.

Assisting the chairman of the committee in charge are: Mrs. Charles R. Cabot, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Jr., Mrs. Ezra S. Eaton, Mrs. G. Phillips Hall, Mrs. George A. Haynes, Mrs. William F. King, Mrs. Edward H. Leonard, Mrs. Stanley H. Lyon, Mrs. Francis F. Munroe, Mrs. William B. Plumer, Mrs. William T. Rich, Jr., Mrs. Davis N. Ripley, Mrs. Robert H. Smith, Mrs. Arthur O. Wellman and Mrs. Warren W. Wood.

The Junior Newton Circle is an auxiliary of the Newton Circle which takes entire charge of the relief work in connection with the probation department of the Newton police court and assists in its support. Both the Newton Circle and the Junior Circle are affiliated with the Florence Crittenton League. Mrs. William F. King (Mary Proctor) is president of the junior organization.

DIES FOLLOWING AUTO ACCIDENT

Patrick J. O'Connor of 1246 Walnut st., Newton Highlands was hit Tuesday evening at the intersection of Centre and Walnut sts., Newton Highlands by an automobile driven by Bernard Haskins Slattery of 3 Van Ness rd., Belmont. Mr. O'Connor was taken to the Newton Hospital where it was stated he had possible fractures of some ribs, injuries to his back and lacerations of the face and arms. He died yesterday morning. Slattery's license was issued to Bernard Haskins Slattery and he explained this by stating that he had his name changed to Haskins while residing in the South. He said he was driving slowly and did not see the aged man until he struck him.

Mr. O'Connor was born in Kerry, Ireland 74 years ago and for many years was employed in the Street Department of Newton. He had been retired on a pension. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bridget (Kennedy) O'Connor; four sons, Patrick, John, James and William O'Connor; and four daughters, Mrs. Mary Duffy, Miss Margaret O'Connor, Mrs. Katherine Pillion and Mrs. Helen Smith. ## Christian Science Lecture norance, or sin. Disease is always induced by a false sense mostly of certain things not destroyed. Disease is an image of thought externalized. But, recurs the question, take the case of a child. Certainly the unformed child-thought has been entertaining no thought of fear. What causes the difficulty there? A universal belief, or fear, which mortals were mistakenly called law. A mother or was once heard to remark, "I hope my child will have all the children's diseases soon and get them over with!" That mother unwittingly was opening the door for the universally accepted belief and fear that a child must have this discordant condition or that at a certain age, whereas a vigorous stand with God, clinging to His glorious law and harmonious, painless unfoldment, and knowing that disease or discord is never part of Love's plan for His children, would have banished the so-called law founded in fear and ignorance. Today, as in Jesus' time, the reflection of God's law says, "Peace, be still!" to storms of every name and nature, and today, as of yore, there is a great calm.

AWAKENING FROM DREAM-SHADOWS

Sometimes one hears a person under Christian Science treatment say: "I have been having help for a certain disorder and I have been working myself to the best of my ability and yet the condition has not been healed. Why is this?" Is it not possible that one is striving to heal or change a reality instead of awakening to the glorious fact that God's creation needs no healing?

Suppose you enter a room where a person is in the throes of a nightmare. The dreamer calls out: "I am being pursued by a wild animal! Won't somebody help me?" Would you rush to his side and begin searching for the animal? No. Would you say to the dreamer: "Don't be afraid! I shall give the beast a treatment and make him depart!" No. Your whole effort would be to awaken the dreamer, would it not? Again and again you would assure him that all was well, bid him rouse himself, and thank God he had only had a bad dream. Mrs. Eddy writes in the textbook (p. 417): "To the Christian Science healer, sickness is a dream from which the patient needs to be awakened. Disease should not appear real to the physician, since it is demonstrable that the way to cure the patient is to make disease unreal to him."

DISEASE TOO BAD TO BE TRUE?

Now if a thing is unreal it is untrue, nonexistent, not happening or taking place. "But," may interpose someone, forcibly, "can a person in his right mind aver that this tumor which he sees or this rheumatism which he feels is nonexistent or not taking place?" The answer is, yes, if he truly is in his right mind, the divine Mind, he can do naught else but deny the pictures of the carnal mind and thank God that they are too bad to be true. A man seemingly quite crippled by rheumatism once asked a young student of Christian Science to give him some metaphysical help. The student replied that he felt advanced enough and his study to undertake the work, but finally said, "Let me give you this thought to ponder: 'If it is true that you have rheumatism, then there is no such thing as a good God.' The other departed in mild dismay. If rheumatism is true, he said, there is no good God. But there must be a good God. Then there is no rheumatism. But I know I have rheumatism. Then there is no good God. Yet each time he would find himself ending the mental argument, "But I know there is a good God; so there cannot be any rheumatism." Within a short space of time he reported to the Scientist that the waking-dream calling itself rheumatism had completely vanished.

Let the man or woman or child who has been laboriously treating disease, or striving to overcome and banish a stubborn discordant condition, begin thanking God that the disease or pain is only part and parcel of the Adam-dream, the material sense of existence, and that it is not happening in God's beautiful kingdom; and that man, God's man, is awake and whole and free now, governed by the law of harmonious, spiritual being. A persistent rejoicing in this truth, a courageous witness-bearing to the facts of being, wherein God has created a good creation, will usher in a sense of peace and harmony hitherto unknown.

BANISHING OF SINFUL THINKING

And the happy fact about a bodily healing in Christian Science is that invariably some of the healed discord's unlovely relations, such as a nasty temper, or an appetite for drugs, liquor, or tobacco, or an inclination toward certain erroneous thinking, invariably show signs of decamping—they do not immediately disappear with the other errors. A man having treatment in Christian Science for a bodily inharmonious noticed that his after-dinner cigars had a peculiar taste. He would examine them, cut them in half, re-light them, and even change to a more expensive brand, but still the curious taste persisted. One day when he had again vainly tried to enjoy the weed, the light began to dawn. "I know what is happening," he announced to his family. "That practitioner is treating me for this. I will thank her to keep her hands off!" He speedily arranged an interview with his helper in Science and asked her if she were treating him for his desire for tobacco. She replied that she was not doing so; in fact, she did not even know that he smoked. The patient was quite crestfallen. "Something is happening to me," he said sorrowfully. "For the tobacco is becoming positively repellent to me." The practitioner laughed happily. "Don't you see what is taking place? The truth about God and man is bringing you not only freedom from pain but freedom from bondage to material appetites as well. This is the inevitable action of Truth." Sometime later this same man and his son were standing on the platform of a street car and another passenger blew some tobacco smoke in his direction. Attempting to fan the fumes away, the father turned to his son and indicated the completeness of his healing. "Disgusting habit!" he said.

THE BONDAGE OF SENSUALISM

Mrs. Eddy never wrote a great truism more simply and yet more powerfully than this (Science and Health, p. 337): "Sensualism is not bliss, but bondage." The carnal mind bases its appeal wholly upon the proposition that this indulgence or that will bring satisfaction or real enjoyment or bliss. Thus it appeared to ensnare Adam and Eve in the famous garden of Eden allegory, and thus it would approach each individual consciousness. The warning of Truth, "In the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die," is easily silenced, for does not Lucifer whisper suavely, "Don't you believe it! You won't die! Why, through experience of pleasurable sensations of liquor or tobacco or material sense you will just begin to live!" For a season, perhaps, Lucifer may seem to make good his prediction; but at what cost? One has surely died to the finer, sweeter, more lastingly joyous conceptions of spiritual being, and that which claims to be bliss is that which is keeping one in bondage to the body, a bondage which all too often eventuates in weakness, sickness, and unhappiness.

THE JOY OF MASTERY

The Apostle Paul paints a graphic picture of true happiness and its dominion over the material in these words: "Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain. And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible. Therefore, let us run, not as uncertainly. And he adds significantly, "But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection."

COURAGE TO RESIST EVIL

But here someone may say, What of the man or woman who seems not to have the courage to resist evil and claim his dominion? When one, like the prodigal son, having suffered and starved amid the husks of sensualism truly resolves to go to his Father; when he even faintly begins to yearn for good and spiritual sense and peace, a beautiful thing happens. In the story of the prodigal in the Bible it will be remembered that when the young man turned his feet homeward, yes, "when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him." Mrs. Eddy tells us, on the second page of the textbook, that "the desire which goes forth hungering after righteousness is blessed of our Father, and it does not return unto us void." So, when having suffered sufficiently to turn one from the bondage of sin and appetite, one begins to yearn for light and release and lasting satisfaction, there is divine Love, divine strength, divine law, awaiting him. There is the Father saying in the words of the Psalmist, "I will declare the decree. . . Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee!" In other words, the day shall we have strength and moral courage to say "No!" to Lucifer and his deceiving arguments; this day may we touch the hem of the garment of Christ, Truth, and begin to taste man's God-given wholeness and freedom. The Father has seen us a great way off, and a legion of angels, of saving, strengthening ideas, has rushed to our side. We are not alone. We are not weak. Man exists as the reflection of omnipotent good.

HEALING OF INTemperance

A record of permanent healings of every form of intemperance that have been accomplished through Christian Science shows this system to be the greatest force for righteousness the world has seen since the days of the mighty regenerating Christianity of Jesus and his apostles. In fact, the works of Christian Science stamp it beyond peradventure as the reappearing of Jesus' Christianity. While every Christian Scientist hails as a step in the right direction every law attempting to stamp out the evils of liquor, drugs, and vice, and lends such law his whole-hearted obedience and support, he is not asleep to the fact that men and nations must first and last look to God, Spirit, and to God alone, for true healing and regeneration. Therefore, in his daily prayer for mankind, he strives to know that this present-day worldliness and love of the material cannot continue to deceive and betray mortals; for it belongs not to Truth. It cannot shut out man's birthright or real and enduring happiness, for it is only the transient mesmerism of Lucifer, a lie. If this Truth can heal an individual, can it not eventually heal a nation? And if a nation, then a world?

Copies of the Christian Science lecture in this issue may be obtained at the Newton Graphic Office, 11 Centre Ave., Newton, Mass. Tel. New. No. 4354.

RIGHT THINKERS ARE THE ELECT

A mighty work is before the right thinkers of the day; in fact, Jesus indicated this when, according to the Gospel of Matthew, describing the terrific overturning, which the truth would bring to the carnal mind, he said, "And except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved; but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened." Who are the elect, but those who elect to think rightly — to reflect God, Love, Principle, and good? The right thinkers, those who elect and strive to be spiritually-minded, to put off the old man, and put on the new, are therefore the hope of the race. It is their task to protect their countries from graft, greed, and selfish material domination. The power of Truth can uncover and nullify the secret efforts of mental suggestion to befuddle and control thought. Are we exercising this power? Are we declaring daily that "The Lord God omnipotent reigneth"—that Mind, infinite good and Principle, is governing men and nations? Are we thanking God for the lessening of the sense of great material prosperity and the learning of the much needed lesson of looking to the things of Spirit for true happiness and supply? Are we doing our bit in overcoming the world's fear about lack and limitation? If so, we are about our Father's business, and that business is eternal good.

A GREAT MOMENT IN HISTORY

The conquest over wrong thinking is going forward in human consciousness as the individual is daily meeting and dealing with the arguments of the material senses; as he is learning to separate the gold from the dross, the genuine from the counterfeit, the God-given from suggestions and pictures of the carnal mind. When he refuses to give power or reality to fear, or pain, or discord, or appetite, because they belong not to God's good creation, and when he strives to bear witness to the presence and operation of that which is harmonious, joyous, and free, that which is called healing takes place. Probably never in recorded history was there a more wonderful moment in which to be living. If perchance you sigh for the still stagnant waters of a generation ago when there had been no aftermath of a world war nor the tremendous problems resulting therefrom; when there was reasonable material prosperity and nothing to interrupt the serenity of the average fireside or nation—contrast the privilege of living and working in these stirring times with the somnolent sense of yesteryears! Ours is the privilege of enlistment in a great army—that ever increasing host of right thinkers who are ready to carry the battle to the very gates of hell itself. Individual problems will be solved the more surely and speedily as we remove the eye-blinders and dark glasses which have kept our gaze riveted on our own personal disorders. Can one think only of himself when all mankind is crying out for deliverance and healing? Let us not forget that the Bible states that Job's problems were solved when he began to pray for his friends. Says a familiar hymn (Hymnal, No. 360): "Is thy burden hard and heavy? Do thy steps drag wearily? Help to bear thy brother's burden, God will bear both it and thee."

"THE LIGHTS ARE ALL GREEN!"

A Christian Scientist once felt the need of calling her husband on the long distance telephone for a word of comforting and strengthening at a moment when the way seemed difficult. She said that the cloud lifted speedily when she heard him say, firmly and cheerily, "WVY, dear, you know that you are on the King's highway and the lights are all green!" When, therefore, our progress seems to be halted by error's stop-signs, when discouragement or fear or condemnation would argue that we may have chosen the wrong road, if we lift who thought to be healing Christ, Truth, we may hear this heartening, comforting message: You are on the King's highway and the lights are all green! Go forward!

QUEEN ESTHER SOC. ENTERTAINS

The Queen Esther Society of the M. E. Church of Upper Falls gave a delightful entertainment in the form of a Garden Party following a 5 and 10 cent supper in the Parish Hall. The stage was prettily decorated with garden flowers and groups of about small tables were about twenty-five young ladies and gentlemen in evening dress.

The program consisted of solos by Miss Elsie Nichols, Mr. Kenneth Newcomb, Miss Carrie Jowett, Mr. Joseph Shaw, Mr. Arthur Hartshorn, Miss Elizabeth Wildman; quartet selections by Mr. Kenneth Newcomb, William Wildman, John McMahers and Donald Burns. During the program the Misses Marian and Ruth Shaw gave a sketch entitled "Dumb as a Door-Knob" and the Misses Carrie and Mary Jowett gave a sketch entitled "Kitchenish and Carish." Miss Alice Shaw gave a Hawaiian guitar solo followed by duets by Miss Alice Shaw and Mr. Ashley Cavanaugh on the guitar. An enjoyable feature of the evening was a radio broadcast of organ music and skits by Miss Margaret Hartshorn and Mrs. Elizabeth Martin. Mr. Harvey Carmichael accompanied at the piano.

The supper was in charge of Miss Marcia Myers and the entertainment of Miss Catherine Shaw of the Queen Esther Society.

Daly Post V. F. W.

Plans for the Military Ball to be held at the State Armory in West Newton on the eve of Washington's Birthday, February 21, are well under way. This leading social event of its kind for the season will be held under the joint auspices of Daly Post V. F. W. and C. Company of 101st Infantry, M. N. G. Many leading people have been invited to attend and it promises to be a brilliant affair.

The Elsie James Queen Corps, composed largely of Newton girls, was installed as the official musical organization of the St. Manson Carter Post of Needham at a session held last week. Mrs. Mildred McNamee of West Newton was installed as Commander. A past commander's jewel was presented to retiring commander Blakemore.

Chairman John Hickey of the entertainment committee has announced that his committee is making elaborate plans for the coming Motion Picture and Vaudeville show to be held at the V. F. W. Hall on Tuesday evening, Feb. 28, 1933.

The next regular meeting of the Post will be held on Monday evening, Feb. 13.

State Federation

MID-WINTER MEETING. With the coming of Legislative sessions for the State of Massachusetts on Beacon Hill, comes interest in matters legislative with the members of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. Their Mid-Winter Meeting being the annual one for consideration of bills brought before Legislature, of some special interest to women's organizations.

This year's meeting will be held Wednesday, February 15th, at the Hotel Bradford, 275 Tremont st., Boston, with the morning session at 10 o'clock and the afternoon session at 2 o'clock. Welcome will be given by Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, president, and greetings of the city of Boston by Mayor James Curley. The outstanding addresses of the session will be made by Admiral Richard E. Byrd and Col. William J. Donovan, former United States Assistant Attorney-General, these to be features of the afternoon.

Mrs. Harriet Russell Hart, State Legislative chairman, will present the legislative matters of interest at the morning session. These will include several bills to aid and benefit neglected children: To include parents, known to be feeble-minded, in the bill defining the legal causes of neglect; To make it impossible to take a child back to former neglectful parents by the giving of bail; and to make possible the trial by jury of parents, taken for neglect of a child, in the juvenile sessions of the court. Another bill is one filed by the Mayors' Club, to place public school departments on the same basis in regard to expenditures as other departments of a city or town. And still another is a bill making all State Institutions the compulsory purchasers of prison-made goods. The present law includes cities, towns and counties in such purchase. Arguments for and against these measures have been presented to the Federated Clubs; they have been supposed to vote upon them, and to instruct their delegates how to express their opinions at this State meeting.

Two other matters have been given to clubs for their information, but not for vote: the bill for Unemployment Insurance, filed by the Special Commission on Stabilization of Employment, which is designed to assist during short periods of unemployment; not through long periods of depression; and Biennial Sessions of the Legislature, the argument being economy in government expenditure, this being an amendment to the Constitution which must be passed by two successive General Courts to become a fact.

A proposed amendment to the By-Laws will also come up at this meeting; section 3 of Article VI being changed so that the Endowment Fund and the Foundation Fund, which are now separate, shall be one Fund, under the name of Endowment Fund; cared for by a Board of three Trustees, whose appointment is specified in detail as to method and time limits.

RADIO. Clubwomen should remember that the State Federation broadcasts weekly on Saturday mornings over WBZ, at 11:30 o'clock until noon. Tomorrow's program has already been given in detail. On the 18th, Lila Newdick, Reader of plays, of Newtonville, will give Barrie's one act play "The Twelve Pound Look." Mrs. C. E. P. Thompson, chairman of the State division of Literature, will speak on "Cultivating a Taste for Good Literature." Viola Silva, Pianist, of Brockton, will give the musical selections.

RECENT EVENTS
Newton Federation

Following the custom established a few years ago of each year visiting some public building of interest, a group of thirty-eight clubwomen inspected the New City Hall and War Memorial on January 31st, under the leadership of Mrs. Charles E. Valentine, of Auburndale, chairman of the Legislative committee of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. The party was conducted through the beautiful building by Mr. Malcolm A. Warren, of the Public Buildings Department, in several instances the official head acting as host for his own department, and demonstrating the conveniences and appurtenances so well suited to the particular needs of his division of the municipal work. The group was also cordially received in his offices by His Honor, Mayor Weeks, who seemed pleased at the interest shown by the women of the city. The Museum and appointments of the War Memorial section proved most interesting and much gratification was expressed over the beautiful building and grounds.

Shakespeare Club

Mrs. B. R. Gilbert was hostess for the Shakespeare Club, on Saturday, February 4th.

The work, Acts I and II of Julius Caesar, was in charge of Miss Edith M. McCann, who brought out that Shakespeare had exhausted the gallery of English Histories, and Julius Caesar was the connecting link between the earlier histories and later tragedies, and dramatically lies between Henry V and Hamlet; that it was from the Greek Plutarch that Shakespeare took his figures, not only for Julius Caesar but for other Roman tragedies—Antony and Cleopatra and Coriolanus; that Julius Caesar is a most effective stage-play, because it has a world-wide background, characters of striking episodes, and a successful accompaniment. The Rise and Fall of the Great Triumvirate, Caesar, Crassus, and Pompey, was related in a most interesting manner by Miss Ethel L. Hall.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

On February 6th the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club observed its fourteenth birthday in the Club Rooms of the Emerson School.

Nearly seventy Club members and friends celebrated with a turkey dinner in charge of Mrs. Robert McLaughlin.

After the dinner, Miss Sarah Hunter, of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, gave an illustrated talk on "Homes of Many Lands." These were original pictures and made especially by representatives in foreign lands.

Both the dinner and entertainment following were very much enjoyed.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The first in the series of contests in the Duplicate Contract Bridge Tournament was held Monday evening February 6th, at the Newtonville Woman's Club House. Figuring on a percentage basis, prizes were given to Mr. Hinchey and Mr. Buzelle for holding top score in Section A, and to Mr. Silin and Mr. Benjamin Dean for top score in Section B.

The standing of the three highest couples, still figuring on the percentage basis, gave to Mr. Silin and Mr. Dean, first place; to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, second; and to Mr. Hinchey and Mr. Buzelle, third.

Winners in fourth place were Mrs. Wightman and Mrs. H. G. Barclay; in fifth place, Mrs. Burgess and Mr. Gracie; in sixth place, Miss Johnston and Miss Dorothy Garland, of Newton Centre; in seventh place, Mr. Harold Bond and Mr. Harold Sherman, of Newtonville; in eighth place, Mr. Heacock and Mr. Weinz; in ninth place, Mrs. E. P. Cawle and Mrs. A. M. Lyon; and in tenth place, Mr. and Mrs. Hart.

Guest night of the Newtonville Woman's Club was a most enjoyable affair. On Tuesday evening, February 7th, Club members and their guests heard a lecture by Mr. Alton Hall Blackington, Mrs. Herbert F. Blair, president, welcomed the guests, and then introduced the guest of honor, Mrs. Seldon E. James, Twelfth District director, who responded very graciously.

The entertainment was opened by music by the Bruno Trio, Rachel Slavton, violin; Muriel Perry, 'cello; and Eleanor Taylor, piano.

Mr. Blackington, a newspaper man who has been in close touch with world affairs and men who made them, gave a rapid-fire lecture on "Gentlemen of the Press," explaining the simple methods of gathering news at the time of Lincoln's death, and developing to the scientific process now employed through the agency of the Associated Press. Illustrations showed this development from small double-line type and crude pictures, to the glaring headlines and excellent photography which gives the news to the world today within a few minutes after it happens. He also gave interesting side-lights on press personalities, with intensely human stories back of every big news scoop.

Following the program a reception was held in the Social Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Seldon E. James, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Mervin S. Giers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. C. Kelley, and Mr. and Mrs. Binn Weatherhead receiving the members and their guests.

The Hospitality committee, with Mrs. George L. Curtis in charge, assisted by Mrs. Henry W. Weidner, Mrs. Horace Kidger, and Mrs. Harold W. Morrill, served refreshments.

POLICE NEWS

Carl Buck of Grant st., Needham was arrested about midnight on Friday for driving while under the influence of liquor. He was arraigned in court on Saturday and his case continued until February 16.

In the Newton court last Friday John Libby 17 of Riverside st., West Newton and Robert Lyons, 16 of Waltham st., West Newton, were found guilty of stealing cake from a box outside a bakery on Spencer st., West Newton. They were placed on probation. The proprietor of the bakery testified that a number of thefts of bakery products have occurred at his place of business.

In the Newton court on last Friday Lucille Cate, 17, of 387 Wolcott st., Auburndale was fined $20 for allowing an unauthorized person to operate her automobile, and $5 for failing to slow down at a street intersection. She appealed the fines and was held in $400 for the Superior Court. She stated that she was unaware that Sally McMorro of 25 Fountain st., West Newton, who was driving her car rapidly by a street intersection and was stopped by Patrolman Hammell, was not over 15 years of age. The McMorro girl was placed on probation for driving without a license, and the charge against her of not slowing down at a street intersection was placed on file.

Thieves who had broken into two stores at West Roxbury were pursued early Monday morning from Dedham st., Oak Hill to Cabot and Walnut sts., Newtonville by Newton police. The pursued eluded the police at the latter location and escaped, abandoning the light truck in which they were riding on Austin st. Patrolmen Green and Keating in a patrol car observed the truck at Oak Hill after they had been notified by police headquarters of the fact that the thieves were headed towards West Newton. At Newton Highlands Patrolman Brayton, in his own car, joined the chase.

NEWTON W. C. T. U.

At the monthly meeting of the Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Dr. Marietta Putnam Reid of Newton was the principal speaker. She supported the thesis that prohibition cannot be intelligently discussed without knowing the facts about alcohol. She quoted several eminent authorities to the effect that alcohol is not a real stimulant or food or blood builder, but an expensive habit forming drug always harmful to efficiency.

A social hour followed with Mrs. L. O. Hartman, Mrs. D. S. Nutter, Miss Lucy Locke, and Mrs. K. L. Nutter acting as pourers.

Goldman of New York City, and in 1931 and 1932 played at Emanuel College, Boston, and Bradford Academy. She has played for Walter M. Smith, and at the National Bandmaster's meetings in Boston last year. She has recently returned from a series of successes in New York and has played not only for the leading musical clubs and organizations in Boston but also for the principal churches of all denominations in New England.

Lives of Toads and Frogs

Toads and frogs may live for a number of years if they manage to escape their natural enemies and remain in suitable environment. There is a well-authenticated case of a toad which lived for thirty-six years and was accidentally killed. The common frog sometimes requires from four to five years to mature in the North, and barring accidents which are usual in a natural state, would probably live ten or twelve years.

Protection Against Bees

One of the most striking ruins in Ceylon is the ancient rock fortress of Segriya. The visitor climbs up a series of wonderfully constructed rock galleries which lead him several hundred feet up the massive cliff. Here the wild bees swarm in their myriads and occasionally attack human beings. To meet this situation, large wire-covered crates are placed at convenient places, so that visitors may find sanctuary until the stinging insects have passed by.

Cave Men

The cave man lived during the Paleolithic age. The earliest period of the Stone age may have extended as far back as 600,000 B. C., the latter Paleolithic probably to 100,000 B. C., and the Neolithic to about 15,000 B. C.

Rainy Day Changes View

Nothing quite puts such a new aspect on thoroughfares as a rainy day, especially if a touch of fog is added for good measure. Fog has a sort of magnifying effect causing even the least observant wayfarer to note something startling, almost, in the appearance of familiar things. Instead of being clearly cut against the sky, houses down the street do what man kind has agreed to call "loom" when fog touches their bricks and stones with its vapors.—Washington Star.

Bell Pitch Explained

The pitch of a bell is directly dependent upon the ratio between the thickness of the bell at the point of vibration and the diameter of the bell. Various metals and combinations of metals have been used to produce bells, but the most satisfactory combination is a bronze procured by amalgamating thirteen parts of copper with four parts of tin.—Washington Star.

Disliked Soap and Water

The story is told in a London club that a good many years ago a famous literary figure, long since dead, rented a bedroom. He had the reputation and the appearance of disliking soap and water, yet every morning he went to the bathroom with sponge, towel and a walking stick. The walking stick was a mystery until one morning the bathroom door was forced by curious fellow members and the man of letters was discovered in his dressing gown standing by the bath and splashing the water with his stick, to the accompaniment of ablutionary noises.

Sand Dunes' Formation

Sand dunes are formed by the wind. A stiff breeze blowing along the beach carries some sand with it. It meets some obstacle, a piece of driftwood or perhaps merely a tuft of grass. Some of the sand is deposited and a tiny dune is formed. More and more sand is added until a large mound is formed, sometimes rising to a height of 300 feet. The wind not only builds up dunes, but tears them down, so that the sand dunes are constantly changing in form and position.

Duties of Registrar of United States Treasury

The duties of the registrar of the treasury are such as are required of him in connection with the public debt and such further duties as may be prescribed by the secretary of the treasury. These include usually the signing of any official record, certificate or other document. No person appointed to the office of the registrar may directly or indirectly be concerned or interested in carrying on the business of trade or commerce, or be owner in whole or in part of any sea vessel, or purchase by himself, or another in trust for him, any public lands or other public property, or be concerned in the purchase or disposal of any public securities of any state or of the United States, or take or apply to his own use any emolument or gain for negotiating or transacting any business in the Treasury department other than that which is allowed by law.—Indianapolis News.

Environ of Stockholm

If Stockholm, the beautiful capital of Sweden, were not the fine and interesting city that it is, it would be amply compensated by its unusually attractive environs. Lake Malaren alone could do that, its wooded shores, meadows, villages and chateaux. Not far away is the ancient City of Strangnas, which was the most important town in the province in early pagan days and had an eventful history. Its fine Gothic Cathedral dates from 1291 and the old Bishop's palace, now used as a school, shows the hall where Gustav Vasa was elected king in 1523. Another nearby ancient town is Sigtuna, equally attractive.

Hung It Onto Shakespeare

The class had been studying English poetry and was now undergoing a quiz on that subject. The instructor had taken from one of Wadsworth's poems the following line, which she asked the class to explain: "The child is father to the man."

One young man studied the question in perplexity for several moments. Finally, he wrote: "This was written by Shakespeare. He often made this kind of mistake."

Daredevil Terriers

The sheer, reckless courage which characterizes the Irish terrier and for which it has frequently been called the "dare-devil," is illustrated by the following story told a number of years ago by some African hunters. As the story goes, the hunters had been trying with a pack of dogs to dislodge a lion which had been brought to bay in a dense tangle of bushes. Finally, without apparent reason, the lion bolted out from under cover. When it was entirely clear of its bushy hiding place the reason for its hasty appearance was clear, for clinging to the end of its tail with firmly locked teeth was a small Irish terrier.

The Word "Nature"

The word "nature" is a strange one. It comes from the Latin "natura," in turn from "natus," born. The primary meaning of "nature" is birth, origin; the secondary, that which is the source or essence of life, the creative force; third, that which is produced by natural forces, the existing system of things in time and space, creation, the universe.

This condensed summary brings out rather clearly that Nature, in essence, means life, and living things, although all the manifestations of "the existing system of things" are necessarily included.—Washington Star.

Salic Law

Originally the term Salic law applied to a codification of the laws of certain Germanic tribes, including the Salian or Merovingian Franks. These laws were codified in Latin in the early Middle ages. They related chiefly to property and penalties for various injuries.

The term is often applied exclusively to a section which relates to inheritances, and provides that only males inherit property. Since the Fourteenth century a further restriction in application has attached to it chiefly to those laws, in whatever country found, which forbid female inheritance of the throne.

Doctor Griggs Will Again Give Read Lectures

His Subject This Year Will Be 'Problems of Personal Life'

Dr. Edward Howard Griggs has been again chosen to deliver the Reed Fund lectures. For this year he has chosen as his subject, "Problems of Personal Life." The series of five lectures will be given on Friday evenings, starting March tenth, at the Underwood School in Newton, where these lectures have been held for the past few years.

Doctor Griggs announces, "The course will not give a didactic theory of conduct, but will seek to deepen appreciation of the worth, beauty and difficulty of personal life. Perhaps the greatest obstacle to that appreciation, as to sound living, is the low view we take of ourselves. To treat the simple realities of love and work with flippant cynicism is at times even regarded as evidence of superior culture and emancipation, by those who confuse culture with the verbal cleverness that excels and delights in the scintillating phrasing of misleading half truths. Those who escape this pitfall are too often unaware that work means more than paying running expenses in the business of living, or that love is other than a gratification of selfishness. The need is to make life our religion, for only by recognizing the nobility and infinite meaning of personal life can we use well its opportunities for growth and service."

The Reed Fund Lectures are given under a trust fund established over 50 years ago through the will of Read. Mr. Read was born in Salem, but spent most of his life on Jefferson street in Newton. He was a quiet man who minded his own business and whose habits never showed the possession of more than ordinary means. When he died the community was surprised to find that he had possessed a fortune of nearly half a million and was philanthropically inclined. He left trust funds of $40,000 each to the cities of Salem and Newton. The assets were entirely invested in government bonds.

In his will Mr. Read specified that the proceeds of the fund were to be used for public lectures, for the purchase of books for the Newton Free Library and for either a picnic or sleigh ride for the children of the city. The annual book appropriation is around $600 and the children of the city have always enjoyed their outing except during the period of the war.

The present trustees of the fund are Harry W. Fitz, Chas. E. Coyne and William T. Foster. This is the 12th year that Dr. Griggs has delivered the lectures under the fund, and he has always spoken to capacity houses.

OLD CITY HORSE DIES

Street Commissioner Stuart reports that the last of a pair of horses purchased by him in 1914 died yesterday at 1 o'clock from natural causes. He was known as "Night Horse Jim," and considered by the employees of the Department, and those competent to judge, to be one of the best heavy draft horse teams in Middlesex County. He was driven for a long period of time by the late Cornelius Madden, father of ex-Alderman John C. Madden, a prominent lawyer in Newton. This horse was purchased from McKinney Bros., and was never known to be off work on account of sickness or injury.

Losses Through Fraud Schemes Two Billions

Backman Tells Rotary Club of Work of Better Business Bureau

"Financial losses of the public through fraudulent schemes in one year amount to nearly two billion dollars," said Kenneth Backman, Manager of the Boston Better Business Bureau, to the Newton Rotary Club on Monday at the Brae Burn Club House. Mr. Backman told, very interestingly, of the many schemes promoters had to inveigle the unsuspecting public and extract money for bogus values.

In 1911 the Better Business Bureau was founded to improve the questionable type of advertising prevalent at the time. The public had lost confidence in advertising, the speaker claimed, and the Boston branch opened in 1922 had as its objectives the improvement of advertising, the promotion of ethical standards of merchandising, and the detection of all fraudulent methods of salesmanship.

The Bureau directs its efforts toward protection of the buying public. It attempted to set business standards through the elimination of fictitious and trade names of products. It disapproves of jewelry auctions where frequently cheap jewelry is sold to the gullible public. The "suit clubs," whereby the patron subscribes on an installment plan to a scheme which offers the buyer an unusual opportunity to procure a suit of excellent quality as an advertising inducement, is also condemned by the Bureau. The chief difficulty in detection of these schemes to obtain money from the public, Mr. Backman said, is the general unwillingness of the duped subscribers to furnish evidence and to appear as a complainant. Endless chains for selling fountain pens, hosiery, and handkerchiefs which have recently been in evidence, are an outgrowth of former schemes. Their legality is now being questioned and if they are declared lotteries they are in violation of Federal laws.

The "tipster sheet" proposition was explained to the Club and the tremendous growth during the last few years. Some of the most famous promoters have served more than 600,000 people with the "tip" sheets, followed by many telephone calls and lengthy telegrams advising certain stock purchases.

"ON APPROVAL"

That ultra-smart comedy "On Approval," by the brilliant English author, Frederick Lonsdale, will be presented by the Newton Conservatory of Music and Dramatic Arts on Friday and Saturday, February 24th and 25th at Bay State Hall, 378 Centre st., Newton.

"On Approval" centres about four people of the more sophisticated English society. One of the ladies having had a disappointing experience in her first marriage, decides to know a great deal more about the next one before she takes another plunge; hence, she takes him "on approval."

The cast for this production includes Robert Currier, Director of the Conservatory, and for two years with the Somerville Stock Company, Muriel Pearce, who has made many successful appearances with the Parish Players of Brookline. Robert Reed, at present with the Dramateurs, Rosalind Harris, Graduate of Leland Powers Dramatic School.

Newton Continues To Lead in Res. Construction

Outclasses Worcester, Springfield in Value of New Houses Built

Although construction sank to a new low level in 1932 for the post war period the Garden City continued to lead all Massachusetts, except Boston, in the value of residential construction, as it has done most of the time for the past 12 years. The comparison includes even Worcester and Springfield with their vastly greater populations, with which Newton has vied for leadership during this period. In Newton last year 93 single dwellings were built, totalling a value of $328,800 and two double houses totalling $15,000. There were also improvements and additions to residential properties totalling $102,448. In Springfield 74 dwellings were constructed with a value of $233,350, and in Worcester there were 127 such constructions with an estimated value of $576,500, showing that while Worcester led in the number of such buildings, Newton was still ahead by a large margin in value.

The following table displays the extent to which other lines of construction were carried on in the city during 1932.

	Permits Granted	Value
Grand Stands	3	$84,400
Public Garage	1	8,000
Private Garage	126	47,755
Gas Stations	3	11,500
Dormitory	1	75,000
Bank	1	24,000
Stores	5	32,500
Storage Building	1	3,000
Foundations only	4	2,575
Green Houses	2	875
Elevators	2	1,790

Tents	2	60

Alterations to Residential Bldgs.	181	102,448
Alt. to Non-Res. Buildings	68	100,625
Totals	425	499,408

The following table gives a summary of building activities in Newton for the past three years, but does not give an accurate comparison because of the drop of not less than 25 per cent in building costs during the period:

	Permits	Costs
1932	520	$1,343,208
1931	929	4,887,579
1930	1073	5,884,877

The following table gives the building permits by wards granted during 1932. It shows at a glance that while wards 2 and 3, comprising Newtonville and West Newton, showed activity by far the bulk of new construction occurred in wards 5 and 6 which comprise the South Side.

Ward	Permits	Ward	Permits
1	39	5	150

Work Suspended On Turnpike Until Next Spring

A number of workmen employed by Coleman Brothers on the Worcester turnpike construction along Boylston st. at the Upper Falls, Highlands and Newton Centre, were laid off last Saturday because of weather conditions. The completion of the turnpike will be delayed until warmer weather arrives. In the meantime residents along Boylston st. and intersecting streets must continue to travel under the hazardous conditions caused by the absence of lights along this street, a condition which has existed for many months past.

NEWTON DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The regular meeting of the District Nursing Association was held at the headquarters on Walnut st., Newtonville, on Monday, Feb. 13, at 10 o'clock. In the absence of the President, Mrs. Angier, Mrs. Marvin conducted the meeting. A great increase in the demand for the District Nurse was reported as shown by the number of visits made in October, numbering 510 against 721 for January. Visits to children in October, 18, against visits to children in January 151. Along with this increase comes the added demand for the "free visit"—a larger proportion each month being unable to pay. The Association is indeed filling an urgent need at this critical time.

MAYOR ENDORSES SCOUT EXPOSITION

"Under present conditions, more than at any other time in our generation, there is in my opinion a real need for the genuine interest of mature men in the youth of our country. For that very reason I urge, as vigorously as I can, that every Newton citizen display his interest and his sympathy in the activities of Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, which on February twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth, in the State Armory, West Newton, will have the Annual Exposition."

"Man's interest in the growing boy is of vital necessity right now."

Robert Jonah Gets Life Term For Murders

Sentenced Yesterday at Cambridge For Killing Foster Parents

Robert B. Jonah, 19, formerly of Linwood ave., Newtonville, who murdered his foster parents, Charles and Amanda Jonah on December 15th, was found guilty of second degree murder in the Superior Court at East Cambridge yesterday before Judge Walter Collins and sent to State Prison for life. Early on the morning of that date, young Jonah hit his victims with a hammer, crushing their skulls. He then slashed their throats with a razor, following which he cut his own wrists and then walked across the street to a wooded field and laid in the snow for a few hours until he went to a nearby store and told of his act.

He was sent for a month to the Westboro Insane Hospital for observation and was declared sane. James S. Cannon, the youth's attorney told the court that while young Jonah is now sane, he was temporarily insane when he committed the murders. Dr. Vernon Briggs and Dr. Overholser, alienists, testified that the youth is abnormal. District Attorney Bishop asked for the second degree conviction.

KENDALL APPOINTED ASSISTANT CITY COMPTROLLER

Horace B. Kendall of 876 Beacon st., Newton Centre was appointed Assistant Comptroller of Accounts of the City of Newton on Tuesday. He was appointed temporarily to this position on November 1. The position was created because of the establishment of a new system at City Hall. This system caused a new department of billing and stenography under the direction of the Comptroller of Accounts. Recently an examination was held by the Civil Service Commission at the State House to fill the position. Eighteen persons took the examination. Kendall topped the list with a mark of 80.90%; Alton Fogg of 7 Grant st., Auburndale was second with a mark of 70.30%. The salary attached to the position is $2400 per year.

AUTOS CRASH AT NEWTONVILLE

Says $65,000 More Needed For Poor Relief In City

L. B. Rogers Shows That Welfare Needs Are Increasing

The second meeting of the Council of the Newton Community Chest was held on Tuesday evening at Brae Burn. The invited guests of the evening were some of the city officials and persons connected with and interested in the work of the welfare agencies in Newton.

Mr. Leon B. Rogers, president, spoke briefly on the status of the campaign and read the financial report of the Newton Community Chest. Approximately 10,000 gifts amounting to $219,939 have been received at headquarters to date.

He presented to the group comparative figures between 1931 and 1932 showing the cost of relief and welfare work in Newton. "In 1932," said Mr. Rogers, "over half a million dollars was spent for care and relief of the sick and poor in our city, an increase of 40% over 1931. Of this amount over $308,000 was supplied from city funds and over $239,000 by private welfare and character building agencies." He further pointed out that money spent in January, 1933 for this same work far exceeded that spent during the same month in 1931 and 1932. "If this work is to be continued," said Mr. Rogers, "we must have at least $65,000 more to meet 1933 needs. With need for care and relief increasing steadily and with contributions from private sources falling off considerably we are faced with a most serious problem."

Miss Ruth Chapin of the Newton Welfare Bureau spoke of the work of that agency and its increasing burdens and Miss Helen Sandstrom told of the work along character building, recreational and occupational lines being done at the Stearns School Centre.

Newton Woman Critically Hurt Boarding Train

Miss Alice Snow of 93 Jewett st., Newton, was critically injured last Saturday morning as she attempted to board the 8:26 train for Boston at the Newton depot. After the train had pulled out from the station, Miss Snow was found lying on the platform. She was taken to the Newton Hospital in a taxi driven by Charles Lucas. It was found that her spine had been fractured in two places, several ribs were broken, and she had lacerations on the face. The young woman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Snow, and the sister of the Misses Susie and Olive Snow.

NEW CHOR AT HIGHLANDS CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

With the words, "And so we have the choir," the Rev. Ben. Roberts introduced the new organization of 24 voices at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church last Sunday morning. The anthem, "Send Forth Thy Light" and the response, "Seven-Fold Amen" were well rendered. A solo by Mrs. Lillian Smith and the opening and closing hymns sung as processional and recessional added charm and dignity to the service.

NEWTON CITIZENS CLUB

A meeting of the Newton Citizens Club was held Wednesday night at its quarters in Columbus Building, Nonantum. In the absence of the president, Lawrence Mazzola, Jr., who has been ill, Vice President Alfred Guzzi presided. Plans for increasing the membership of the club and arousing the interests of its members were discussed. A series of social features was arranged for the first of which will be held next month. A committee was appointed to confer with the Welfare Department. It was voted to ask the city to clear the business section of Nonantum of snow and to plow sidewalks on streets throughout the city after snowstorms.

Throngs Attend Funeral of Rev. Wm. J. Farrell

Imposing Military Funeral At St. Bernard's Church

Rev. William J. Farrell died at the rectory of the Sacred Heart Church in Groton on Feb. 12. He had been in poor health for several months. Father Farrell was born in South Boston, Dec. 2, 1877, the son of James Farrell, a veteran of the Civil War. He graduated from Boston Latin School and from Boston College in 1898. He studied at St. John's Seminary in Brighton and was ordained in 1902. He was assigned as a curate to St. Bernard's Church in West Newton in 1912. In August 1917, he volunteered as a Knight of Columbus chaplain for service in France. In October 1917, he was commissioned as a Chaplain in the Army and assigned to the 103rd Field Artillery. He served with this regiment until October 13, 1918, when he was transferred to the 104th Field Artillery. He was under fire on many fronts with the 26th Division and was wounded at Seicheprey on April 21, 1918, and at Trugny on July 23, 1918. He was awarded the Croix de Guerre on May 29, 1918, and cited for the Distinguished Service Cross in November, 1918. He was awarded the latter decoration in 1922.

He returned to this country with the 26th Division in 1919 and resumed his duties at St. Bernard's parish. In 1922 he was transferred to Wilmington and in 1931 was made parish priest at Groton. He had been quite active in the affairs of the American Legion.

He is survived by a brother, Rev. John Farrell of Lynn; and three sisters, the Misses Annie, Julia and Mary Farrell of Wolcott st., Auburndale.

The body of Father Farrell was brought to St. Bernard's Church on Wednesday afternoon and reposed in state there during the afternoon and night. A constant line of persons passed by the coffin as it reposed in front of the altar, with members of Newton Post, American Legion, in re-lays of two, standing guard at the head and foot of the casket.

The funeral of the dead priest yesterday morning was one of the most imposing ever witnessed in this city. The church was thronged. Two hundred priests occupied seats in the pews at the front of the church, and hundreds of ex-service men, members of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign wars, filled most of the remaining space in the edifice. Hundreds stood outside the church. The solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Charles Maguire of Belmont; Rev. Ambrose Dore of Wellesley; Rev. Henry Riordan of Jamaica Plain, sub-deacon. The eulogy was delivered by Fr. Dore. Bishop Francis Spellman was present. Rev. Chellis Smith, 26th Division chaplain, and Rev. Herbert McCombie, former chaplain of Newton Post, were present.

Following the service the funeral procession formed outside the church. It was headed by a platoon of Newton police. Then marched the honorary pall bearers, including Mayor Weeks, Speaker Saltonstall of the Legislature, Brigadier General John W. Murphy, Brigadier General John H. Agnew, Brig. General Arthur Desmond, Lieut. Col. T. F. Tierney, Major Judson Hannigan, Capt. Edward Hannon. The band of the 101st Infantry, N. G., followed by a battalion of that regiment. Next came a caisson of the 101st Regt. Field Artillery bearing the (Continued on Page 10)

Explosion Wrecks DeRusha Home in Newton Centre

Leaking Gas Pipe Causes Tragical Death of Miss DeRusha

A terrific explosion blew to pieces the dwelling at 862 Walnut st., Newton Centre, at about 3.15 yesterday morning and caused the death of Catherine F. DeRusha, 35 years of age. The dwelling was owned by William DeRusha and had been occupied by him and his family for 40 years. It was a two story frame house. The blast blew the building to fragments, hurled wreckage 80 feet, broke windows in nearby houses and was heard for a couple of miles. Mr. DeRusha, 73, and his wife Mary, 75 were asleep in a front bedroom on the second floor when the blast occurred. When the aged man gathered his senses, he found himself on a section of the roof, which had collapsed to the ground. His wife was also blown out into the yard.

The daughter, who had been asleep in a rear bedroom, was pinned under a broken mass of walls and roof. Only her head and arms were free of the tangled wreckage. Her aged mother and father tried frantically to reach her. The doomed girl was conscious and told her mother that she could not be rescued. The despairing parents were joined in a couple of minutes in the rescue attempt by Joseph Kelleher, 33, of 850 Walnut st., and Joseph Quirk, 16, of 846 Walnut st. These two, and Patrolman George Slavin of 60 Garland rd., at the rear of the DeRusha house, made futile efforts to pull the young woman from the wreckage. Pierce flames, fed by the escaping gas, swept rapidly through the ruins of the house and drove the trio away from the victim, who died crying pious ejaculations.

Muriel Langell of 858 Walnut st., telephoned an alarm to the Fire Department at 3.20, but when Engine 3 arrived the shattered fragments of the house were a blazing mass. Chief Randlett called Engine 2 and Ladder 2 to come to the assistance of the apparatus which answered the alarm from Box 71, which had been pulled by Patrolman Slavin. The firemen directed streams at that part of the wreckage where Miss DeRusha had been trapped and as soon as the flames were under control, the burned timbers and that part of the roof which had fallen on top of the woman were lifted and her body recovered. It was removed to the Newton Hospital morgue after having been viewed by Medical Examiner West who had come to the scene.

The dead woman was a graduate of Newton High School and been a stenographer by occupation. Besides her parents she is survived by two sisters, Sister Raymond Clare of the Sisters of St. Joseph at Allston, and Mrs. John Kelley of Beverly; and two brothers, Raymond DeRusha and H. Paul DeRusha, both of Newton Highlands. Another brother, Henry DeRusha, was killed near Vaux, France, in July 1918, while serving with the 26th Division. Miss DeRusha's funeral service will be held Saturday morning at Sacred Heart Church and burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

The explosion was caused, in the opinion of Chief Randlett, by gas which had seeped into the cellar from a broken gas main. Employees of the gas company were compelled to excavate a hole at the connection of the house pipe with the large main in front of the house in order to shut off the gas which was escaping into the cellar. An inspector from the office of the State Fire Marshal, and C. J. Van Amburgh, State explosive expert made an examination of the ruins.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON FAILS TO SCORE AT B. A. A. MEET; ANDOVER NEXT

The field at the B. A. A. schoolboy games at the Boston Garden last Saturday was too fast for any of the Newton high track athletes and the orange and black failed to score. The Newton relay team lost its first race of the season by losing to Brookline High in one of the fastest high school races of the day. In the various events preparatory school stars predominated with Newark (N. J.) Prep winning team honors with 23 points and followed by St. John's Prep with 25 5-6 points. Boston English High and Brookline High led the high schools in a tie for fifth with 3½ points each.

The Newton relay team consisted of Captain Deane Sloane, Louis Miller, Tom Fitzgerald and Dave McLellan. Coach Tom Hines of Brookline used James Johnson, Edmund Rae, Lawrence Trainor, and Joseph Enright in a successful effort to triumph over Coach Enoch's quartet over a mile course. Brookline's time was 3m 42s and Newton's 3m 43 1-5s.

Tomorrow afternoon the Newton track team will participate in the Andover Intercollegiate at the Case Memorial Cage at Andover Academy. Brookline High is favored to win team honors although it will have a close fight with Medford, Everett and Quincy which are represented by strong teams. Medford high won the North-eastern meet three weeks ago with Brookline in second place and the other two schools in a tie for third. Newton was fifth in that meet and has in Capt. Sloane, Dave McLellan, Tom Fitzgerald, and Hugh Owens possible scorers in the Andover meet. Brookline's chances are increased at Andover as Tod Plotkin has no peer among the standing broad jumpers on school teams this season. This event was not on the card at the Northeastern meet. Brookline also has Capt. Allan Schwartz who may set a new high jump record. Joe Enright in the 600, Edmund Rae in the 1000 and Johnson in the dash as other potential scorers.

The Newton relay team raced the Andover seconds on Wednesday afternoon in an invitation five-man race as part of the Andover 2nds—Lawrence High track meet. Coach Don Enoch desired to give his runners an opportunity to become acquainted with the track conditions for the Andover meet tomorrow and arranged the relay race. Captain Sloane, York, Miller, Wilkes and McLellan were the Newton quintet which won the race by about two yards after Furse, Andover anchor, had raced a brilliant race to cut down the Newton lead considerably.

NEWTON QUINTET DEFEATS CANTABS AND TIES LEADER

The Newton High School basketball team accomplished a somewhat unexpected but much desired feat on Tuesday afternoon by defeating the Cambridge High and Latin quintet, 28 to 21, to bring about a triple tie for the lead in the Suburban Basketball League. Two weeks ago Newton was shaded by a solitary point in its battle with the Cantabs on the latter's home floor so that the season's showing gives Newton an even split with both the Cantabs and Rindge Tech fives.

In defeating Cambridge Latin on the Newton floor Joe Mastropieri was the high scorer with 14 points followed by Warren Huston with eight points. Klevis was the visitors' high scorer with eight points. The Newton team played a great defensive game and Grethe and Davis, guards and Huston at center holding the visiting offensive trio to nine points. This style of play forced the Cambridge guards to come up the floor on the attack and gave the Newton forwards several opportunities to cut loose for the basket.

Newton winds up its basketball season this afternoon on the home floor with Brookline as the visiting team. The Wealthy Towns have dropped all five of their league contests to date and the Newton team is favored on its own court. A Newton victory may result in a three-cornered tie for the Suburban league honors which will hinge entirely upon the outcome of the two-game series between Rindge Tech and Cambridge Latin. To earn a clear hold on the title either team must win both games while an even split will bring Newton into the triangle provided it wins from Brookline. An even split between Rindge and the Cantabs is the probable outcome. Should the league season end in a deadlock it will not be played off as the Suburban league will not authorize post-season games. The present standing:

Rindge Tech	3	1	6
Cambridge Latin	3	1	6
NEWTON	3	2	6
Brookline	0	5	0

Last Friday the Newton five had no trouble defeating the Westboro High team at Westboro, 40 to 33. Newton led practically all the way. Mastropieri was the high scorer with 22 points. The Newton seconds also won with Gath, DuPuy and Skauen featuring.

SAYS TREE TOO NEAR HIGHWAY

Mrs. Beatrice Wright of 672 Chestnut st., Waban, has entered a claim against the city for damages to her automobile. On December 27 Mrs. Wright's car collided with a tree on Woodward st., near Beacon st., Waban. Mrs. Wright contends that the tree is in dangerous proximity to the travelled part of the street, and the city has failed to warn motorists of the proximity of this tree to the roadway.

NEWTON SEXTET TO FACE ARLINGTON IN FINAL LEAGUE GAME

The Interscholastic Hockey league will conclude its regular playing season this afternoon in two games at the Boston Garden with Newton facing Arlington and Melrose meeting Rindge Tech. The greatest interest centres in the Melrose-Rindge contest as a victory for the former will bring about a tie for the championship with Belmont High. Medford sprung a surprise on Belmont on Monday night in a doubleheader at the Garden winning 2 to 0 while Cambridge Latin was topping Stoneham 4 to 1. The Medford victory was earned although Captain George Ford was given rather rough treatment by the Medford defenders. They stopped the Belmont star but spent considerable time in the penalty box. As Melrose is a heavy favorite over the last place Rindge sextet which has yet to win a league game, a tie for honors is very probable unless Rindge should unexpectedly show sufficient strength to hold off Melrose to a tie game. The deadlock for the championship will be played off on Thursday, Feb. 23rd.

Newton should win from Arlington which result would put the Newton sextet in a tie for third place with Medford in the final standing of the league. A tie game will give Newton sole possession of fourth place while a defeat for the orange and black would put them in a tie for fourth place with the Cantabs.

On Washington's Birthday the All-league team chosen by the coaches of teams in the Interscholastic league will play the Westmount High team of Montreal in an international scholastic contest. Captain Houghton, Nate Sostillo and Warren Huston of the Newton team will play with the All-league team. The much-talked-of two game series between the All-Inter-scholastic league team and the All-Bay State league team will not be staged due to the expected play-off next Thursday between Belmont and Melrose.

Wednesday afternoon the Newton High sextet was shut out by the Harvard freshman, 4 to 0, after the locals had held their heavier opponents to a solitary counter in the first two periods of play. It was the Crimson yearling's sixth straight victory, a majority of which have been won by a greater margin than four tallies. It was rather a rough game with ten penalties being handed out, evenly divided with Captain Houghton of Newton going to the penalty box four times and Sostillo once.

During the first period Newton held the Crimson scoreless and it was not until late in the second period that McDonald took a pass from Hollowell for the opening score. In the final session the Newton players tied and the Crimson tallied a trio of goals.

OUR LADY HIGH TIES FOR LEAD—CATHEDRAL LOSES

Our Lady High climbed into a tie for first place in the Greater Boston Catholic High School Basketball league yesterday by defeating its city rivals, Sacred Heart School of Newton Centre, 62 to 23. In its nine games to date the 1932 champions have lost but one game being defeated by Cathedral High two weeks ago in a nip and tuck affair. Cathedral remained undefeated until this week when St. Charles turned in a 39 to 38 win to give the South End team its first setback and enable Our Lady High to tie for the lead with its victory yesterday.

Capt. Charlie Gallagher led the scoring for Our Lady High with a total of 28 points from 13 baskets from the floor and two on fouls. Joe McCarthy at center tallied 12 points.

It took a former Our Lady High and Newton High athlete to turn the trick for St. Charles in upsetting Cathedral in a thrilling game. Billy Lamsed was the St. Charles hero running wild in the final period to score seven points. His last basket, a one-handed toss from centre court, in the last seconds of play gave the Waltham team its one-point margin. It was Cathedral's first loss in twelve games. At the end of the first period Cathedral led 11 to 8 and at half time 28 to 21. At the end of the third period the South End outfit had a 34 to 31 margin. Lamsed dropped in two baskets from the floor and threw a foul to put St. Charles in front 36 to 34. Morris of Cathedral came right back with two baskets for a 38 to 36 lead. Lamsed caught a foul try to cut down the lead to a point and with 30 seconds to play let go his winning shot.

COME, see and drive these sensational new Studebakers that operate almost entirely without physical effort.

See how Studebaker engineering genius has succeeded in giving you cars in which you need scarcely ever touch the clutch—in which you switch on the ignition and start the engine at the turn of a key in the dash—in which you never have to work a choke or adjust a carburetor.

Gears shift as smoothly, silently and safely at any driving speed as though there were no gears. Spring action is automatically controlled by shock absorbers that instantly and infallibly adjust themselves to all conditions.

Especially see how Power Brakes, the year's greatest engineering development, make brake operation practically automatic in all the new Studebakers. The slightest pressure of your toe tip on the brake pedal brings the car smoothly, surely to a stop.

Daly Post V. F. W.

A victory for women was registered at Eugene J. Daley, Jr., post, Veterans of Foreign Wars of West Newton last night, when it was voted almost unanimously to create an auxiliary to the post.

Whether or not to organize an auxiliary has been debated by harassed husbands and bachelors since last September when the motion was first presented at a meeting. Many married members supported the bachelors until last night, when the opponents of the auxiliary were completely routed, with only eight votes in opposition.

The Post was well represented on yesterday morning at the funeral of the late Rev. William J. Farrell, "Fighting Chaplain" of 26th Division held at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton. The Post colors were en-massed with colors of other units during the impressive ceremonies. Past Commander John Keefe was an usher at the church.

Commander Keefe wishes to express thanks to the merchants of West Newton on behalf of the Post for their splendid spirit and cooperation on placing out their flags and drawing shades during the funeral services of Fr. Farrell.
On next Tuesday evening, Feb. 21, 1933, the first Annual Military Ball under the auspices of the Daley Post and C. Co., 101st Infantry, 26th Division, will be held at State Armory, West Newton. Many guests have been invited to attend including State, City and Military officials, officers of State, County and Posts of V. F. W., and several other War Veteran organizations. Several surprises are to be seen at this grand affair, and an exhibition drill by the Bessie Edwards Cadets, and C. Co. will be among the features of the evening.

Yesterday, Feb. 16, marked the first anniversary of the Daley Post, and at present the members on its rolls are around 220 with several more applications now in the hands of the Quartermaster.

Correction

The Elsie Janis Drum Corps is an organization entirely independent of the Daley Post.

Military Ball Expected to Be Huge Success

It is expected that the First Annual Military Ball of the Eugene Daily Post, V. F. W., which will be held next Tuesday night, February 21, at the State Armory in West Newton will be a huge success. The committee in charge of arrangements under the leadership of Gunnery Sergeant W. T. Door has been working hard to see that all arrangements are carried out. All service and ex-service men are invited to wear their uniforms.

SIDE LIGHTS ON "A DOLL'S HOUSE"

Apropos of the Village Players' production of Ibsen's "A Doll's House" to be given at the Unitarian Parish Playhouse in Newton Centre, on Friday and Saturday evenings, Feb. 24th and 25th, there are many interesting sidelights in notes jotted down by Ibsen when the idea for his "Modern Tragedy" was formulated in his mind. He wrote, "The wife in the play ends by having no idea of what is right or wrong; natural feeling on the one hand and belief in authority on the other have altogether bewildered her." "She has committed forgery, and is proud of it; for she did it out of love for her husband, to save his life. But this husband is on the side of the law and regards the question with masculine eyes." Out of this deep-rooted conflict arises the tragedy which is the stuff of the play.

Mrs. Wesley Dynes, who will play the part of "Nora," brings to it the insight and histrionic talent which comes from a varied experience in many plays. Wesley Dynes will play the husband and Donald Page, a former professional actor with Walter Hampden, will assume the role of Dr. Rank. The supporting cast includes Charles L. Pierce, Mrs. Gustavus Sargent, Mrs. Henry H. Skelton, and Mrs. Spencer Crossley. The parts of "Nora's" two children will be played by George W. Pratt, Jr., and Ann Mitchell.

The production staff is as follows: Mrs. Edward A. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Noetzel, Mrs. Lawrence C. Farwell, Ralph L. Wheeler, C. Rodrick Clifford, Eugene Prowten, Mary E. Flecknoe, Mrs. Philip B. Dowst, Miss Marion Symonds and Mrs. Mabel M. Webber.

The Board of Directors in charge of this ambitious group includes—Mrs. Frank A. Mason, President; Mrs. Hope Thaxter Spencer, Vice-President; Mrs. James Hunter Orr, Secretary; Mrs. Frank L. Richardson, Treasurer; Mrs. Edward A. Andrews, Mrs. Wesley M. Dynes, Miss Estelle G. Marsh and Mrs. Charles P. Powers.

CEMETERY CORP. ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Cemetery Corporation was held at the Administration Building on Feb. 1. The report of the treasurer showed that the perpetual funds now amount to $470,000. The superintendent reported much new development work completed and a large new section including a pond now in the process of development. Owing to the large amount of lot sales, several men from the Mayor's Relief Department have been given work in addition to the regular force. The following officers and trustees were elected: William F. Sargent, President; William H. Rice, Vice-President; H. Wilson Ross, Treas. and Clerk; George W. Auryansen, Auditor; Frank J. Hale, Seward W. Jones, George M. Fiske, Henry B. Day, William F. Chase, and John H. Eddy. H. Wilson Ross was appointed Superintendent and Nils H. Mattson, Assistant Supt.

B. C. JUNIOR WEEK ENDS TONIGHT

Junior Week, the leading social season of Boston College will end with the Junior Promenade at the Hotel Statler Ball Room this evening. The week began with a communion breakfast on University Heights on Sunday morning, at which several of the professors spoke. On Monday and Tuesday evenings the musical extravaganza, "Dick Whittington" was presented by the Junior Philamthea Club. On Tuesday afternoon there was a tea dance in the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Kenmore. On Wednesday night there were skating and hockey games at the Arena and there was a smoker at University Heights last evening.

The cast of "Dick Whittington" included Virginia Grimes, Wellesley '33 of Newton, who carried the leading female part, and Raymond H. Roberts also of Newton. The book was by Mrs. Lang Langdon and the music by Mrs. Grace Warner Gulesian of Chestnut Hill. The Boston Opera House, where the entertainment was given, was sold out both evenings. The cast of 125 young college people filling the great stage, the swaying rhythm of the music and the catchy lyrics carried the audience away again and again and brought the verdict from listeners that the production outvalued anything on Broadway today.

ZONA GALE TO BE AT WEST NEWTON SUNDAY EVENING

She Will Open Second Series of Five Lectures At the Unitarian Church

The well known novelist, Zona Gale, will open the second series of lectures and recitals at the West Newton Unitarian Church on Sunday evening. Miss Gale is one of the outstanding American novelists today. Her command of delicacy and power are distinctive in American literature. The dramatization of "Miss Lulu Bett" won for her the Pulitzer prize. Miss Gale was born of New England stock in Portage, Wisconsin, a place which she has immortalized in her writings, under the name "Friendship Village." She will be the first novelist to appear in any of these series at the Unitarian Church. Her subject, "The American Novel," is timely and is expected to draw a capacity house, as is usual for the high quality of talent which these series always bring to Newton.

The lecture at 8 o'clock will be preceded by a half hour organ recital by William Ellis Weston. The public is cordially invited.

HOLD POVERTY SOCIAL

The Men's Educational Association staged a poverty social at the Warren Junior High School on Wednesday. The school men of the City appeared in all phases of poverty costumes, ranging from worn out dress suits to badly stricken B. V. D's. About seventy-three members enjoyed the repast prepared by Ralph Acker of the Warren faculty.

After the business meeting of the club a survey of the trend in legislation at the State House was given by Mr. Hugh Nixon, Secretary of the Massachusetts Teachers' Federation.

Judging of the costumes was done by Ex-Mayor Childs and Dr. Shuttleworth. They made the following awards: 1st prize, Carl Penny; 2nd prize, Carl Birmingham; 3rd prize, Elmer Ellsworth; 4th prize, Alfred Perrell. Honorable mention, John Fitzsimmons, Carlton Ray, Arthur Swanson, Allan Acomb, Frederick Hussey. Former Mayor Childs talked about "The Bright Side of Dark Days." During the discourse he said that the American people had a very happy and peculiar way of satisfying any dissatisfaction with their government by making a new deal for themselves in completely changing their political parties. Mr. Childs felt that there were many constructive things to take out of these so-called "dark days,"—in fact so many constructive things that we unquestionably would look back upon them as supplying us with a lot of light.

AN ASSASSIN'S THOUGHTS

The entire country was shocked and startled the other night in the attempted assassination of President-elect Roosevelt. Fortunately the attempt was unsuccessful and the consequences of such an occurrence averted. It is noticeable assassinations of governmental leaders nearly always take place in times of distress or crisis. Almost without exception it is the act of an unbalanced or fanatical mind. It is universally agreed that punishment is just and to some degree a preventive but the entire problem is one of greater significance. Where do the thoughts that prompt an assassin to take life originate? With little doubt such thoughts prey upon the mind which absorbs and believes the teachings of propaganda against government. The right of free speech is traditional in America but concerted and well-directed effort must be made to prevent the spread of teachings which aim at the destruction of our fundamental principles of government.

MUNICIPAL BUSINESS

A correspondent this week takes exception to the views appearing in a letter from another correspondent last week in regard to the regulation of municipal expenditures by "business methods." Doubtless a municipality must be conducted on the basis of giving the taxpayer a dollar value for each dollar received. Waste, extravagance, indiscretion and other unbusinesslike practices, including that of "living beyond income" have caused financial distress to a number of municipalities of the State. Sound business principles of which just consideration of the rights and best interests of all is one of the chief fundamentals, when applied to municipal expenditures will lead to better government, of, by and for the people.

VINCENT M. TURLEY

Vincent M. Turley of 17 Linden pl., Brookline, died suddenly of heart failure while driving his car on Pond avenue, Brookline, on Wednesday. He managed to bring the car to a stop when he collapsed. He was rushed to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, but died before arriving there. He was born at Manchester, England, 55 years ago and came to this country with his family when a child. He entered the tailoring business established by his father at Brookline and became its head upon the death of the senior Mr. Turley. He was a charter member of Newton Lodge of Elks and had served as treasurer of the lodge since its institution 18 years ago. He was a well known fancier of dogs and had won many prizes with his Boston Terriers and French Bull Dogs.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters; and six sisters. His funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at St. Mary's Church, Brookline at 9 o'clock. A large number of Elks from Newton and other lodges will go in a body to the late home of Mr. Turley tonight and conduct the Elks services.

SCHOOL CHATS

An authoritative article each week covering important and interesting phases of public school organization and activity. Prepared under the direction of the School Department.

The Seven Cardinal Objectives

"This Commission, therefore regards the following as the main objectives of education: 1. Health. 2. Command of fundamental processes. 3. Worthy home-membership. 4. Vocation. 5. Citizenship. 6. Worthy use of leisure. 7. Ethical character." (Commission on the Reorganization of Secondary Education appointed by the National Education Association.)

This is the commonly accepted standard statement of the objectives in education. People see education from many different angles. They are apt to emphasize different values according to interests, prejudices or conceptions of life. No single statement of educational aims, therefore, will satisfy every citizen or parent. The objectives listed by the Commission, quoted above, have the merit, however, of being reasonably clear and definite. We shall use them for our purposes in "School Chats" more as an outline for convenient classification of the various services rendered by the schools.

We will remember, of course, that our school activities do not fall neatly into any one of these classifications exclusively, except perhaps in terms of the major emphasis given.

Health Education

The development of a health education program in the elementary schools of Newton was consciously undertaken in the fall of 1919. Health bulletins outlining a simple program for elementary grades were sent to principals and teachers from the School Department office. During the five years following, seven definite health education activities were developed and made a part of the program in this order: weighing and measuring of all children, serving of milk lunches, teaching of health habits, daily health inspection, correlation of health material with other subjects taught, special health classes, systematic health examinations. As our work progressed, the need for special health classes was eliminated.

In addition to these seven specific activities the following far-reaching health measures have come to form important parts of the health education program:

1. Physical education activities.
2. Arrangement of the schedule of the school day and conduct of the classrooms in terms of health.
3. Hygienic care of school buildings.
4. Classes for sub-normal children.
5. Sight-Saving class.
6. A study of the emotionally unadjusted child by the school psychologist and an interpretation of the child to the teacher and parent.
7. A special effort to develop among kindergarten and primary grade children basic habits of emotional stability. The mental health of the child is receiving attention on a par with our concern for his physical health.

The school health program has been developed with no thought of creating an idealism but rather with the thought of meeting the needs of the children in the schools of Newton. Next week we shall begin to describe some of our more important health education activities. (Reference: "A School Health Study of Newton, Mass." ## Under The Gilded Dome

Considerable interest was manifested this week at the State House in the hearings before the Ways and Means Committee on various proposals for reducing the salaries of State and county officials. Representative Albert F. Bigelow of Brookline, chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means, first spoke at the hearing when the hearings were opened on Tuesday morning. Mr. Bigelow predicted an increase of 125 per cent in the net burden on municipalities from the State tax on real estate even though all projected economies are incorporated in the State budget. He pointed out that this year's figure of $17,500,000, though possibly reduced by a transfer of $8,000,000 from the highway fund as proposed by Governor Ely would mean a net tax of $5,250,000 more than that of 1932. The State tax last year was $9,750,000 of which $5,000,000 was retained by municipalities out of gas tax receipts as reimbursement for work done on local highways. It will be impossible to make such a refund this year as the revenues of the Commonwealth have fallen off to such an extent that a large difference must be made up.

The problem as stated by Mr. Bigelow is to prevent the load of this additional five and one-quarter million upon the taxpayers. Colonel Robert E. Goodwin, a Concord selectman, representing the National Economy League and the local taxpayers association presented the opening arguments of various private organizations present supporting the recommended pay cuts. Harvey S. Chase, also representing the National Economy League stated that the cut is a necessity. Reginald Bird of Framingham said that small cities and towns have put economies into effect and are looking for the legislature to take the leadership to avert another Boston Tea Party. A number of other speakers prominent in taxpayers and real estate associations spoke in favor of the reductions.

The following day the opposition to reductions was led by Chairman Frank A. Goodwin of the Boston Finance Commission who charged the real estate men with profiteering and that the effect of the reduction would be negligible on the tax rate. He also claimed that the special committee on public expenditures had failed to make a proper study of prospective increase in the income of the State through the taxation of intangible personal property.

The Committee on Ways and Means is expected to report some salary bill next week but it is not known whether the bill to be offered first will call for a reduction of all salaries or only for salaries of members of the legislature.

But one roll-call was made in the House this week through efforts of those favoring the memorializing of Congress in regard to restoration of postal rates. The Committee on Constitutional Law reported unfavorably on three memorializing resolutions of which pertained to Congress, two of which pertained to the rate of the Boston Navy Yard. A motion was made to substitute the memorial on the former question and after considerable debate and a roll-call the effort was successful by a vote of 114 to 104. Newton's three Representatives, Baker, Brimblecom and Lufwiler voted against memorializing Congress. When the matter of the

Letters To The Editor

CITY EXPENDITURES

To the Editor:

I am one of the many who wait anxiously for the return of better times and therefore I am one of those interested in the letter in The GRAPHIC from Paul Harris Drake on the subject of city expenditures. Mr. Drake by indirection seems to claim that he knows a way of making things better by spending city money in a new way for he says: "If our elected officials cannot distribute prosperity under existing conditions why not let them step aside and give somebody else the opportunity?" This, I take it, means that Mr. Drake is a "somebody else" who knows the way to distribute prosperity.

Earlier in his letter Mr. Drake says: "Good government in these times demands new and more intelligent methods of raising money by taxation. Real estate is not the only source of community wealth. A more just distribution of the tax burden, and a larger willingness to tax so-called 'intangibles' and other 'hidden wealth' is necessary today."

"Therefore, this is no time for our elected officials to resort to 'business methods' in government, as business leadership was never more discredited or at a lower ebb than it is right now. The $190,000 which Mayor Weeks hopes to save our City by cutting wages means exactly $190,000 less purchasing power in the hands of Newton residents, employees and Newton business men."

To the statement that "there should be a more just distribution of taxes" I give a hearty "Amen" although Mr. Drake and I would probably disagree on the ways to bring about such a distribution. On some of his other statements I ask more light. Just how will Mayor Weeks' cut of $190,000 in Newton's wage bill decrease the purchasing power of Newton residents by $190,000? The $190,000 would come from taxes levied on Newton citizens. Does Mr. Drake claim that when Newton takes a dollar in taxes from him by so much increases the purchasing power of Newton citizens? Mr. Drake, a Newtonian, certainly has one less dollar to spend, how is the purchasing power of Newton increased by taking the dollar from Mr. Drake and giving it to another? Would Mr. Drake claim that by levying a tax of $100 on each one of the 50,000 or more in Newton and then paying the amount in wages that the purchasing power of the people of Newton as a whole could be increased by $5,000,000? If that be so why not do better still and levy a tax of $1000 on each individual, give Newton a purchasing power of $50,000,000 and make it a Croesus among cities?

What Mr. Drake has to say about the advisability of Newton not being too business like in the conduct of its affairs interests me. Sound business is based on the idea of getting a dollar of value for each dollar spent. Mr. Drake seems to think that a hard hearted rule for a city like Newton, would be have Newton pay for coal to heat its schools and buildings more than business men pay for coal, if Newton wishes to buy land would he have to pay more than the individual would pay, if Newton wishes to build would he have to pay more than similar buildings would cost individuals, would he have Newton employ more men than it needs and pay them more than they could earn working for any one else? And from where would the money to do all these things come? Is Mr. Drake, as a taxpayer, willing to pay two or three times what he pays now?

Until Mr. Drake submits a practical, workable plan for doing as he suggests I shall continue to be one of the many who are thankful that in Sinclair Weeks Newton has a mayor who is meeting city problems and making a record that is attracting notice throughout the state and the country. Would to Heaven we had more men of his qualities in public office.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

A certain chain store organization started selling cigarettes at cost. Other chain organizations, in the competitive field followed suit. Independently owned stores are thus forced to do likewise. Chain stores which sell merchandise at a loss, do so to lure customers with the expectation that they will buy other articles on which an appreciable profit is made. But, this way of doing business is ruinous and has contributed to no small degree in bringing conditions to the sorry state now existing. Persons who encourage this method of merchandising are not helping themselves. They save a few cents and eventually assist in creating an economic condition which deprives them of employment.

Last Saturday morning in the wee sma' hours a heavy snowfall started. In former years employees of the Street Department would have been ploughing sidewalks at 4 or 5 in the morning so that residents of this city could proceed to work, or to trains and cars without being compelled to struggle through deep snow. In recent years trucks pushing large plows have been sent out shortly after snow started to fall, to keep the streets clear for automobile traffic. But, these practices were not used last Saturday morning. Sidewalks on most streets, including the heavily traveled streets, were not plowed. The result was—that pedestrians had to laboriously wade through deep snow, missed their trains or electric cars, and got wet feet and colds. Streets, not cleared of snow, made automobile traffic hazardous. Scores of cars and trucks were stalled throughout the city during Saturday morning and well into the afternoon. Traffic blockades were numerous. Late in the morning city owned trucks, supplemented by about 35 hired trucks were at work plowing the snow; but not until great inconvenience had been caused to residents of this city who have not been accustomed to this sort of thing. Residents on streets which divide Newton and Watertown saw the unusual spectacle of trucks owned or hired by the latter town plowing streets before the Newton trucks appeared.

One prominent resident of Ward 7, in telephone conversation with us late Saturday morning said, "I have lived in Newton all my life; but, this is the first time I have been compelled to buy overshoes. The sidewalk on my street was not plowed this morning." This citizen resides on a main street. During Saturday, in addition to the employees of the Street Department who have been working regularly, the 150 employees laid off some weeks ago, were put to work clearing the snow off the streets. About 150 men from the lists of the Mayor's Relief Committee and the Welfare Department were also placed on this work, and eventually most of the streets, particularly in the business sections were well cleared of snow. But, this task should have been started early as it always was in past years. The Street Department is not to blame for the delay.

The Street Department won the approval of householders in Ward 1 by collecting ashes and rubbish on Sunday. This collection ordinarily would have been made on Saturday, but was delayed by the snowstorm.

Watson F. Baker, Jr., for the past 10 years manager of the R. C. Taylor Estate properties at Newton Corner has terminated his duties in this position. Mr. Baker made many friends in Newton through his genial personality and his disposition to cooperate with the business men of Newton Corner.

Now that short skirts, carmine lips, stockingless legs and other lures have ceased to attract attention, certain females are wearing coats and hats like those worn by men. If these women want to be real masculine, why don't they revive the habit common among many males in past years, and chew tobacco? Or the females with a yen for publicity might go to the other extreme and appear garbed in a costume including leg o' mutton sleeves and a bustle.

Serg. Richard Bannon of the Newton police is doing excellent work in prosecuting automobile drivers who operate cars recklessly. Other members of the force might well emulate him.

A large chain market at Newton has reverted back to conditions of a quarter century ago by keeping open Friday nights. This retrogressive practice, if continued, will cause other chain stores to do likewise and undo better working conditions which took years to attain. If the people don't want poorer working conditions added to the other evils of the depression, they should refrain from shopping on Friday nights.

Commonwealth ave. is the most imposing public way in the City of Newton. It is the pride of this community. On it is located Newton's new million dollar city hall and war memorial. A campaign is being waged now to protect Commonwealth ave. from the intrusion of business activities. Efforts have been made to bring about the removal of billboards located near the avenue. Despite all this, a couple of weeks ago, citizens were astonished to see located on the reservation in the center of the avenue two signs advertising houses for sale. One of these signs is located opposite Morton st.; the other opposite Cedar st. They are arrows, painted a vivid yellow, and despite their small size, they loom very conspicuously on the reservation, for the improvement of which the taxpayers of Newton paid many thousands of dollars last year.

When residents of Newton Centre observed the use of the avenue for advertising purposes, naturally they became indignant. A protest was made to Alderman Holden. Mr. Holden communicated with the contracting firm which is erecting houses on streets off the avenue which the signs advertise. He informed the persons comprising this firm of the protests against the signs and requested the removal of them. He received a reply that the signs had been placed on the avenue reservation after approval had been obtained from the Mayor's office, and that the argument had been used that the construction of the houses was providing work for unemployed. The signs were not removed.

The use of public streets in this city for the display of signs advertising houses for sale is a practice that has sprung up in recent years. Most of such signs have been arrows pointing towards houses on side streets leading off the streets where the signs were, or are located. The real estate owners who resorted to this method of advertising were not those who had been established in this city

On Wednesday, February 8th, the most interesting and comprehensive outline of the different phases of her work as director of the West Newton Women's Educational Club enjoyed an entertaining and instructive program, in the lower room of the West Newton Library.

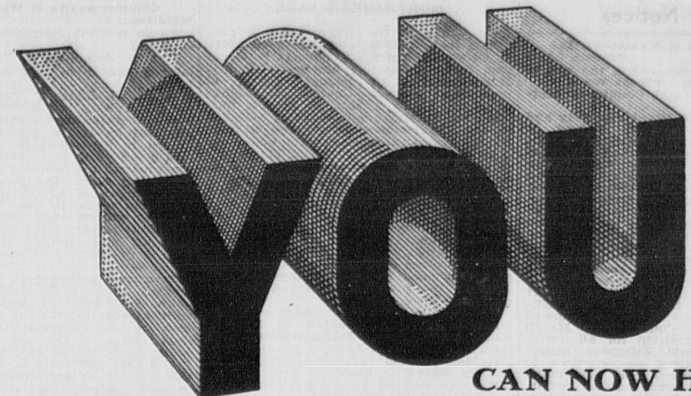

Mrs. Roy A. Stinson, chairman of the division, introduced Miss Joyce Barnett and Miss Janet Kent, who enacted a delightful little sketch entitled "A Midnight Fantasy." They were accompanied, at the piano, by Mrs. G. Howard Frost.

Miss Gertrude MacCallum gave a most interesting and comprehensive outline of the different phases of her work as director of the West Newton Women's Educational Club. She told, briefly, of the growth of the pre-school kindergarten, and of the clubs and classes for children of various ages, as well as of those which have been organized for women, showing the amount of construction work which has been accomplished during the six years of her connection with the Center.

Dr. Helen I. McGillicuddy, of the Massachusetts Society for Social Hygiene, addressed the group with reference to "Telling Children the Story of Life" and she handled the subject in her usual straightforward, clear-thinking way. The meeting was open to mothers, and an opportunity was given at the close of the address to ask questions, all of which Dr. McGillicuddy answered most helpfully.

Tea was served at the conclusion of the program.

Dr. Samuel M. Lindsey, of Brookline, addressed the Club on Friday, February 10th, on "The Art of Living Together." Many, he said, travel far on the highway of life and never learn the finest of all the arts—that of living harmoniously with their fellow-men. Also, a man may master the art of painting, of sculpturing, or of music, and still know little of the joy of harmonious living in his home, his church, or his club. He gave the following pointers: First, he said, seek to understand your neighbor; get his point of view. This means using your imagination. Second, idealize each other. Idealization is a divine gift, and on it are based friendship and love. Third, play the game of life on a fifty-fifty basis. Therein lies happiness. Fourth, cultivate a sense of humor. America today needs humorists more than prophets; and Fifth, learn how to relax. Find an island of silence in each day's program, and you

New Ideas Stimulated

by Business Depression

Trade depressions in the olden days often resulted in new and marvelous ideas to stimulate the trade. Stained glass sundials made in England in the middle of the Seventeenth century were the result of a depression in the art of glass painting.

The decline of the trade was due to puritanical objections to the employing of color in church windows. The poor glass painters found themselves with their small businesses ruined and out of jobs. Some, of course, were forced to turn to other lines for their living, but one at least became inspired with the idea of making painted glass sundials, and this led to others taking it up. They didn't become common, but they weren't due to their lack of beauty, but to their delicacy and the mortality in breaking.

"Black Magic" Practice

Popular in Old France

Charlatanism, sorcery and black magic concentrating in the terrific holocaust epitomized by the Marquis de Sade, carried on right into the bloody hours of the French revolution.

A French sorcerer, Catherine Mon-tespan, known as "La Voisin," was much patronized by the great ladies of de Montespan's time, with somewhat the same object as de Montespan, love, riches, avarice, hatred. La Voisin, clever woman that she was, soon got wealthy with her philters and witchcraft.

Her fame, of course, drew de Mon-tespan, who along with a few minor episodes such as black mass celebrations, got embroiled in the famous "affaire des poisons," in which Mon-tespan plotted with La Voisin to poison Louis XIV. The plot caused such a scandal that Louis closed the court.
La Voisin was executed early in the case and de Montespan got off through influence. Later, strangely enough, after she went into retirement, she became so good as to come near sainthood.

Madame de Montespan was quite a generous patron of letters and she set the styles for clothes as well as decoration. She was born in 1641,

Historic Old Devon

The English city of Devon might be called the cradle of American history, for though neither Columbus nor Cabot had any associations with that county, by far the greater number of explorers and colonizers of Northern America were born and bred there, and set sail from its ports on their adventures in the New World. The very countryside reflects in its contrasting beauties the imaginative genius and unyielding determination which were the chief characteristics of those old-time sea kings, for the coastline has a soft brilliance of contour and coloring which is in fascinating contrast to the wild magnificence of the breezy, rolling uplands and granite tors of Dartmoor.

Absolute Pitch

We hear of wonderful children, and adults, who are said to possess what we call the gift of absolute pitch, that is, the faculty of naming any note, high or low, which may be sounded on an instrument, and this without any previously sounded note to act as a guide, from which they might deduce the pitch of the given note. Naturally, there are many sceptics, as well as believers, that this is possible. The gift, (if anybody possesses it), is no sign of outstanding musical ability, although people look upon it as something little short of miraculous.

Backward People

The Samos are a tall, stout-looking people inhabiting the borders of Upper Volta and the French Sudan. Their language, apparently related to Siam, is little known. Marriage is restricted within the village, but must be outside the extended family group. In case of a divorce the children remain with the father. Family property passes to the brother of the deceased and personal goods, or individual property, is inherited by the eldest son. They are animists and perform seasonal sacrifices and worship sacred animals protecting the villages.

Humility Good or Bad

Humility is good when it stimulates, it is bad when it paralyzes, the active powers of a man. It may do either.
We have noble examples of humility as a stimulus; the sense of weakness making a man all the more ardent to use all the strength he has. But if conscious weakness causes a man to believe that it makes no difference whether he works or not, then his humility is his curse.—Phillips Brooks

Germans Sing in English

English is being taught Germans of Bavaria through singing. The Bavarian Broadcasting company is broadcasting simple folk songs in English, the teacher at the microphone singing slowly and asking listeners to repeat the song after him. Every word is explained by a rhyme of song. He is assisted by a sextette. The system of instruction was originated by a Bavarian schoolmaster, imported from China, who says it was success-

The Oldest Game

The use of the ball in one way or another for amusement is a very old idea, and baseball is a somewhat modern form, but the oldest game of all is said to be throwing dice. The ivory cubes have been found in the most ancient of tombs and are referred to in ancient writings.

Teams completed their schedule of games last week in the Massachusetts
Squash Racquets League. The Class
C Team defeated M. I. T. at the game

Graham Bates were the local win-

In the Class D match played at the Salem Squash Club, Salem won three to two. Arnold Barker, and Salem, 15-10, 15-9, 15-11; Arthur M. Jacobs, scored for the "Y."

Basketball

The "Y" Senior Basketball Team won its seventh straight game last Saturday night defeating the Chelsea
"Y" at Chelsea 31-27. The feature of the game was "Ray" Clarke's two baskets in the final minute of play to break a deadlock and sew up the game for Newton. Clarke and O'Neill were great defensively. "Andy" Kasper added a calming influence on the local team when he returned to the game, which the score was tied and going wild. The team play and shooting of Henry Mahler, Clarence Paterson, Esmond Bailey, and Arthur
Kohler were all factors.

The "Y" Senior team starts its bid for the Y. M. C. A. Championship to be held at Somerville and Lynn tomorrow night meeting Lynn "Y" in the first game at Somerville. If victorious the Team will play the winner of the Malden, Melrose and Quincy games. Surviving this game Lowell will have to be beaten before the final is played, with the surviving teams to fight it out.

Junior Basketball

The Massachusetts and Rhode Island Two State Junior Basketball Championship Preliminary for the Eastern Section was held at the Newton "Y" on Saturday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon game the Newton Juniors lost to Boston "Y" Juniors 32-31. The Boston boys were trailing by 8 points with two minutes to go when several fouls and a lucky shot, with two seconds to go, won the game for them and eliminated the local team.

In the evening game the Boston boys showed the results of their hard game of the afternoon and could not cope with the fresh Chelsea Juniors, losing 47-25. Chelsea plays the Lowell Juniors at Lynn in the semi-finals next Saturday afternoon and the winner will play the winner of the West Springfield-Providence game in the

Washington's Inventions

George Washington granted the first of the 1,800,000 American patents that have marked the inventive progress of the United States, according to H. H. Dyke, of New York.

On April 10, 1790, President Washington signed the original patent statute. In July Thomas Jefferson, Gen. Henry Knox and Edmund Randolph, sitting in solemn conclave, acknowledged the merit of the first application.

On July 31, Washington signed United States patent No. 1, granting exclusive rights to one Samuel Hopkins on a new method for making pot and pearl ashes.

Washington was the inventor of several improvements in the design of plows and also of the dinner caster, forerunner of the present day table device which holds small bottles or cruets.—Detroit News.

Barnum Once Jailed

Phineas T. Barnum, pioneer showman, who made the famous statement that “one is born every minute” in expressing his contempt of a gullible public, once served 90 days in jail for a libel printed in a paper in Danbury, Conn., which he edited. His showmanship activities began when he was but twenty-four years old. At that time he bought a colored woman reputed to be the nurse of George Washington and exhibited her as Washington's nurse. This venture yielded him a surprisingly big income and launched him on the career which made him famous the world over.

“Coral” Islands

The Great Barrier reef of Australia is 1,200 miles in length, and in places it is over thirty miles wide. It was owing to the thorough exploration of this remarkable reef that our present knowledge of corals is as extensive as it is.

Darwin's theory was that many islands were formed almost entirely by corals; and borings on some of the tropical islands have proved that he was right. On the island of Funafuti, coral reef-rock was found to penetrate to a depth of over 800 feet. The coral was first formed on the submerged mountain tops at the base of the sea, then as it spread and grew to reach the surface, sand accumulated, seaweed decayed, seeds were washed up by the tides, birds appeared, and eventually in the course of ages a beautiful tropical island was born.

From the French

The term cover charge is applied to the charge made for the privilege of occupying a place at a cafe or restaurant table. It is derived from the French word, couvert, which means dinner things, such as knives, forks and spoons, with which a place at a table is set.

About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

for many years. The old-timers, who grew up in Newton, never attempted this use of public streets. The real estate firms which placed the signs on the avenue were among the builders who placed such signs on other streets in this city within the past few years. If they are granted this privilege, every other builder and real estate owner in this city has the right to seek similar privileges; so have citizens endeavoring to advertise their particular line of business, or houses for rent. If the practice becomes common, it is not difficult to visualize the appearance of our streets, littered as they would be with advertising signs. We have not observed streets in other cities being used for this purpose. It surely doesn't augur well for Newton's future if the practice is permitted here. We doubt the legal right of city officials to grant permits for such advertising on public highways.

Rev. William J. Farrell loved Newton. It was his wish that his funeral be held from the church at West Newton where he served for nine years. It was his wish to be buried in Calvary Cemetery, the cemetery where most of the Catholic people of Newton are buried. The thousands who attended his funeral services, citizens of Newton from many walks of life, showed that the affection which Father Farrell had for Newton and its residents was reciprocated. And the hundreds of World War veterans, both of rank and file, who marched in the funeral procession, proved that the former chaplain's devotion to those who served with him had not been forgotten.

Hunnewell Club Players Stage Pulitzer Play

After an absence of several years from amateur theatricals the reorganized Hunnewell Club Players staged a huge success on Wednesday and Thursday nights before capacity audiences in the club hall in the presentation of “Icebound,” a Pulitzer Prize play of several years ago by Owen Davis, which was originally produced in New York. The performances presented under the direction of the entertainment committee mark the resumption of amateur dramatics by the local club and it is planned to present other plays at intervals in the future.

All members of the cast portrayed their various roles excellently with Clayton L. Holden, the wayward son, and Alva G. Law, in the leading roles, standing out most prominently. Other members of the cast included F. S. Bacon, Ethelwyn G. George, Jean Morrow, Miriam J. Grevat, Jack Perry, L. Linder Grevat, Donald J. Gibbs, Albert N. Walker, Gwendolyn C. Flather, and Mortimer L. Marlieb. Much credit for the success of the performance is not only due the cast but to the efforts of the coach, Mr. Marlieb.

The play concerned the doings of a large family of near and more distant relatives of a wealthy woman who was on the point of dying. The return of the wayward son, the mother's favorite, and the wranglings of the relatives as to the disposition of the woman's estate provided considered comedy. As the play progressed through its three acts romance developed culminating in a wedding, and the smoothing out of the family troubles with satisfaction to all.

Music was presented between the acts by Carl Peirce, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. Marie Chellus Phillips on the piano.

Frederick S. Bacon, chairman of the entertainment committee, served as business manager, and Ralph C. Emery and Edward E. Hayward, Jr., as stage managers. Mr. Emery and Mr. Hayward also had charge of all scenery construction with Mr. Flather as art director and Mrs. William H. McAdams in charge of properties.

casket. After the casket was cars in which rode the members of Father Farrell's family and other mourners. Then came a long line of veterans preceded by the band of Newton Post, American Legion. The owners of the casket proceeded over Washington and Waltham streets to Calvary Cemetery, Waltham, just beyond the Newton line. The prayers at the grave were read by Rev. Charles Maguire. A squad from Company C, 101st Infantry fired three volleys as the casket was lowered into the grave, and taps sounded by buglers stationed at remote points in the cemetery.

Recent Weddings

HALL—GOULD

On Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 14th, at four o'clock the home of Mrs. John A. Gould of 1206 Boylston st., Newton Upper Falls, was the scene of a quiet wedding when Miss Margaret Sylvester Gould became the bride of Mr. G. Bancroft Hall of Fitchburg. Miss Gould was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Gardner S. Gould and the ceremony was performed by Rev. G. Vaughan Shedd of the First Methodist Church.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe and mousseline de sole and carried red roses. She was attended by her niece, Miss Shirley C. Gould of Edgewood, R. I., who wore heliotrope crepe and carried violets.

In the place of Mr. Davis Hall, a brother of the groom who was unable to attend because of illness, Mr. Lawrence Barnard, a cousin acted as groomsmen.

The bride and her maid of honor entered the living room to the familiar wedding march from Lohengrin, and during the ceremony, from the piano in an adjoining room, the soft strains of Traumerel could be heard. Bows of red roses and freshia placed about the candle lighted rooms, carried out the accepted colors of St. Valentine's Day and the bride's cake was cut by the light of red tapers in silver candelabra. Upon this beautifully decorated cake, rested a perfect airplane in miniature, made by Master Rodman Finchbaugh in honor of the groom who is chief pilot and manager of the airport at Norwood, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall sailed from New York Wednesday for a month's cruise to the West Indies and South America after which they will make their home in Dover, Mass.

Stradivarius a Master

Antonio Stradivarius, famed the world over for his violins, was the first violin maker to really consider more than the surface appearance of his instruments. He gave a much thought to the finish of the interior as he did to the exterior and even more than that, he considered the wood which went into the violin.

Every instrument was shaped carefully, the wood skillfully cut and the varnish selected with unusual discrimination, the final product being absolutely in a class by itself, so far as tone was concerned.

His manufacturing, however, was not confined to violins, for he also made viols, guitars and mandolins. He was born in Cremona, Italy, in 1644, and died in 1737.

Tuesday evening, Feb. 14th, the Kiwanis Club of Newton held its Valentine party at the Charles River Country Club. It was attended by a large number of members and their wives.

After a delicious dinner, several well-known entertainers comprised a splendid program of interest and variety, including the following:

Vincent & Norma, a premier dancing team, combined attractive costumes and whirlwind dancing.

Raymond Pike, one of the world's best jugglers, did some amazing feats of acrobatic tumbling and tap dancing.

Bernice Jarnot gave several Oriental dances, modern waltzes and acrobatic numbers of the type that featured her work in the well-known “Vanities.”

Tuesday, Feb. 21, at 12:15, at the Charles River Country Club, ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs, the speaker of the day, will give an oration on George Washington. Always interesting, this meeting promises to furnish far more enjoyment than usual.

The owners of the school had complained that their students were prevented from sleeping by the noise made by the coasters.

It is alleged that he was the driver of a car which hit Mrs. John Connelly of 281 Lexington st., Auburndale, as she was walking on that street on Tuesday afternoon near the Waltham line. Mrs. Connelly was taken to her home where she was treated for an injury to her back and cuts on her hands. A witness of the accident obtained the registration number of the car. Inspector King and Special Officer Feeley of the Newton police went to McNeil's home when it was learned that the car was registered in his name. They waited outside the house until 2 a. m. Wednesday for McNeil to appear. Then, they were informed that he would appear in the court house later that morning, which he did. His case was continued until March 10.

Many Notable Guests In Capacity Crowd At Colorful Military Ball

Veterans of Foreign Wars and Company C, 101st Infantry
Hold Successful Affair in W. Newton Armory

A capacity crowd of about 1500 attended the first annual Military Ball under the auspices of Sergt. Eugene Joseph Daley, Jr., Post No. 2384, V. F. W. and Co. Co. 101st Inf. 26th Div. M. N. G. held at State Armory, West Newton, on Tuesday evening of this week. Several surprise novelties were seen during the evening the feature of which was a balloon shower which occurred during the dance number "Forever Blowing Bubbles." Three decorative baskets containing balloons were hanging from the roof of the massive hall, and, at a given time the baskets were tipped, causing the balloons to float over the dancers below, which was a very colorful spectacle. An exhibition drill was exemplified by the Bessie Edwards' Cadets which received tremendous applause.

A very colorful grand march took place, being led by Commander David L. Keefe and Mrs. Roy Adams followed by Captain and Mrs. George Henrikus and several other couples, including invited guests attired in snappy appearing evening clothes adorned with gold braid of National Guard Officers.

Invited guests included Commander Peter W. Pate; State Dept. V. F. W., Commander George Brassil, Middlesex County Council, William Mahony S. V. C. of Middlesex Co. "Phil" spends many of his days off "signing up" prospective members which is the real spirit to show.

Fined Ten Dollars For Back Talk

William R. McAdams of 36 Roslyn rd., Waban, was fined $10 in the Newton court yesterday for using insulting language to a policeman. Patrolman Joe Lyons told the court that young McAdams had called him a "thickhead" when he ordered the Waban man off the DeRusha property on Thursday morning, February 16. Lyons was on duty at the scene of the explosion and fire with orders to keep sightseers off the place while workmen were endeavoring to stop the gas leak from the street main. Lyons testified that when he ordered young McAdams and his brother out of the yard, the defendant threatened to have him removed from the force and remarked "I won't move for a thickheaded cop." Lyons arrested McAdams. The latter's attorney argued that when one is denied the privilege of referring to a policeman as a thickhead, he is depriving a citizen of the right of free speech. Judge Bacon placed McAdams' case on file after finding him guilty. McAdams refused to accept this finding and the fine was then imposed. He appealed.

Modern Novel Not Less Virtuous, Merely Different

West Newton

Miss Zona Gale, novelist and playwright, opening the second series of lectures this season at the West Newton Unitarian Church on Sunday evening, said that fiction has changed from idealism to realism and must be judged by a new set of standards. The old tests were founded on Puritan idealism and stressed honesty, modesty, sobriety and idealized charm. The new era of the novel conforms to modern fashions and views of life with directness of statement and frank representation of things as they really are.

Miss Gale maintained that the changed order, merely because it is different from the old, does not mean that it is less virtuous or inferior. "Dickens," she said, "was not read at court because his characters did not conform to the Queen's taste, and not so long ago the French novel was taboo." "The old standards, which were a hangover from Puritanism, regarded it as wrong to be caught doing anything which did not contribute to the earning of one's livelihood." The modern novel endeavors to give a complete picture of life and its characters as they are with all their vices and play set forth, as well as their virtues.

Miss Gale gave the following code of standards to which she feels the best of modern fiction conforms:

The author must be honest in his realism. He must make his characters and their reactions to situations true to human nature and to real life.

He must not drag in characters and situations which do not logically belong with the narrative. His story must satisfy reason.

A good writer does not seek to play up his own brilliance. He keeps himself in the background. "The best modern literature, with the exception of that produced by George Bernard Shaw, does not keep the author standing in the front door."

"If a book does not hold me spellbound with the promise of a vision of a new world, I do not read beyond the second page." "I cannot regard as good production a plot which picks up its characters like chessmen, places them on the board and then proceeds to move them in mechanical, unnatural fashion." "The author must identify himself with his character and situation, rather than confuse them with his own experiences." "The important things which make a novel or drama are those unsaid between the lines."

Miss Gale said that it is the business of the writer to interpret the situations and characters of everyday life by revealing their hidden meaning.

She closed with the statement, "The reader must share discernment with the author before literature can come into its own." "The true novelist goes forth to share and knows that which he has to share has to be good."

The next lecture of the series will be given on the evening of March 5th by Dahn Copal Mukerji, "The Supreme Interpreter of India" who appeared in the series last year.

Urges All Cities Adopt Newton Plan For Poor Patients

Miss Allen and Dr. Dalrymple
Address N. E. Hospital Association

In speaking last Friday in Boston before the New England Hospital Association, Miss Bertha W. Allen, Superintendent of the Newton Hospital, as retiring president, asserted that all cities and towns should adopt the plan followed in the city of Newton in paying for patients sent to their hospitals. While Newton and a few others pay the entire cost per bed per week, which last year was $6.25, many places still pay but the ward charge which last year in Newton was $2.50 per bed per week. Miss Allen urged the Association to use its influence to have the Newton plan adopted everywhere, on the ground that while direct appropriations for the benefit of voluntary hospitals are illegal, the Newton plan is legal and will, perhaps, save some institutions from closing their doors in the present crisis.

Miss Allen spoke in part as follows: "The necessity for Hospital Trustees and Executives to interest the City, Community and State officials in the need of their co-operation to the extent of their assuming the financial responsibility for the care of their indigent sick when cared for in a voluntary hospital. While a City may not be allowed to make a direct contribution from its funds to the deficit of a voluntary hospital, it is its right and privilege to pay the cost of the care of these patients. In many instances this would mean the actual preservation of a voluntary hospital. In 1931 one hundred voluntary hospitals closed their doors and in the first eleven months of 1932 162 more were discontinued because of lack of funds."

"Second: The need for all people interested in voluntary hospitals to use influence to have the available beds in such hospitals already in existence used for sick veterans rather than to build additional hospitals. By so doing the Government will be saved large sums and the voluntary hospitals aided financially and the veterans will be cared for in familiar surroundings and near friends."

"Third: The growing interest in group hospitalization or sick insurance."

When interviewed, Miss Allen said that the above plan does not cover many cases cared for each year at the Newton Hospital for which the hospital pays part or the entire cost of treatment in order not to pauperize the patient.

Dr. Sidney C. Dalrymple, Newton Hospital pathologist and Prof. of Pathology and Bacteriology at Tufts Medical School, also spoke before the Association on the work of the Newton Hospital. He outlined the "Five Year Plan" which has just been completed. He said the plan consisted in instituting clinico-pathological conferences twice a month and regular weekly morning clinics to replace the ward walks. He spoke in part as follows:

"At the present time there are ten staff meetings, 40 weekly clinics, and 22 Clinico-Pathological Conferences a year. The monthly staff meetings are purely scientific in nature. The business of the staff is in the hands of an executive committee. The program of the meeting is prepared by a member of the active staff and deals primarily with the current medical and surgical problems in the hospital. The discussion is opened by a member of the Consulting Staff or by hospital physician for which the hospital is paid. In this way the members of the staff are literally forced into the role of student and the consultant plays the part of teacher."

"The response of the staff members has been remarkable. The majority of the physicians attending the clinics have shown an entire change in their attitude towards scientific medicine. Their cases are now well studied; their therapy is rational as well as scientific and their interest in their patients' welfare compounded. These excellent results are to be directly attributed to the efforts the staff members themselves have made."

"May I suggest the following: 1. That all hospitals should be actively interested in the scientific development of their staffs, and that hospital executives devote more thought and planning to overcome the scientific deficits of their staff members. 2. That the Clinico-Pathological Conference is the keynote in post-graduate instruction. 3. That every hospital should hold bi-weekly Clinico-Pathological Conferences."

Aldermen Refuse Gas Permit To Newton Tire Co.

Board Backs Committee Despite Grebenstein Protest

The petition of the Newton Tire Company for a permit to install a 500-gallon gasoline tank and pump at the rear of 237 Washington st., Newton Corner, was turned down by the Board of Aldermen at the meeting on Monday night. This petition was given a public hearing at the Aldermanic meeting on Jan. 16. At that meeting Louis Feinberg of Chelsea, owner of the tire company, told the Board that he desired the tank and pump to supply gasoline for his automobiles, as he would effect a saving thereby in the purchase of gasoline. It was also stated that the gasoline would not be used in the tire shop.

A similar petition was entered by the Newton Tire Company last year. This petition received the O. K. of Fire Chief Randlett as to the location of the tank and pump and the contention that they would not constitute a fire hazard. Shortly afterward Chief Randlett changed his decision and disapproved of the petition. Mr. Feinberg then withdrew the petition. On this last petition Chief Randlett again changed his mind and approved the petition.

When Alderman Hawkins, chairman of the Licenses Committee, reported on Monday night that the committee had unanimously voted to give the petition leave to withdraw, Alderman Grebenstein of Ward 2 inquired why the committee had taken such action in view of the approval given by Chief Randlett. Alderman Murray of Ward 7 also made a protesting inquiry. Alderman Hawkins replied that the petitioners have had two fires in the store in recent years, and that the Assistant Chief of the Fire Department, Herbert Boothby, and his family reside in one of the six apartments of the Charlton Building, on the first floor of which the Newton Tire Company has its store. Alderman Grebenstein, who resides in Newtonville, continued to protest vehemently against the refusal of the Licenses Committee to grant the permit for the gasoline tank and pump at Newton Corner, although both the Newton Corner Aldermen on the committee had seen fit to recommend adversely on the matter after due consideration. Grebenstein said heatedly to Hawkins, "The Fire Chief has approved of this petition." Hawkins replied, "The Licenses Committee has unanimously disapproved of this petition after serious consideration."

Alderman Gallagher also joined in the protest against the action of the committee and moved that the matter be referred back to the committee for further consideration. Gallagher said he knew all about the fires referred to by Hawkins, and he had not had any knowledge that they were incendiary. He inquired why there had not been prosecution if the fires had been incendiary? Alderman Hawkins replied that he did not believe the fires were incendiary, but it did seem to show that there had been carelessness at the tire shop. The first of the two fires referred to occurred on June 2nd, 1930, late in the afternoon when the Newton Tire Company was located at 223 Washington st., in a one-story block of stores, the next building to the Charlton Block. This fire started in the cellar of the tire shop and was caused by an inflammable liquid igniting. This liquid was being used by Louis Webber of Chelsea, an employee of the tire shop, who was repairing tires. Webber was badly burned about the legs and was taken to the hospital. Hoseman Hurley of Engine 1 was overcome by smoke and also taken to the hospital. Three alarms were pulled for this fire and apparatus from Watertown and Wattham summoned to help the Newton firemen. The damage caused by this fire amounted to $14,487.

Following this fire the tire company moved to 237 Washington st., its present location. At quarter to one on the morning of Jan. 24, 1931, fire was discovered in the tire shop by a man in a taxi office located in the Charlton Building. He pulled an alarm from Box 15 while Patrolmen Marden and Holloran rushed through the three upper floors of the building arousing the families asleep in the apartments. These residents had to rush outdoors scantily clad. (Continued on Page 4)

Commonwealth Avenue Filling Station Hearing Brings Crowd to City Hall

Many Lawyers Take Part in Arguments Before Board of Aldermen—Nearly As Many Proponents as Opponents

The third public hearing on petitions of the Standard Oil Company and the Lincoln Realty Company to obtain a permit for a gasoline filling station at 552-564 Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre, was held before the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. The Aldermanic chamber contained the largest audience which has gathered there since the new city hall has been in use. One hundred and fifty citizens, (supposedly of Newton) occupied nearly all the chairs on the chamber floor and in the gallery. The hearing was characterized by the usual verbosity on the part of Herbert Parker, chief counsel for the petitioners, and by sharp interchanges of arguments between other proponents and opponents. Unlike the two preceding hearings on this matter, held last year, those in the audience favoring the petition, apparently nearly were as numerous as those opposing it, although Alderman Pratt expressed the belief that all of those present were not residents of Newton.

Mr. Parker was the first person to favor the petition. He commenced his argument at 8 o'clock and concluded at 8.55. His speech was largely a repetition of the arguments he had used at the two preceding hearings on this matter. He prefaced his remarks by saying that he deemed it necessary to cover the legal aspects of the case once more, because of the fact that several changes have been made in the membership of the Aldermen since last year and the new members should know his contentions. He said that the petitioners do not seek to undermine the zoning ordinance of this city, but merely want to invoke that part of it which makes allowance for the continuance of a non-conforming use which existed prior to the zoning of the city in 1922. He asserted that the locus in question has been used for a filling station and service garage since 1920. He referred to the argument of the opponents that if a station is established at the locus sought by his clients that it will mean a line of filling stations along Commonwealth avenue, and asserted that this is not correct, because such stations must be created, whereas the Socony station will only be a continuance of a vested right already in operation.

Alderman Grebenstein asked Mr. Parker if the petition is against the zoning ordinance of the city of Newton, and the attorney made a lengthy reply in which he quoted Sections 562 and 576 of the Zoning Ordinance to show that the petition is quite in accordance with the ordinance. Mr. Parker stated that it is planned to tear down all the stores in the block now on the property except the store at the east end of the block.

The second person to speak in favor of the petition was John V. Spaulding of 146 Langley rd., Newton Centre, who announced that he appeared as attorney for some of the abutters and for the Lincoln Realty Company, owners of the property. He said that the petition only asks for the continuance of an existing non-conforming use, that there is need of a filling station at this place, there being none between Lake street and West Newton, on the avenue. Mr. Spaulding said that the stores now on the property represent an investment of $68,000, have been idle because of the depression, are in poor repair, and that the filling station would be much better for the neighborhood. He commended the Aldermen for having granted the permit for the Willow St. filling station which he affirmed is anything but an eyesore, and said the objections to a filling station on the avenue locus would vanish after the station would be erected. He stated that he has lived in Newton Centre all his life and takes pride in maintaining the standard of the avenue. He asserted that the objections to the proposed station by abutting property owners has ceased, and that the backbone of the opposition consists of the same persons who urged the granting of the permit for the filling station on Willow st. He read a petition signed by a number of Newton Centre residents who favor the station, and he also read a letter from Sidney Von Loesbeck of 16 Chestnut terrace, an abuttor who formerly opposed the station, but now favors it. Alderman Pratt asked if the petition he read was circulated by the Standard Oil Company? Mr. Spaulding answered that he did not know, but assumed it was circulated by some resident of the district.

Former Alderman Silvanus Smith of Auburndale was the next to speak in favor of the petition. He said that practically all the abuttors and owners of nearby properties favor the station, which would be better than the stores now on this property. He referred to the opposition to the petition because it is alleged that if a permit is granted for the station it will mean that Kelsie Steves, who has conducted the automobile accessory store and sold gasoline at this locus for years, will be deprived of his livelihood. Smith said that Steves will be taken care of by the petitioners, given a square deal and an amicable agreement has been made between him and the petitioners.

Alderman Murray asked Mr. Von Loesbeck why he has changed his attitude on the station. The latter replied that the day after he had opposed the station at a previous hearing, he observed the filthy condition of the alley between his property and the stores now on the property in question, and he thought what a fool he was to oppose the wiping out of such a condition. He told of having appeared successively to the Newton Board of Health, Street Department and Fire Department in an effort to have the garbage and rubbish removed from behind the stores, and that he was shunted from one to the other by these departments. In a seemingly vicious circle. He said the Socony Company has agreed to arrange the lights and the pavement at the proposed station to cause him the least annoyance, and he asked "Is there a man here who will say that filthy stores are more desirable than an attractive filling station?"

John F. Cronin of 305 Commonwealth ave., a lawyer, furnished the fireworks of the hearing. He said that Mr. Parker had argued that the Aldermen have no discretion in the matter of granting the permit, but that Parker had not discussed the fundamentals of the question. Cronin argued that no part of the building has been used as a filling station in past years, that no station has been there as a matter of law, that mere pump on a sidewalk is not a structure, and that the law department of the city will so advise. He told of having lived on the avenue for 22 years, of the beautiful homes along it having been largely responsible for the tremendous growth of this city. He said the speculators who own the property have got stuck and want to unload on the Standard Oil Company. He said they deserve to get stuck, and that eventually nice residences will replace the present stores there. He asserted that nobody except the Standard Oil Company wants the station, and he asked Mr. Spaulding whom he represents? (Continued on Page 5)

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

TRACK TEAM TO CLOSE SEASON AT STATE MEET

The Newton high school indoor track team will close its season tomorrow afternoon at the Boston Garden in the annual State meet staged under the direction of the athletic committee of the Mass. State High Schools Association. The orange and black has had one of its poorest seasons in several years as the result of less veteran material and injuries to several promising competitors. Coach Don Enoch, however, has a few runners who will undoubtedly score in their favorite events and he also has a relay team that bids fair to capture first honors in the relay races. Brookline high, by virtue of its all-round balance, several individual stars, and its overwhelming triumph at the Andover meet, will rule the favorite in Class for the larger high schools. Medford, Lawrence, and Everett are other leading contenders, with Newton scoring a scattering number of points to finish about fifth in the team standing.

Captain Doug Sloane of Newton will be defending Class A 50-yard dash championship against such competitors as Ad Committee of Everett, James Johnson of Brookline, Ellsworth Roberts of Lawrence, Cado of Boston Commerce, and Mannix of Boston English. Sloane, who should be having his best year, is not up to his form of last year. His lack of form this season is due partly to the fact that he was ill with the grippe a month ago but the fact that he is active in student affairs and taking a heavy program of studies has handicapped him in his athletic endeavors.

Palmer York, in the hurdles, and Tom Fitzgerald, in the 1000, are others upon whom Coach Enoch can depend for points in tomorrow's affair. The Newton mentor, however, will probably have his 300-yard runners as much as possible in order to make a strong bid for relay honors. Sloane, York, and MacLellan will be three of the relay team, with either Gordon Wilkes or Louis Miller as the fourth member.

Newton Fifth at Andover

The Newton team placed fifth at the Andover interscholastic last Saturday with Brookline winning with 29 points, Lynn English second with 13, Medford third with 12, Lawrence fourth with 10, and Newton with 9. Newton's nine points were scored in the dash, hurdles and relay. In a blanket finish the judges gave Sloane a fourth place in the final of the dash and semi-final heats. The final of the dash was as close as could be anticipated with White of Worcester Commerce, Cady of Boston Commerce, Sloane of Newton, Jivellian of Malden, Johnson of Brookline, and Mannix of Boston English getting off their marks in an even start. Jivellian was a foot in front at the half-way mark but failed to hold his advantage as Cady, Johnson, Mannix and Sloane breezed into the tape. After considerable consultation the judges awarded the four places in that order. Bill Quigley of Newton won his heat but failed to qualify in the semi-finals.

In the final of the hurdles Palmer York of Newton and Ray Henderson of Medford staged a brilliant duel with the Medford lad nipping York in the final short spin from the last hurdle to the tape. Over the barrier the pair were even and a yard ahead of the other finalists, Wills and Joe Palmer of Lawrence. Russell Libcomb of Newton took second place in his first trial heat and second in his second trial heat but failed to qualify in the semi-final heat for second man which went to Wills of Lawrence.

The Newton relay quartet of Sloane, Miller, Wilkes, and MacLellan were clocked in the fastest time of the day of 2m. 24.3-5s, within three-fifths of a second of the record. The Newton team was gunning for a new mark but Palmer of Lawrence, a regular member of the quartet, hurt an ankle slightly in the hurdle final, and gave way to Wilkes. Wilkes ran a brilliant leg as the third runner, cutting down a Brookline lead of six yards and giving Dave MacLellan a seven-yard lead to work on.

All are cordially invited.

KEEP'S PACE WITH CATHEDRAL AT TOP OF CATHOLIC LEAGUE

Our Lady High's defending champions in the Greater Boston Catholic High School league basketball race won both its games this week to keep pace with Cathedral High of the South End in a tie for first place in the standing. One or the other is due to step out in front this afternoon in the most important clash of the season when Cathedral visits the Our Lady High gym in the second meeting of the two this winter. A few weeks ago Our Lady high played at the South End and lost a nip and tuck overtime struggle, the only defeat of the local five this season. Two weeks ago Cathedral was tripped up in a visit to St. Charles for its first defeat of the year and its first setback in twelve games.

Last week Friday Capt. Charlie Gallagher led his mates to a 66 to 17 victory over St. Mary's High of Brookline on the Our Lady High floor while Cathedral was turning back St. Clement's in a 48 to 17 game. In the local game Gallagher tallied 18 times from the floor and twice on foul tries for a total of 38 points. This scoring rampage gave him 66 points in two days for he had tallied 23 points the previous day in a game against Sacred Heart High of Newton Centre. Colantano, Our Lady guard, tallied 13 points against St. Mary's.

On Tuesday the Newton Champions, using several reserve players, won from St. Clement's by a 63 to 8 count while Cathedral, by topping St. Mary's 42 to 11. In the other league game of the day Immaculate Conception of Revere defeated Sacred Heart at Newton Centre 51 to 39. In the Our Lady-St. Clement's game Gallagher was again high scorer with 15 points with McCarthy at centre scoring 14 and Marino at forward 11. The present league standing:

OUR LADY HIGH	W.	L.	P.C.
Cathedral	10	1	909
St. Charles	8	3	727
I. Conception	7	4	636

NEWTON BLANKS ARLINGTON 4-0 IN FINAL GAME

In the closing interscholastic hockey league game of the season last Friday, with the exception of last night's play-off between Belmont and Melrose High, the Newton team blanked Arlington High 4 to 0. In another game the same afternoon Melrose blanked a stubborn team, and fighting Rindge team 2 to 0 to force the play-off with Belmont.

Despite the weakening of the Newton sextet through the loss of Warren Huston, who was leading his basketball team against Brookline, and Nate Sostillo, who was suffering with a bad tooth, Newton succeeded, with some aid from Arlington, in hanging up its fourth league win in seven contests. Arlington players inadvertently helped to beat themselves on two occasions when the puck glanced off skates into their own net.

"Bud" Manning tallied the initial Newton goal after nearly six minutes of play in the first period. Joe NEWTON—FOURTEEN OK

Green had worked the disc back of the Arlington net and Manning had entered into the scrimmage. His pass in front of the net was deflected by an Arlington skate into the cage. No scoring was done in the second stanza but Newton cut loose in the final period. Kevorkian tallied when his shot from scrimmage was deflected by another Arlington skate into the cage. Teddy Johnson tallied the next on a long solo dash through the Arlington defense and Manning set the count at 4 with a drive past the Arlington goalie after taking a pass from Kevorkian.

The final league standing:

	W.	L.	Pts.
Belmont	6	1	13
Melrose	6	1	13
NEWTON	4	2	9
Medford	3	3	9
Camb. Latin	3	3	7

Tells Rotarians About Russia

"The young people in Russia are very enthusiastic about the new regime," said Julius Lucht, Newton librarian, at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club on Monday at the Brae Burn Club House, when he described his impressions of the country of the Soviets during his trip last summer. Mr. Lucht gave a very interesting account, with delightful touches of humor, of his visit to Warsaw, Kief, Odessa, Kharkof, Moscow, Leningrad and their environs. It was clearly evident to Mr. Lucht that the Russian plan of a new social order was to be obtained through a development of the youth of the country. He told of the welfare work among the children; the villages, where thousands of boys and girls lived the communal life. The religious devotion, the speaker thought, was on the wane, partly because of the rearranged five-day labor week with the sixth day as a day of rest and recreation, and partly on account of the many religious sects some of which are laboring under the guilt of past atrocities. The entire country is being industrialized and prepared for national defense. It was the belief of the speaker that Japan would have made further invasions into Manchuria this past year if the New Russia had not been so well martialized through industry.

SAYS TECHNOCRACY ATTEMPTS TOO MUCH

"Technocracy attempts to go too far into the future in its prognostications," said Prof. Fred M. Smith of Harvard School of Education, in speaking before the Clavin Club of the Newtonville Methodist Church on Friday evening. "It is all right to study the past and to survey the present to discover our condition and to interpret it in terms of what has happened in the past, but when it attempts to go far into the future and to definitely predict what will happen many years from now it is attempting the impossible. There will always arise too many unknown factors to throw the calculations off."

Prof. Smith maintained, however, that Technocracy has come to stay and can not be burlesqued off the stage. He also believes that many of the conclusions as to the possibilities of machine accomplishments are not over-stated, and that the time should come when man will do most of his work mechanically with little effort on his own part and that society in general, instead of the favored few, will reap the benefit in shorter hours and weeks of labor and in higher levels of living.

All this will come about, he believes, not as a result of any revolutionary upheaval, but as the result of a steady process of evolution which is constantly taking place and has been for the past hundred years.

Prof. Smith's criticism of the work of the technocrats was chiefly that they have made many striking statements which may be little better than half truths. They have given out newspaper releases based on insufficient study, or going farther than their facts would warrant, in order to catch the public ear.

MRS. BOOTH GIVES TREASURE TEA

Mrs. Thomas B. Booth of Gibbs st., Newton Centre, entertained the Wednesday Club at a unique Treasure Tea on Friday. Each guest brought some special personal treasure and the resulting exhibit was most interesting. Among the objects prized for their antiquity as well as beauty were quilts, rare lace, old jewelry, including hair rings, embroidered, petit point, and bead work; miniatures and fragile Valentines, linens woven on hand looms, a tablecloth commemorating King George's coronation, a blue homespun coverlet as firm and bright in color as the day its creator wove in the date and her own initials as the finishing touch.

Another interesting feature was the variety of women's avocations which the exhibit revealed. Two artists displayed creditable work; one member of the club paraded a full-length knitted coat of exquisite workmanship; another showed a group of beaded bags, another specimens of filet lace, while still another explained the intricacies of book binding and tooling.

School Heads To Attend National Convention

Newton will be represented at the convention of the Department of Superintendent, of the National Educational Association, to be held in Minneapolis, one week, starting tomorrow, by Superintendent John Lund and the assistant superintendent, Miss Callista Roy.

The meeting will be attended by thousands of educators, many of whom are school superintendents. Members of the Department are in charge of the education of 20,000,000 school children. The decisions of this convention will influence the educational programs of the school systems of the nation.

The Minneapolis program will be built around the theme "New Frontiers for American Life." Well known economists, university and college presidents, scientists, professors of education, superintendents, and teachers will discuss the relation of the present economic crisis to the schools and society, the responsibilities it places upon the schools, and the relation of education to the needs of a changing world.

A FIRST STEP

Prospects of the first steps toward reductions in State expenses were enhanced this week when the House of Representatives acted favorably upon bills abolishing six divisions and the repeal of the law requiring psychiatric examination of prisoners. At various times the six divisions which will be abolished on April 1st upon the expected concurrence of the Senate and the Governor, have proved their worth. Economy in government is almost universally endorsed as a principle but great difficulty arises when specific reductions are proposed. Supporters of the various interests wherein it is proposed to make a saving are sometimes aggrieved and aghast that they should be affected. Their usual plea is to have the economy effected at the expense of someone else. To be genuine a desire to economize must entail sacrifice upon the part of all.

Aldermen Refuse Gas Permit To Newton Tire Co.

The damage caused by this fire was $1818 and the supposed cause was spontaneous ignition of floor boards behind a steam boiler.

Alderman Gallagher then appeared to have definite knowledge of all the details, as he expressed doubt as to whether or not Assistant Chief Boothby resides in the same building where the tire shop is located. Mr. Boothby has resided there for over 20 years. Gallagher then inquired of Hawkins, "Whose recommendation are we going to take, that of the Assistant Chief or his superior?" Alderman Hawkins answered that the committee believed it should consider the opinion of the man who resides in the building involved. Assistant Chief Boothby had protested as a citizen and a resident at the locus, not in his official capacity. Alderman Grebenstein argued that the pump and tank would be located at the rear of the building and no danger would be caused. Alderman Sprout of the committee, who opposed the petition, called attention to the fact that many automobiles are parked in the yard at the rear of the Charlton Building where the tank and pump would be located. He also called attention to the fact that the cars of the petitioner, who has resided in Chelsea, are not garaged at the locus where the tank and pump are desired.

By a vote of 14 to 6 the Board sustained the Licenses Committee and refused the petition. Those voting against the committee included Aldermen Floyd, Grebenstein, Gallagher, Holden, Hutchinson, and Murray.

VAYA CON DIOS (Go With God)

(To the memory of Father William J. Farrell)

With the Field Artillery, the Infantry, and the Heavy Artillery, too! The "Fighting Bishop" led the way, wherever lay work to do. To save a soul, to die a hero, he'd be there with a smile. Or grab a pack, and call to Jack, "Come on, just one more mile!"

The wounded cried, upon the side of a blazin' hot old hill. "Water! For God's sake, water! Ah, thanks, it's Father Bill!" The Sign of the Cross, a mumbled word, that sounds as if in prayer; On hill or dale, though lights grew pale, HIS calling found him there!

He'd push a wheel when a driver's squeal "sped-off" from a quagmired truck; He'd push and cuss amid the fuss, and wallow in mud and muck; Caissons would roll, the front their goal, the "padre" too, on mission To bow the head, or break HIS bread . . . or handle ammunition!

He'd loan you dough, or start a show, or . . . box a bout with you; Your Credo? . . . Didn't matter be you Gentile or a Jew! Upon his coat, from times remote—two crosses—decorations: "For Valor—Pour Merite" the text; the gift of grateful Nations.

L'Envoi

A muffled beat, the tramp of feet, an "Ave" o'er a sod; A bugle note, a choking throat . . . "Amen" . . . and Go With God!" EDWIN J. "TED" NOYES, Formerly 104th Infantry, Yankee Division.

About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

Charlie Schwab the steel magnate, is an optimist. He believes that something will "happen" to end the long drawn out depression. This former "great", of American industry, isn't very definite. He certainly does not offer any constructive suggestion. Charlie must have read about the Lord sending down manna from the heavens and he expects another miracle to happen.

Incidentally, what has become of all our efficiency experts? The wise guys who with the aid of charts, statistics, psychology and hokey used to profess to get double production with half as many employees in the boom years preceding 1929? What are these intellectual giants doing to help end the depression? Many of them are included in the ranks of the unemployed.

A real lashing with a heavy whip would take the bravado out of Mr. Zangara, the foiled would-be assassin of President-Elect Roosevelt, and make him less of a hero with other fanatics of his type.

Senator "Hooley" Long.

Alderman Norman Pratt was sceptical at the meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night regarding the residence of many of those who attended the hearing on the petition of the Standard Oil Company for a permit to start a station on Commonwealth ave., near Chestnut terrace. Mr. Pratt believed some of those who voted when a showing of hands was called for, did not live in this city. He may have been right; he may have been wrong. But, unless each person voting at such a hearing is made to announce his or her name and address, for verification purposes, these showings of hands to ascertain public sentiment are farcical. Under the present method a hearing could be easily packed with outsiders, or persons residing in parts of the city remote from that affected by the hearing.

SCHOOL CHATS

An authoritative article each week covering important and interesting phases of public school organization and activity. Prepared under the direction of the School Department.

HEALTH EDUCATION (NUMBER 2)

Weighing and Measuring of Children

One of the very important school health activities is the weighing and measuring of all school children in the elementary and junior high schools. Because all persons, whether children or adults, are interested in the problem of gain or loss in weight, the weighing of children regularly by the classroom teacher is a valuable activity upon which to base health teaching. Children are measured three times a year, in September, February and June. They are weighed every month. Emphasis is placed upon GAIN because regular gain in weight in a growing child is one of the indications of health. The average gain for children of school age has been found to be from half a pound to a pound a month.

Health record cards are sent home each month. Some cause much gratification to children, parents and teachers, while others stimulate increased effort in the removing of all physical defects and in helping to form better habits of rest, cleanliness, food and play. In individual cases this health record card, bringing the school and the home into closer cooperation, has helped in the study of the child and brought about earlier medical attention, which has been to the child's great advantage.

An Educational Procedure

The practice of weighing and measuring children in the classroom by the classroom teacher is essentially an educational procedure. It should not be confused with the weighing and measuring used by the nurse and the doctor in the diagnosis of physical condition, although the teacher's weighing, if accurately done, may be used as a means of bringing to the attention of the physician those children who do not gain.

In 1919 about 24.9% of all our elementary school children were found to be more than 10% below the then accepted standard for their age and height. They were not growing as they should and this not because of poverty or poor conditions, because many of our under weight children came from the most prosperous part of our city. Six years later, as a result of intensive health teaching and close cooperation in that teaching by home and community, this percentage was reduced to 4%. Since that time the percentage has varied from 15 to 10% in September to 4% in June. A recognized medical authority has said, "It may be that Newton, thru its health work, has caused to emerge from its underweight group all children that can emerge through education."

Mid-Morning Milk Lunches

Milk should be included in the diet of all children because it is needed for the development of teeth and bones. The serving of a mid-morning lunch of milk and crackers is a valuable health activity in that it furnishes a real life situation thru which children can be taught to drink more milk and enjoy it. It is important for educational as well as nutritional purposes. It is generally believed that the mid-morning lunch lessens fatigue so that time and inclination for work are increased.

Milk served in our schools is pasteurized. It is served at a palatable temperature in half-pint bottles with straws. With the milk are served salty or whole grain crackers because they require chewing, and are not sweet. The ordering, distributing and serving of the milk is made a civic activity carried on by the older children. Cleaning and opening of bottles is made a telling lesson in sanitation. Children are helped to establish the habit of washing their hands before partaking of the school lunch in so far as the school provides the facilities, including warm water, soap and towels.

The mid-morning milk lunch is offered at cost to all children. Certain funds are available to provide milk to children who need it and are unable to pay for it. The large numbers of children who have this lunch each morning evidences a recognition by parents of the need for, and value of, the service. There is undoubtedly a close relationship between this fact and the splendid results shown over a period of years in the weighing of children.

Next week we will describe the teaching of health habits and attitudes.

Under The Gilded Dome

Governor Ely addressed a joint convention of the House of Representatives and Senate on Monday of this week in the Chamber of the House recommending the passage of a resolution calling a constitutional convention to act on the question of the ratification of the repeal of the 18th Amendment. The Governor's recommendations would have 166 delegates to the conventions, each pledged either in favor or opposed to ratification. Sixteen of the delegates would be elected at large and ten from each of the 15 Congressional districts.

The message was immediately referred to the Committee on Constitutional Law which held public hearings this morning as to the various questions involved regarding the holding of the election, the date, the number of delegates, the pledging of the candidates and such related questions. There is a general opinion that no time will be lost in holding the election in an effort by leading opponents of prohibition to have Massachusetts the first state to ratify the proposed amendment for repeal.

At the session of the House of Representatives on Monday following the convention a report of the Committee on Rules giving leave to withdraw on a petition to investigate telephone rates the House overturned the report and substituted the bill by roll-call vote of 112 to 95. Representatives Baker, Brimblecom and Luitwieler voted against the investigation. Similar measures calling for investigations of rates of gas and electric companies which had been given leave to withdraw by the same committee were adopted by the house on a roll-call vote of 83 to 71. The measures were referred to the Committee on Ways and Means in order to provide funds for the investigations. Whether these bills will eventually be adopted by both branches of the legislature and signed by the Governor is considered doubtful.

As Wednesday was the holiday no sessions of the legislature were held. Governor Ely, as customary, held the annual public reception in the Hall of Flags where he and Mrs. Ely shook hands with 8049 men, women and children. It was the largest number to greet the Governor since he took office.

First economy measures were put through the House yesterday afternoon when seven bills reported by the Ways and Means Committee calling for the abolition of six divisions, and the repeal of the law requiring psychiatric examination of certain prisoners were sent to a third reading. The abolition of these divisions was recommended by the joint recess committee on public expenditures and also by the Governor in his inaugural address. Only one of the measures went to a roll-call vote after some debate with abolition of the division in question, that of Necessaries of Life, being favored by 116 to 95. It was the first real Republican victory since the legislature convened seven weeks ago. Representatives Baker, Brimblecom and Luitwieler voted for abolition of the division. Other divisions which will be abolished should the Senate concur are the Division of Metropolitan Planning, Division of Smoke Inspection, Division of Ornithology. The other two economy measures were the abolishment of the Massachusetts Industrial and Development Commission, which will be incorporated with the present office of Director of Parks and the office of Director of the Division of Forestry. The entire cost of these several divisions is estimated at about $175,000 not all of which will be saved as in a number of instances some of the employees will be transferred back to their original departments which will handle the necessary work merely killing time. You will observe all sorts of designs on a pad of paper or even on a tablecloth. Circles, triangles, pictures and whatnot. All indicates the impatience of the individual.

What am I going to do about it? Not a thing! As to my opinion of what it means to the world I can only answer with an appropriate story. It was one of those glorious Summer evenings, just after dinner, when all were gathered on the front veranda of a seashore hotel. Among the guests was a wealthy dowager, who sat rocking a capacious armchair. Seated nearby was an eminent physician, noted as a nerve specialist. This man is known throughout the country. His fame for cures is brilliant and so is his reputation for blunt speech.

On this occasion the great nerve specialist watched the dowager rocking away. Finally, he said to her, "Madam, the cause of your nervousness is plain to me. You should have changed your stockings before dinner." The dowager received advice for which she would have been obliged to pay at least $50 in the doctor's office. Nevertheless she didn't seem the least bit grateful, but glared at the doctor, jumped angrily and went inside.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 26. Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text-book, "Wearing in part a human form (that is, as it seemed to mortal view), being conceived by a human mother, Jesus was the mediator between Spirit and the flesh, between Truth and error. Explaining and demonstrating the way of divine Science, he became the way of salvation to all who accepted his word. From him mortals may learn how to escape from evil."

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

The flowers that bloom in the Spring, tra la, may have nothing to do with the case, but they'll be welcome, even without the tra la.

It Happened in Newton
A lot of people say things which they do not mean. It's not so terrible, either. More or less customary. No harm is really done but overstatement, for that's what it really amounts to, is a bit of a habit with many of us.

"I'll bet you a million dollars," is the way an exceedingly confident person may express his sureness of the existence of a fact. No one expects any such wager to be posted. It is merely taken as an example of the person's belief in the certainty of his statement.

You'll find a man telling of his trip to a distant city. He is asked how he liked the place and replies, "I wouldn't take it as a gift." More extravagant language. He'd be grateful for any part or parcel.

Right here in Newton I heard a man caught up by another for one of those rash statements. Said the first man, "I think so much of my friend that I'd cut off my right arm for him."

"If you did," the second man retorted, "what would your friend do with it?"
There was no reply.

Why People Fidget
Long ago it used to be said that people were fidgety. More recently they are described as having "the gitters" or the "heeble-geeblies." I think "fidgety" will last, while the others will pass along as forgotten slang. Seemingly like a more polite word and doesn't convey as serious a state of affairs.

There are different symptoms of the fidgets. The first that occurs to me is the nice old lady, who, disturbed by some trifling incident, starts to rocking her chair. Soon she moves it faster, probably because she is steamed-up over something, and finally she gets to going very rapidly. The whole house knows it by this time.

Another thing is trotting the feet. This is most frequently done while waiting at the end of a telephone line for someone to answer. Young and old soon get into the habit. Sign of impatience, I suppose.

Then there is the nervous person who is bound to mark things with a pencil. This is done while waiting or talking or merely killing time. You will observe all sorts of designs on a pad of paper or even on a tablecloth. Circles, triangles, pictures and whatnot. All indicates the impatience of the individual.

What am I going to do about it? Not a thing! As to my opinion of what it means to the world I can only answer with an appropriate story. It was one of those glorious Summer evenings, just after dinner, when all were gathered on the front veranda of a seashore hotel. ### "Admission Free"

Regardless of prosperity or depression or a state of affairs that may be described as betwixt and between, you will invariably find men and women who are ready to attend free shows. Possibly that is not a dignified way in which to describe proceedings before a court of law or a legislative body or the like. But nothing disrespectful or disparaging is intended. Those who crowd the spectators' benches often have no other amusement.

Everybody admits that there are things which take place in temples of justice and halls of legislation which, if they had an opportunity, they would like to witness. But they're too busy to give the time to it. They read of the crowds who "clamored for admittance" and wonder who they may be.

These Winter days the number of spectators in courts, State Houses, city halls, etc., is greater than ever. For the most part they are "regulars." I am told. It seems that many of the unemployed recently forced into that position are still looking for work. They haven't settled down to loafing as have those who show up day after day in the court house or legislative halls. Many of these "regulars" watch the daily newspapers and keep track of promised sensations. They're early on hand and insist upon getting the best seats available.

I personally have no objection to offer. The buildings must be well heated and certain areas set aside for spectators. It doesn't make much difference who gets the benefit of the so-called entertainment, the seating space. And it's a good refuge from the cold.

Jones as director of sewing, and Mrs. Thomas Weston, chairman of a committee who will provide a luncheon to be served at 25 cents. It is hoped that many Club members will be interested in continuing to assist in this worthy cause. The March dates for Mrs. Claude U. Gilson's interesting lectures on Current Events will be March 3rd and 17th, at 10:30 a. m., at the Unitarian Church, West Newton. These two lectures will complete the course of ten lectures.

State Federation

CLUB INSTITUTE. Club Finance is the topic for discussion at the next Club Institute, to be held on Thursday, March 2nd, from 10:30 to 12:15 o'clock, in the Auditorium of the Boston Y. W. C. A., corner of Stuart and Clarendon streets.

The Club Institute committee, of which Mrs. George A. Mellen is chairman, is offering another avenue of assistance to clubwomen who desire advice on many matters of club management, in holding a meeting on the third Thursday of each month, at State Headquarters, 687 Boylston street, Boston, to which interested club women are invited. Questions of club management are considered quite informally.

YOUTH CONFERENCE. Notable speakers will appear before the fifth Annual Youth Conference, sponsored by the American Home division at the Hotel Statler, Boston, on March 9th and 10th, with Mrs. Norma S. Hastings, chairman, in charge. Various phases of homemaking will be featured, such as Laws that Safeguard the Home and Family, Safety Education, Artistic Planting of Home Grounds, Problems of Modern Life, Music in the Home, Keeping the Normal Child Normal, Moving Pictures and Our Children, Mental Hygiene, Vocational Guidance, and the Technique of Mother Story-Telling.

Parker, director of Community Organizations of the American Social Hygiene Association, will be luncheon speaker on the first date, with the subject "Guidance of Adolescent Development." Dr. Stanley Ross Fisher, graduate of Yale, and a speaker greatly in demand at college and preparatory schools on problems of modern youth, is luncheon speaker on the second date with the subject "The Recovery of the Moral Emphasis in American Education—the Task of the Home, the Church, and the State."

As reservations must be made before March 5th, the idea of the scope of the Conference is given early, so that all interested clubwomen—and any woman is privileged to attend—may arrange for registration. Registration fee is 50 cents; luncheon tickets are $1.50 for each day. These are in charge of Mrs. Dwight R. Clement, 1 Harvard street, Wellesley.

RADIO. March 4th has two interesting discussions featured for the broadcast over WBZ at 11:30 o'clock: "The Best in Pictures," by Mrs. Oscar Blaisdell, chairman of Moving Pictures of the State Federation; and "The Youth Conference," by Mrs. Norman Hastings, State chairman of the American Home, Muriel Blanchard, of Brockton, Violinist and Soprano singer, and Elsie Anderson, Pianist, will give the music of the half-hour; and the director who will tell of "Working Together in Progress" will be Mrs. E. ART LECTURE. The last lecture of the series being sponsored by the Art Division of the State Federation, at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, will be conducted on March 15th instead of February 15th, as was announced by Mrs. Roy C. Baker, State Art chairman.

The subject of this final lecture will be "Costume," with a special exhibit accompanying the address, and, if attendance warrants, tea will be served in the Tapestry Hall. Proceeds of this series are to be presented to the Museum Educational Fund.

Reservations for the Tea should be made with Mrs. Herbert Stephens, 347 Mystic street, Arlington, the cost being 75 cents. Admission to the lecture, without the Tea, is 35 cents. Holders of $1.50 tickets are entitled to attend the Tea.

OTHER ART MATTERS. The State chairman urges all club presidents or Art chairmen to send the names of hand-craftsmen, mentioning master-craftsmen, to Mrs. E. H. Hildale, 2 Hampton road, Brockton, or to the chairman, Mrs. Roy C. Baker, for a directory of craftsmen being compiled by the State Art division. This directory is part of a plan for the benefit of the craftsmen and of industry and business, under the supervision of John E. Alcott, supervisor of Vocation Art Education in Industry and Business, of the Massachusetts State Department of Education.

Newton Clubs will be glad to know that the Penny Art Contest is to be sponsored again this year, for one of their number has captured prizes each year in this contest, and it would be delightful to have them do so again. Only clubs which adopt the Penny Art Plan are eligible. All reports must be in by March 1st, and three prizes will be awarded to clubs doing outstanding work for art and their community: 1. To the club of 400 members or over; 2. To the club of 200 members up to 399; and 3. To the club of 10 members up to 199.

Another interesting project of the Art division is an Art Appreciation Contest for School Children in the Eighth Grades, printed material explaining the rules of methods of which may be obtained from Mrs. Baker, she announces. Cooperation and approval of the Superintendent of Schools, and of the Art Supervisor and Eighth Grade teachers must be secured. Mrs. Frederick G. Pennock, 6 May avenue, Braintree, a member of the Art committee, is in charge of this School Art Contest. She will be glad to answer all questions. All entries must be in her hands by May first.

Community Service Club of West Newton

At the meeting of the Community Service Club of West Newton on the afternoon of Wednesday, February 15th, the vice-president, Mrs. Austin H. Decatur presided, and introduced Mr. C. Hassler Capron, who spoke briefly in behalf of the Boy Scouts, for their support and attendance at the forthcoming Boy Scout Exposition. Mrs. Decatur gave a notice of the Girl Scout Twenty-First Birthday celebration on March 12th, and of the Education Exhibit at Statler Hotel on February 24th, of which a Club member, Mrs. Elmore I. The program of the afternoon opened with a group of four enjoyable numbers by the Club Chorus, with Mrs. Marion Kingsbury directing, and the president of the Club, Mrs. Frank S. Tower, as accompanist, which added much to a delightful afternoon.

The much anticipated pleasure of the Club in the presentation by Hortense Creede Rallsback of Rostand's romantic drama, "Cyrano de Bergerac," as one of the outstanding programs of the year, was fully realized. A large and appreciative audience of Club members and guests gave evidence of the delight of her fellow Club members in an enthusiastic welcome and sincere applause. A pleasant social hour followed the program. Tea was served, by a committee, headed by Mrs. Clifford M. Brewer, with Mrs. George T. Lane and Mrs. Holcombe J. Brown as hostesses at a table made beautiful with tall yellow candles and flowers in harmony. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Bencks, with the Misses Harriet Bergonzoni, Mary Jane Dockstad, Harriet Hadd, Betty Harris, Betty Mills, Marilyn Taintor, Gertrude Welch, and Jeanne Wolley assisting.

Refused Use of Warren School

At the meeting of the Newton School Committee on Monday night the petition of the Elsie Janis Drum Corps for the use of the Warren Junior High School twice a month for rehearsals, was refused. In an effort to obtain a favorable decision from the committee, Mrs. Mildred McNamee of West Newton, commander of the corps, and her husband, George McNamee, the only male member of the corps, attended the meeting and pleaded unsuccessfully.

The committee had taken the stand that this drum corps, which is sponsored by the V. F. W. Post of Needham, is not officially affiliated with the Newton Post, and that already the use of a Newton school building had been given to the women's auxiliary drum corps of Newton Post, American Legion. In reply to this it was argued that the Elsie Janis Drum Corps is not officially affiliated with the Needham Post and that of its 23 members, 20 are residents of this city. Chairman Tracy of the committee stated that he believes schoolhouses should not be used as clubhouses. Other members objected to the growing use of school buildings by organizations for rehearsals and other purposes. Supt. of Schools Lund expressed his opposition to the use of schools by definitely private societies.

The Women's Overseas League of Boston was also refused the use of the high school hall for an entertainment on the ground that it is not a Newton organization. The use of the Warren school hall was permitted to the band of Newton Post, American Legion for rehearsals.

Com. Ave. Filling Station Hearing Brings Crowd

David Rubin of Brookline, treasurer of the Lincoln Realty Company, owners of the property, suggested that if Cronin is so civic-minded, he ought to buy the property. This suggestion met with applause from many in the audience. Cronin dared anyone in the gathering to arise and give good reasons why the station permit should be granted. None responded, and applause greeted Cronin's defy. Edward O. Proctor of Leeson lane, representing the Newton Centre Improvement Society, said it is about time the Standard Oil Company realizes that the people of Newton don't want the station. He argued that this station would be the opening wedge for other stations. Daniel Irwin of 855 Commonwealth ave. said he has lived for 16 years on the avenue. He said the depression has been largely caused by overproduction, including too many filling stations, and that the big gasoline companies are now making so little money that in the future gasoline stations will be mere shanties compared with the costly station built in recent years. He argued that the avenue between Lake st. and Norumbega is one of the most beautiful streets in the country, but if this station is permitted, the avenue will rapidly deteriorate. Ernest Dow of Wauwinnet rd. opposed the station. So did George J. Martin of 349 Commonwealth ave., a resident there for 23 years. He termed the station an absolute insult. Others who opposed the station were F. A. Schirmer of 332 Commonwealth ave. and William Mosman of 360.

Alderman Grebenstein, who favors the granting of the station permit, asked Attorney Parker why the fact had not been brought out that the Standard Oil Company had not previously operated a station at the locus? Mr. Parker, naturally supposed that Grebenstein referred to the locus for which the petition is being sought, and stated that he was unaware the company had operated a station there. Mr. Gilbert, another attorney for the oil company, grasped that the Alderman referred to the Socony station which had been operated on the site of the new city hall. He said that the company had been paid back by the city the amount it invested in that station, but desires another location on the avenue to replace the former station. Alderman Murray commented that the Standard Oil Company had been paid $40,000 by the city for that station. David Rubin, speaking in favor of the station, said that the owners of real estate have been up against it. He said he had bought the building 6 years ago as an investment, not for speculation, and had lost plenty on it. Even if he sold it to the Standard Oil Company he would suffer a big loss on his investment. He said that he, too, has civic pride and wants to see good conditions on the avenue, as an attractive station would be better than filthy stores.

President Collins of the Aldermen asked for a showing of hands to determine the sentiment of those present. Alderman Pratt inquired if all present are residents of this city. None answered. Thirty-five persons raised their hands in favor of the petition; 46 opposed it. No identification was obtained by Alderman Pratt. The matter was referred to the Claims and Rules Committee.
